Summary flowchart - Control of Immigration ⁽³⁾ ⁽⁴⁾ ⁽⁵⁾

(1) Data related to visa applications and decisions are published by UK Visas and can be found at <http://www.ukvisas.gov.uk/servlet/Front?pagename=OpenMarket/Xcelerate/ShowPage&c=Page&cid=1006977150151>

(2) Non-visa nationals seeking to enter the UK in a visa category or for > 6 months require a visa, whereas those seeking to enter the UK for ≤ 6 months do not.

(3) Data related to the detention of an individual are shown in Chapter 6. An individual may be detained under Immigration Rules at any time during the immigration process. The decision to detain may be appropriate in one or more of the following circumstances: individuals and families may be detained whilst identity and the basis for their claim are established, because of the risk of absconding, as part of a fast-track process, or to effect removal.

(4) Data related to appeals against an immigration or asylum decision are shown in Chapter 7.

(5) Applications for, and decisions on, work permits and applications under the 'Worker Registration Scheme' are not included in this flowchart. The chart also excludes references for resettled refugees and persons that 'switch' their immigration status.

1. MAIN POINTS

Entry control at the ports

- The estimated number of international arrivals from outside the Common Travel Area rose by 3 per cent to 104.8 million in 2006. 12.9 million were non-European Economic Area (non-EEA) nationals, a 9 per cent rise on 2005 (paragraphs 2.1 and 2.2).
- The total number of work permit holders and dependants admitted to the United Kingdom (UK) was 145,000 in 2006, an increase of 6 per cent over the previous year (paragraph 2.7).
- 309,000 non-EEA students were admitted to the United Kingdom in 2006, an increase of 9 per cent on the previous year.
- The number of passengers refused entry at port and subsequently removed from the UK in 2006 was 34,825, 6 per cent more than in 2005 (32,840) (paragraph 2.15).

Asylum

- Excluding dependants, the number of asylum applications received in 2006 was 23,610, 8 per cent less than in 2005 (25,710). The highest number of applications were from nationals of Eritrea, Afghanistan, Iran, China and Somalia. Including dependants, the number of asylum applications was 28,320 in 2006, 8 per cent less than in 2005 (30,840) (paragraphs 3.1, 3.2 and 3.3).
- 20,930 initial decisions were made on asylum applications in 2006, 24 per cent less than in 2005 (27,395) and lower than applications in 2006; the number of cases awaiting an initial decision was 6,400 (paragraph 3.4).
- Immigration Judges determined 16,095 asylum appeals in 2006, 53 per cent less than in 2005 (33,940). Of the 16,095 appeals, 22 per cent were allowed and 73 per cent were dismissed (paragraph 3.13).
- Overall, 6,225 (26 per cent) of applications in 2006 resulted in grants of asylum (10 per cent), Humanitarian Protection (HP)/Discretionary Leave (DL) (9 per cent), or in allowed appeals (8 per cent) (paragraph 3.16).
- Asylum removals (including assisted returns, persons departing voluntarily after enforcement action had been initiated against them and those who it is established have left the UK without informing the immigration authorities) rose in 2006 to 16,330, excluding dependants, 19 per cent more than in 2005 (13,730). Including dependants, 18,280 asylum seekers were removed in 2006, 17 per cent more than in 2005 (15,685) (paragraphs 3.26 and 3.27).

After-entry control

- There was a 2 per cent increase in the number of after-entry decisions in 2006. The number of decisions on applications to vary conditions of leave increased from 387,875 in 2005 to 393,650 in 2006 (including settlement but excluding asylum cases and dependants of principal applicants) (paragraph 4.1).
- The main categories showing the largest increases were: permit-free employment (up 54 per cent from 27,290 in 2005 to 41,915 in 2006); business (up 282 per cent from 2,715 in 2005 to 10,360 in 2006); and students (up 4 per cent from 136,525 in 2005 to 142,115 in 2006) (paragraph 4.3).
- Of the total number of decisions in 2006, 70 per cent were grants of extension, 23 per cent were grants of settlement, and 7 per cent were refusals. Student cases were the largest group, accounting for 36 per cent of the total number of decisions (paragraphs 4.2 and 4.4).
- There was a 12 per cent decrease in the number of after-entry decisions relating to dependants to 121,600 in 2006, from 138,835 in 2005 (paragraph 4.9).
- Decisions on applications for residence documents from EEA nationals and their family members rose from 59,575 in 2005 to 81,140 in 2006, an increase of 21,565 (36 per cent) (paragraph 4.10).

