

Contracted Employment Provision Management Information Project

February 2011

Equality impact assessment for Contracted Employment Provision Management Information

Brief outline of the policy or service

Contracted Employment Provision Management Information aims to build on existing arrangements for strategic management information by ensuring that a comprehensive set of data about contracted employment provision is available through the Labour Market Data Warehouse. This data will enhance information already drawn into the Labour Market Data Warehouse from the Labour Market System and enable data to be drawn from the Provider Referrals and Payment system into the Warehouse. The data will then be used to support contracted employment programmes and claims to the European Social Fund.

Reason for not doing an equality impact assessment

The Contracted Employment Provision Management Information Project will not create a new policy or service but enhance the management information for contracted employment programmes which is already collected.

This will not directly affect customers or employees nor the service DWP providers to customers or employees.

Access to the Labour Market Data Warehouse is limited to a number of licensed users and they will continue to access the data using Business Objects software. These users will require notifying as and when additional data is available but being an experienced and knowledgeable user community, will not require any additional training products. No new users will be created through the Project.
