SEPA

SEPA has considered the proposed decision and is of the opinion that in respect of environmental impact of the proposed reactor designs the Environment Agency, as part of the Joint Project Office for new nuclear, is better placed than SEPA to provide comment and scrutiny on the technical detail on the proposed decision for Justification of these particular designs of reactors. Consequently SEPA has no detailed technical comments to make in respect of the proposed decision.