Grants of settlement

- Grants of settlement in 2006 fell by 25 per cent 179,120 in 2005 to 134,430 in 2006 (paragraph 5.1).
- Of the total number of grants of settlement in 2006, by far the greatest proportion (65 per cent) was in dependant-related categories. Wives accounted for 26 per cent, children accounted for 19 per cent and husbands accounted for 14 per cent of the total (paragraph 5.8).
- 26 per cent of grants of settlement in 2006 were from the 'Remainder of Asia'¹; Africa accounted for 24 per cent, the Indian sub-continent 19 per cent, Europe for 12 per cent, the Americas 9 per cent, the Middle East 7 per cent and Oceania 3 per cent (paragraph 5.7).
- Employment-related grants fell by 49 per cent from 63,015 in 2005 to 31,830 in 2006 (paragraphs 5.2 and 5.8).

- Family formation and reunion grants of settlement rose by 60 per cent from 37,335 in 2005 to 59,810 in 2006 reflecting an earlier change in the qualifying period for settlement (paragraphs 5.4 and 5.8).

Enforcement and compliance

- The total number of persons removed from the UK in 2006 was 63,865, an increase of 10 per cent on 2005 (58,215). This includes the removal of 16,330 persons who had sought asylum at some stage as principal applicants, 19 per cent more than in 2005 (13,730). (paragraphs 6.2 and 6.3).
- Of the total number of removals, 55 per cent were removed after having been initially refused at a port, 36 per cent were removed as a result of enforcement action and 10 per cent left under Assisted Voluntary Return (AVR) Programmes (paragraph 6.2).
- On 30 September 2006, there were 2,010 persons being detained solely under Immigration Act powers in the UK. Of these, 72 per cent were recorded as having sought asylum at some stage (paragraph 6.8).
- Of the total 21,045 persons who left detention (excluding Oakington and Harwich) between January and September 2006 inclusive, 68 per cent were removed from the UK (paragraph 6.11).

Appeals

- Immigration Judges dealt with 166,945 appeals in 2006, 66 per cent more than in 2005 (100,790). 33 per cent of these appeals were allowed, 56 per cent were dismissed and 11 per cent were withdrawn (paragraphs 7.1 and 7.2).

Migration

- In 2005, 185,000 more people entered than left the UK for at least a year. Although slightly lower than the estimate in 2004, it was still higher than all other years since the current method to estimate Total International Migration (TIM) began in 1991 (paragraph 8.4).
- The net inflow of non-British citizens continued, with just over a fifth of all immigration being accounted for by citizens from the New Commonwealth in 2005 (paragraph 8.5).

2. ENTRY CONTROL AT PORTS

Passenger admissions and refusals

Total admissions (Tables 2.1 to 2.3)

2.1 In 2006, it is estimated that there were 104.8 million international arrivals from outside the Common Travel Area², 2.9 million (3 per cent) more than in 2005. The majority were British or European Economic Area (EEA) nationals, but around 12.9 million were non-EEA nationals, an increase of 9 per cent on 2005. Figure 1 shows the annual total non-EEA admissions since 1996, broken down by broad purpose of journey. In 2006, 58 per cent of all admissions were visitors (45 per cent ordinary visitors, 13 per cent business visitors).

(1) Excludes EEA nationals.

(2) Includes nationals of Cyprus, Czech Republic, Estonia, Hungary, Latvia, Lithuania, Malta, Poland, Slovakia and Slovenia before 1 May 2004, but excludes them from this date.

2.2 The increase in non-EEA admissions in 2006 of 9 per cent was primarily due to the increase in the number of ordinary and business visitors, up 8 per cent to 7.4 million. There were also increases in nearly all other categories of admission, but due to the large number of visitors these increases would have had little effect on the overall rise.

