Dear Rory,

I don't often write to MPs but on this occasion I thought I would express my support with regard to your comments concerning disposable hot drink cups. Some of the retailers dispensing hot drinks in these receptacles have been more than a little disingenuous when it comes to their claims about recycling. I am aware that the Food Industry has a great deal of influence both financially and as a lobby group, but it does need to be held to account when its unbridled pursuit of profit harms both people and the environment.

Keep up the good work.

Kind regards,
