Carer’s Allowance

Notes

Carer’s Allowance gives financial help to people who cannot take up full-time paid work as they provide regular care to a disabled person.

The quickest and easiest way to claim Carer’s Allowance is online. Check if you can get Carer’s Allowance and make a claim at www.gov.uk/carers-allowance

We have many different ways we can communicate with you

Can I get Carer’s Allowance?

You cannot get Carer’s Allowance if:
• you earn more than £128 a week after tax and some expenses. See page 3
• you are in full-time education. By full time we mean 21 hours or more of study a week. See page 4.

Use this quick checklist before you fill in the form.
If you can tick all 4 statements, you may be able to get Carer’s Allowance.

☐ I get State Pension
If you cannot tick this box, do not use this claim form. Claim online at www.gov.uk/carers-allowance. Or ask us for the DS700 Carer’s Allowance claim pack, which is for people who do not get State Pension.
If your State Pension is more than the amount of Carer’s Allowance you can get, we will not actually pay you any Carer’s Allowance. You may want to claim Carer’s Allowance anyway, because you may qualify for extra payments with other benefits.

☐ The person I provide care for is getting one of these benefits:
• Personal Independence Payment daily living component
• Disability Living Allowance at the middle or highest rate of the care component. (The mobility component is not a qualifying benefit for Carer’s Allowance)
• Child Disability Payment at the middle or highest rate of care component. (The mobility component is not a qualifying benefit for Carer’s Allowance)
• Attendance Allowance
• Constant Attendance Allowance, at or above the normal maximum rate with an Industrial Injuries Disablement Benefit, or at the basic (full day) rate with a War Disablement Pension
• Armed Forces Independence Payment
• an equivalent disability benefit from an EEA country or Switzerland

☐ I am providing care for a disabled person for at least 35 hours a week
Providing care for someone means helping them with day-to-day living and personal care.

☐ I normally live in Great Britain
By Great Britain we mean England, Scotland and Wales. Some family members of people in HM forces serving overseas can be treated as living in Great Britain.

If you have ticked all 4 boxes, you can claim Carer’s Allowance straightaway.

If you live outside Great Britain, but in the European Economic Area (EEA) or Switzerland, and you have ticked the first 3 statements above, you will need to be covered by the Withdrawal Agreement and the UK must be responsible for paying your sickness benefits for you to get Carer’s allowance. For more information go to www.gov.uk/carers-allowance

There is a list of EEA countries on page 4 of these notes, or go to www.gov.uk/claim-benefits-abroad/where-you-can-claim-benefits

If you are subject to immigration control, please call us on 0800 731 0297 to find out if you can get Carer’s Allowance.
EEA and Swiss nationals need to have an EU Settlement Scheme status

The United Kingdom (UK) has left the European Union (EU). If you are a European Economic Area (EEA) or Swiss national, you and your family members need to get a UK immigration status to carry on living in the UK after 30 June 2021.

You and your family need a status even if you have already been issued with a permanent residence document by the Home Office, or have been living in the UK for a long time. You need to apply for an immigration status to be eligible for benefits. This includes new and existing claims to benefits.

It is free to apply for a UK immigration status. Irish nationals and those with indefinite leave to remain in the UK do not need to apply.

For more information and to apply for the EU Settlement Scheme please visit www.gov.uk/eusettlementscheme or call 0300 123 7379.

When should I claim?

Claim now, if the person you provide care for is already getting any of the benefits listed above. If they have not claimed any of these benefits yet, or are waiting to hear about a claim, you can claim Carer’s Allowance within 3 months of when the benefit is awarded. If you do not claim in time, you may lose money.

Notes about Carer’s Allowance

What is Carer’s Allowance?

Carer’s Allowance is a benefit that gives you financial help if you cannot take up full-time paid work because you provide regular care to a disabled person.

You do not have to be related to, or live with, the person you provide care for.

You must spend at least 35 hours a week providing care for them. If you stop providing care for the person for a short time, you may still get Carer’s Allowance. For example, you may be able to get Carer’s Allowance if you, or the person you provide care for, go into hospital or somewhere like that.

But you must tell us straightaway about any week when you provide care for someone for less than 35 hours.

By week we mean from the start of a Sunday to the end of the next Saturday.

Carer’s Allowance is taxable. It can also affect other benefits you may get.

How do my earnings affect Carer’s Allowance?

When we work out your weekly earnings we only look at what you have earned after you have paid:

- National Insurance (NI) contributions
- income tax
- half of any money you pay towards personal and occupational pension schemes

While you are at work, we also allow up to half of the rest of your earnings for paying someone from outside your family to look after your children or the person you provide care for.

Expenses
We may be able to take into account some other expenses, such as expenses you have to pay to do your job.