2.3 The 12.9 million non-EEA passengers admitted in 2006 comprised 5.7 million from the Americas, 3.6 million from Asia, 1.4 million from Oceania, 1.2 million from Africa, and 0.8 million from Europe³. All regions showed an increase compared with 2005. The largest rises in numbers were from Asia, up 411,000 (13 per cent) from 2005, and the Americas, up 402,000 (8 per cent) (see Figure 2).

2.4 Citizens of the United States of America (USA) comprised 32 per cent of total non-EEA admissions, the nationality with by far the most admissions, representing an increase of 6 per cent to 4.1 million in 2006. The next three nationalities with the highest numbers of admissions were Australia (up 8 per cent to 1.1 million), Canada (up 11 per cent to 1.0 million) and India (up 23 per cent to 0.8 million). The country with the largest percentage increase on 2005 was Afghanistan (up 96 per cent to 15,500); this was followed by Nepal (up 59 per cent to 25,900) and Croatia (up 40 per cent to 45,000).

² The Common Travel Area consists of the United Kingdom, the Channel Islands, the Isle of Man and the Republic of Ireland.

³ Excludes EEA nationals and nationals of Switzerland.

TOTAL ADMISSIONS, EXCLUDING EEA NATIONALS,
BY GEOGRAPHICAL REGION OF NATIONALITY, 2006
(Total number of journeys 12.9 million)

Visitors (Tables 2.2 to 2.4)

2.5 7.4 million non-EEA visitors were admitted in 2006 compared with 6.9 million in 2005. The increase of 8 per cent in 2006 was mostly due to the increase in visitor numbers from the Americas and the Indian sub-continent which together accounted for over half of all visitors. The increase in number of visitors varied by region as follows: Asia (up 15 per cent to 2.0 million), the Americas (up 6 per cent to 3.6 million), Oceania (up 6 per cent to 738,000), Europe (up 9 per cent to 439,000) and Africa (up 4 per cent to 640,000).

Students (Tables 2.2 to 2.4)

2.6 309,000 non-EEA students were admitted in 2006 compared with 284,000 in 2005. The increase of 9 per cent reflects the rise in numbers from Europe (up 34 per cent to 44,100), Asia (up 12 per cent to 140,000) and Africa (up 4 per cent to 23,800). This was offset by a drop in numbers from Oceania (down 8 per cent to 2,260) and the Americas (down 2 per cent to 98,100).

Work permit holders (Tables 2.2 to 2.5)

2.7 145,000 non-EEA nationals were admitted as work permit holders or as their dependants in 2006, compared with 137,000 in 2005, up 6 per cent (EEA nationals do not require a work permit). The number of permit holders coming for 12 months or more increased by 12 per cent to 57,500 in 2006 while those coming for less than 12 months decreased slightly to 39,100.

2.8 The number of dependants of work permit holders increased by 7 per cent to 48,500; they account for 33 per cent of the total number of permit holders and dependants. By region, this proportion varies from 45 per cent for African nationals to 18 per cent for Europe.

2.9 There were increases in work permit holders and dependants from the Indian sub-continent (up 13 per cent to 50,600), Asia (excluding the Indian sub-continent) (up 11 per cent to 27,600), the Americas (up 6 per cent to 34,500) and Oceania (up 6 per cent to 7,560). This was offset by decreases in numbers from Europe (down 13 per cent to 12,200) and Africa (down 6 per cent to 12,700). Of the total work permit holders and dependants in 2006, 54 per cent were from Asia; India accounted for 58 per cent (45,600) of these; 34,500 (24 per cent) were from the Americas (nationals of the USA accounted for nearly three-quarters of these); 12,700 (9 per cent) from Africa; 12,200 (8 per cent) from Europe and 7,560 (5 per cent) from Oceania.

