

From: Jay Manchee [REDACTED]

Sent: 14 May 2023 12:39

To: Section 62A Applications <section62a@planninginspectorate.gov.uk>

Subject: Section 62A Planning Application: S62A/2023/0017 - Land at Tilekiln Green, Stansted, Great Hallingbury

Objections.

Re:- Section 62A Planning Application: S62A/2023/0017 - Land at Tilekiln Green, Stansted, Great Hallingbury

With reference to the above application for planning approval I once again strongly object to this proposal.

I am an Uttlesford resident of Great Hallingbury who uses the B1256 on a daily basis to access nearby towns, infrastructure, schools and carry out activities of daily living.

I live very close to the proposed site, the road is already very congested during certain periods during the day. I have children, who walk up this road and this would pose an even higher risk than there already is considering there is no footpath. My children are late to school most mornings as the traffic on this road in the mornings are very unpredictable, sometimes with tailbacks that last for quite some duration and this would just exacerbate the situation. I also believe it would have a negative impact on the environment. This is residential area and quite honestly I am surprised that such a proposal would even be considered.

Having fully read this proposal, an idea formed to propose a new TV Show called 'Prank the Villagers'. This show would include ridiculous applications for planning permission given serious consideration by local government representatives'. Opportunity to object would then be given to local villagers and members of the public, although these would be ignored as a matter of course. The officials would then continue to dismiss more suitable sites and plain old common sense in favour of supporting 'essential local and industrial development', -alternative simple translation- 'a completely pointless, intrusive, unreasonable and outrageous destruction of history including potentially important archaeological sites, beauty, wildlife and basically all that is right with the world'. We would then introduce, after planning permission had been granted, further complications and amendments to the original plans to further antagonise an already downtrodden public, destroy a bridge or two, make the already badly maintained roads even worse and devalue everyone's properties. All this before submitting more planning applications for now 'essential' supporting lands and buildings to cater for the increase in amenities, office space, traffic and deaths on the roads. (Money in someone's pocket) Right at the end of the show we could get Noel Edmunds to appear holding a trophy .. I think that these trophies were called 'gotcha's' originally .. Alternatively, with all the money spent on production and destruction at this point, we should probably just go ahead with the original proposal and not commission any trophies. Maybe place a statue in the centre of the village with one arm raised and one finger extended .. to read 'Why would you want to live here now?' This was the toned down version, please let me know your thoughts

Mr Jarrod Manchee

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]