Privacy policy

If you want to know what personal data you have provided and is held about you, you should contact the relevant PIO in the first instance – they are required to tell you how they process and safeguard your data, and who you should contact about this.

In turn we collect and store all horse passport data on the government's Central Equine Database. This database can only be accessed by the UK government, devolved administrations and enforcement authorities (local authorities and police).

If you want to know how we use the personal data held about you on the Central Equine Database, you should contact Defra's Equine ID Team at Equine.Identification@defra.gov.uk