Admissions for a limited period prior to application for settlement (Tables 2.2, 2.4 and 2.6)

(i) Spouses, fiancé(e)s and children (Table 2.6)

2.10 Admissions of husbands and male fiancés totalled 16,210 in 2006, 13 per cent more than in 2005. 41 per cent (6,615) of the husbands and male fiancés admitted in 2006 were from the Indian sub-continent, compared to 46 per cent (6,540) in 2005.

2.11 Admissions of wives and female fiancées totalled 30,895 in 2006, 13 per cent more than in 2005. This increase reflected rises in the number of wives and female fiancées from Asia (excluding the Indian sub-continent) (up 36 per cent to 8,715) and Europe (up 21 per cent to 3,220). 62 per cent (19,085) of the wives and female fiancées admitted in 2006 were from Asia.

2.12 The number of children admitted for a probationary period was 5,775 in 2006, 24 per cent more than in 2005. 65 per cent (3,725) of the children admitted in 2006 were from Asia.

(ii) Commonwealth citizens with a UK born grandparent (Table 2.2 and 2.4)

2.13 8,490 Commonwealth citizens with a grandparent born in the UK were admitted in 2006 to take up or seek employment, 3 per cent (230) more than in 2005.⁴

Passengers refused entry (Tables 2.1 and 2.3)

2.14 30,145 passengers were initially refused leave to enter at border control points in 2006, 1 per cent less than in 2005 (30,490).

2.15 34,435 non-EEA passengers were refused entry at port and subsequently removed⁵ from the UK in 2006, 7 per cent more than in 2005 (32,275).

2.16 34,825 passengers, including EEA nationals, were refused entry at port and subsequently removed from the UK in 2006, 6 per cent more than in 2005 (32,840).

3. ASYLUM

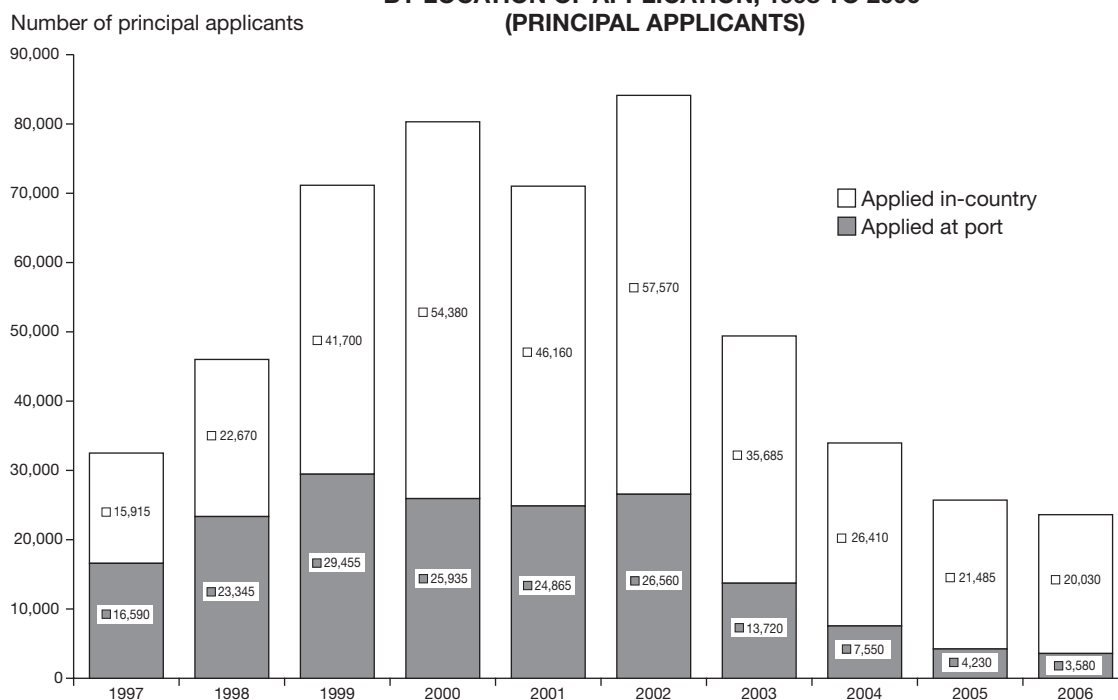

Applications for asylum (Tables 3.1 and 3.2)

3.1 Excluding dependants, the number of asylum applications received in 2006 was 23,610, 8 per cent less than in 2005 (25,710). Including dependants, the number of asylum applications was 28,320 in 2006, 8 per cent less than in 2005 (30,840).

