¹ Treaty Series No. 076 (1999) Cm 4514

ARTICLE 1

In the Special Area defined by Article 4 of the Agreement, the Parties shall exercise jurisdiction and rights which are conferred on coastal States by international law, other than such jurisdiction or rights that follow directly from continental shelf or fisheries jurisdiction as follows:

(1) The Parties may extend their marine environmental protection legislation (apart from rules related to management of fisheries and of continental shelf resources) to the whole of the Special Area. The Parties shall enforce such legislation in conformity with international law vis-à-vis third State ships. Ships flying the flag of any of the Parties shall exclusively be subject to flag State jurisdiction.

(2) The Parties, whilst reaffirming that each of them has the right to authorise marine scientific research relating to fisheries resources or the resources of the continental shelf within their respective jurisdictions in the Special Area in accordance with Articles 5 and 6 of the Agreement, enjoy also the right to authorise other kinds of marine scientific research in the Special Area, but shall notify the other Party in advance if the vessel conducting the research is a third State vessel.

ARTICLE 2

The Parties shall co-operate in the Special Area, notably on measures to protect the marine environment.

ARTICLE 3

The Parties shall not exercise or permit any activities related to utilizing the water surface or the water column of the Special Area for economic purposes, other than fisheries and continental shelf purposes, such as the production of energy from the water, currents and winds, without prior consent from the other Party.

ARTICLE 4

The points listed in Schedules B and C of the Agreement, which are defined in the European Datum 1950 (ED50), shall like the points listed in Schedule A of the Agreement, be defined in the European Terrestrial Reference System 1989 (ETRS89).
