The Armed Forces Covenant

An Enduring Covenant Between

The People of the United Kingdom
Her Majesty's Government

– and –

All those who serve or have served in the Armed Forces of the Crown

And their Families

The first duty of Government is the defence of the realm. Our Armed Forces fulfil that responsibility on behalf of the Government, sacrificing some civilian freedoms, facing danger and, sometimes, suffering serious injury or death as a result of their duty. Families also play a vital role in supporting the operational effectiveness of our Armed Forces. In return, the whole nation has a moral obligation to the members of the Naval Service, the Army and the Royal Air Force, together with their families. They deserve our respect and support, and fair treatment.

Those who serve in the Armed Forces, whether Regular or Reserve, those who have served in the past, and their families, should face no disadvantage compared to other citizens in the provision of public and commercial services. Special consideration is appropriate in some cases, especially for those who have given most such as the injured and the bereaved.

This obligation involves the whole of society: it includes voluntary and charitable bodies, private organisations, and the actions of individuals in supporting the Armed Forces. Recognising those who have performed military duty unites the country and demonstrates the value of their contribution. This has no greater expression than in upholding this Covenant.

Section 1: Principles of The Armed Forces Covenant

1.1 We JOLTS Consulting Limited will endeavour in our business dealings to uphold the key principles of the Armed Forces Covenant, which are:

- no member of the Armed Forces Community should face disadvantage in the provision of public and commercial services compared to any other citizen
- in some circumstances special treatment may be appropriate especially for the injured or bereaved.

Section 2: Demonstrating our Commitment

2.1 We, JOLTS Consulting, recognise the value serving personnel, reservists, veterans and military families bring to our business and to our country. We will seek to uphold the principles of the Armed Forces Covenant, by:

- actively promoting that we are an Armed Forces-friendly organisation.
- Providing further training and education to veterans and Service leavers to enable transition into civilian life and further enhance career prospects.
- supporting our veterans, young and old, and reservists with any problems or issues they face in the transition to civilian life.
- seeking to support the employment of veterans, recognising military skills and qualifications in our recruitment and selection process and working with the Career Transition Partnership.
- supporting the employment of Service spouses and partners.
- seeking to support our employees who are members of the Reserve Forces.
- supporting our employees who are volunteer leaders in military cadet organisations, recognising the benefits of employing cadets/ex-cadets within the workforce.
- actively encourage any employee promoting and celebrating Armed Forces Day and Reserves Day.
- promoting the Poppy Day Appeal and Remembrance activities supporting staff who volunteer to assist.
- supporting Armed Forces charities with fundraising and supporting staff who volunteer to assist.

2.2 We will publicise these commitments through our literature and/or on our website, setting out how we will seek to honour them and inviting feedback from the Service community and our customers on how we are doing.