3.2 The proportion of applications made in-country (that is, by persons who had already entered the United Kingdom (UK), rather than at port) was 85 per cent in 2006, compared with 84 per cent in 2005 and 78 per cent in 2004.

APPLICATIONS FOR ASYLUM IN THE UK, BY LOCATION OF APPLICATION, 1998 TO 2006 (PRINCIPAL APPLICANTS)

3.3 The nationalities accounting for the most applicants in 2006 were Eritrean, Afghan, Iranian, Chinese and Somalian. Applications rose in 2006 compared with 2005 for four of these applicant nationalities: Eritrean (by 47 per cent), Afghan (by 52 per cent), Chinese (12 per cent) and Somalian (5 per cent).

Initial decisions on asylum applications (Tables 3.1 and 3.3)

3.4 20,930 initial decisions were made in 2006, 24 per cent less than the 27,395 initial decisions made in 2005 and lower than the number of applications in 2006; the number of cases awaiting initial decision was 6,400.

3.5 Of the initial decisions made in 2006, 2,170 (10 per cent) recognised the applicant as a refugee and granted asylum, 55 (0.3 per cent) were granted Humanitarian Protection (HP), 2,245 (11 per cent) were granted Discretionary Leave (DL) and 16,460 (79 per cent) were refused. The proportion granted asylum in 2006 increased from 7 per cent in 2005, and the proportion granted HP or DL increased from 10 per cent in 2005.

INITIAL DECISIONS, 1998 TO 2006 (PRINCIPAL APPLICANTS)

3.6 In 2006, the number of grants of asylum increased slightly from 2005 but still remain low as a percentage of total decisions.

3.7 The main nationalities to be granted HP or DL in 2006 were Afghan (33 per cent), Iranian (12 per cent) and Somali (7 per cent). Unaccompanied children accounted for 84 per cent of total grants of HP and DL, despite only accounting for 9 per cent of initial decisions.

3.8 16,460 cases were refused in 2006, less than the 22,655 refusals in 2005, reflecting a lower number of initial decisions. A smaller proportion of initial decisions in 2006 were refusals (79 per cent compared with 83 per cent in 2005).

3.9 The top nationalities accounting for the most refusals were: Iranian (1,850 refusals – 84 per cent of initial decisions), Chinese (1,600 – 93 per cent), Zimbabwean (1,510 – 90 per cent), Eritrean (1,315 – 61 per cent) and Afghan (1,310 – 62 per cent).

Asylum cases outstanding (Table 3.1)

3.10 As at 31 December 2006, approximately 6,400 asylum applications were awaiting an initial decision, compared with 5,500 at the end of 2005. Of the 6,400 outstanding cases, 5,000 cases were work in progress, i.e. applications had been received within the previous six months.

3.11 The total asylum work in progress in the Asylum and Immigration Tribunal (AIT) as at 31 December 2006, was 6,000⁶.

Asylum appeals (Table 3.4)

3.12 In 2006, a total of 14,865 asylum appeals were received by the AIT.

3.13 16,095 asylum appeals were determined by Immigration Judges in 2006, 53 per cent less than in 2005. Of these 16,095 appeals, 3,610 (22 per cent) were allowed, 11,705 (73 per cent) were dismissed and the remainder were withdrawn or abandoned. This compares with 17 per cent allowed and 79 per cent dismissed in 2005.

3.14 7,795 applications for permission to appeal to the Immigration Review were submitted in 2006, 56 per cent less than in 2005 (17,585). The majority of these applications were not allowed. There were 4,200 Reconsideration hearings in 2006, a decrease of 40 per cent on the previous year.

⁶ Figure is rounded to the nearest thousand.