How does full-time education affect Carer’s Allowance?
You cannot get Carer’s Allowance if you are in full-time education, even if you provide care for someone for 35 hours a week as well.
By full-time education we mean 21 hours or more of study a week. The 21 hours includes classes, lectures, seminars and personal study time expected by the university, college or learning provider.
Traineeships may also count as full-time education.

Can I get Carer’s Allowance for providing care for more than one person?
You can only get paid Carer’s Allowance for one person you provide care for. You will not get paid more if you provide care for more than one person.

What happens if someone else is also providing care for the same person?
If someone else is also providing care for the same person as you are, only one of you can get Carer’s Allowance and/or Universal Credit Carer Element. Two people cannot get Carer’s Allowance/Universal Credit Carer Element at the same time for providing care for the same person. You must decide between you who is going to claim it.

What if I do not live in Great Britain?
By Great Britain we mean England, Scotland and Wales.
You might still be able to get Carer’s Allowance if you live in or are moving to a country in the European Economic Area (EEA) or Switzerland, are covered by the Withdrawal Agreement and the UK is responsible for paying your sickness benefits. The EEA countries are:
Austria, Belgium, Bulgaria, Croatia, Cyprus, Czech Republic, Denmark, Estonia, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Iceland, Ireland, Italy, Latvia, Liechtenstein, Lithuania, Luxembourg, Malta, Netherlands, Norway, Poland, Portugal, Romania, Slovakia, Slovenia, Spain and Sweden.
Contact us for more information. Our phone number is 0800 731 0297.

How does Carer’s Allowance affect any other benefits I get?

Carer’s Allowance counts as income, so any means-tested benefits you get will be reduced if you get Carer’s Allowance. But an extra amount will be included in the calculation of your means-tested benefits, so you will not be worse off overall. Means-tested benefits include:
• Income Support
• income-based Jobseeker’s Allowance
• income-related Employment and Support Allowance
• Pension Credit
• Universal Credit

If you are getting Housing Benefit or a reduction in your Council Tax, your council may be able to include a carer premium when they work out how much benefit you can get. Tell your local council about your Carer’s Allowance to see if you can get extra help.

The benefit cap limits the amount of benefit that most people aged 16 to State Pension age can get. Some individual benefits are not affected, but it may affect the total amount of benefit you get. Receipt of Carer’s Allowance or Universal Credit Carer Element exempts a household from being capped. Find out more about the benefit cap at www.gov.uk/benefit-cap

If you get any of the following benefits, we may not be able to pay you Carer’s Allowance:
• State Pension
• Incapacity Benefit
• Severe Disablement Allowance
• Unemployability Supplement – paid with Industrial Injuries Disablement Benefit or War Pension
• Widow’s Pension or Bereavement Allowance
• Widowed Mother’s Allowance or Widowed Parent’s Allowance
• War Widow’s or Widower’s Pension
• Maternity Allowance
• Industrial Death Benefit
• contribution-based Jobseeker’s Allowance
• contribution-based Employment and Support Allowance

This is called the ‘overlapping benefit rule’. It means you cannot normally get 2 income-replacement benefits, such as Carer’s Allowance and State Pension, at the same time.

Even if you get any of these benefits, it may be worth claiming Carer’s Allowance. Your other benefits might be increased if you have ‘underlying entitlement’ to Carer’s Allowance. Having underlying entitlement means that you satisfy all the conditions to get a benefit but the law says we cannot actually pay you any money. This may be because you are already getting a similar benefit and the rules say you cannot have both. If the amount of the other benefit you get is less than the amount of Carer’s Allowance you could get, we will pay you the difference.

If someone is getting any of the benefits listed above and these include extra money for you, we will arrange for the extra money to stop or reduce. We will then pay the Carer’s Allowance to you.

Your Working Tax Credit or Child Tax Credit could be reduced if you get Carer’s Allowance. Contact the Tax Credits office for more information. Go to www.gov.uk/government/organisations/hm-revenue-customs/contact/tax-credits-enquiries for more information.
How does Carer’s Allowance affect the benefits of the person I provide care for?

Carer’s Allowance can affect the benefits of the person you provide care for, if they get a severe disability premium with:

• income-based Jobseeker’s Allowance
• Income Support
• income-related Employment and Support Allowance
• Housing Benefit

Their severe disability premium will stop if you get Carer’s Allowance for providing care for them.

If they get extra Pension Credit for severe disability, it will also stop.

It can also affect their Council Tax reduction. They should contact their local council to find out if this affects them.

If you have underlying entitlement to Carer’s Allowance, but do not actually get any money, it will not affect the benefits of the person you provide care for.

We will check the record of the person you provide care for before making a decision on your claim.
