Do you think NHS trusts should be exempt from the requirement to hold a licence, but expected to meet equivalent requirements to those in the general, pricing (where appropriate), choice and competition and integrated care sectors of Monitor's licence? - Q1	Not Answered
Is there anything you want to add? - Q2
Do you agree that it is not appropriate to license small and micro providers of NHS funded services, at this stage, pending further review of costs and benefits? - Q3	Yes
If so, do you agree that providers of NHS services with fewer than 50 employees (FTEs) and income from the provision of NHS hospital and community healthcare services of less than £10 million should be exempt from the requirement to hold a licence? - Q4	No
Alternatively, do you think a de minimis threshold based on a provider fulfilling one of the two conditions would be more appropriate (eg. <50 staff (WTEs) or <£10m turnover)? - Q5a	Yes
Alternatively, do you think a de minimis threshold based on a provider fulfilling one of the two conditions would be more appropriate (eg. <50 staff (WTEs) or <£10m turnover)? - Q5b	<£10m turnover
If not, on what basis should small and micro providers be exempt? - Q6
Is there anything you want to add? - Q7	It is extremely unlikely that a provider with an NHS turnover of >£10million would have fewer than 50 employees yet many providers with more than 50 employees in total (with the majority not working in health service provision) could have an NHS turnover of <£10million. Using the £10million as a threshold would therefore seem more appropriate. The focus of the exemption of £10million NHS turnover in this consultation may have led many voluntary sector providers to ignore this consultation as not being applicable to them. In reality, very few voluntary sector providers will be affected by this limit. If, as a result of this consultation, a different definition of small provider is considered, there may be other aspects of this consultation that the voluntary sector would want to consider further.
Do you agree that providers of primary medical services and primary dental services under contracts with the NHS Commissioning Board should initially be exempt from the requirement to hold a licence from Monitor? - Q8	Yes