3.15 2,845 applications for permission to apply for Judicial Review in asylum-related cases were lodged in 2006, compared with 2,265 in 2005. Of the 1,755 decisions made on applications for permission to apply, only 15 per cent were granted permission. Of the 40 Judicial Review hearings determined, 63 per cent were allowed and 38 per cent were dismissed in 2006.

Overall proportion of applicants granted asylum, Exceptional Leave to Remain (ELR), HP or DL at initial decision, or appeal allowed – excluding dependants

3.16 Overall, 6,225 (26 per cent) of the 23,610 applications in 2006 resulted in the granting of asylum (10 per cent), HP/DL (9 per cent) or in appeals that were allowed by the AIT (a further 8 per cent). This is based on cases where data are available; a proportion of applications made in 2006 are still awaiting the outcome of an initial decision or an appeal.

3.17 This compared with 7,220 (28 per cent) of the 25,710 applications in 2005, 8,095 (24 per cent) of the 33,960 applications in 2004 and 12,895 (26 per cent) of the 49,405 applications in 2003 resulting in grants of asylum, ELR, HP, or DL, or in allowed appeals. Applications made in 2006 compared with applications made in 2005:

- the proportion granted asylum at initial decision increased from 7 per cent to 10 per cent;
- the proportion granted HP/DL at initial decision decreased from 11 per cent to 9 per cent;
- the proportion resulting in allowed appeals decrease from 10 per cent to 8 per cent; and
- the proportion removed decreased from 17 per cent to 15 per cent.

3.18 More detailed results are presented in the following Table.

Outcomes of asylum applications made in 2003 – 2006^(P)

The table below shows the outcomes of the 49,405 applications made in 2003, the 33,960 applications made in 2004, the 25,710 applications made in 2005, and the 23,610 applications made in 2006. Outcomes of assessments of eligibility for support under Section 55⁷

3.19 Under Section 55 of the Nationality, Immigration and Asylum Act 2002, asylum seekers have to apply for asylum as soon as reasonably practicable after arrival in the UK in order to be eligible for support under Sections 4, 95 or 98 of the Immigration and Asylum Act 1999. There are exceptions where applicants will get support even if they have delayed making their asylum claim. Most significantly, Section 55 does not prevent support being provided to those with dependent children or with particular care needs and it does not prevent the provision of support if it would be a breach of the European Convention on Human Rights (ECHR) not to provide it.

3.20 Of the total number of applications for asylum support in 2006, 5 per cent (910) of principal asylum applicants were assessed as ineligible for support under Sections 95 and 98 on the grounds that the Secretary of State was not satisfied that their claim was made as soon as reasonably practicable.

Asylum applicants in receipt of support (Tables 3.5 to 3.7)

3.21 Applications for support in 2006 (18,510) were 27 per cent lower than in 2005 (25,230); this was in line with lower asylum applications. 14,385 applications were terminated⁸ in 2006.

3.22 In 2006, 18,510 applications for asylum support were received from asylum seekers in the UK. Of these:

- 12,600 were applications for accommodation support (either both accommodation and subsistence or accommodation only);
- 4,645 were for subsistence-only support; and
- 1,260 were either applications that were deemed invalid or applications where the type of support has not been determined at the application stage.

3.23 The proportion of applications that were deemed invalid, or applications where the type of support has not been determined at the application stage, remained at 7 per cent in 2006.

3.24 As at the end of December 2006, 49,295 asylum seekers (including dependants) were in receipt of support⁹. 36,420 asylum seekers (including dependants) were being supported in dispersed accommodation, 11,355 were receiving subsistence-only support and 1,525 were supported in initial accommodation¹⁰.

3.25 Asylum seekers supported in dispersed accommodation are dispersed throughout the UK. At the end of December 2006, the top three dispersal regions in England were Yorkshire and the Humber (7,750 asylum seekers, including dependants), the North West (6,515) and the West Midlands (5,395). The top three dispersal towns in England were Leeds (2,040), Birmingham (1,835) and Manchester (1,355). Asylum seekers are also dispersed to Scotland (Glasgow 5,010) and Wales (2,525) and are accommodated in Northern Ireland if they apply for asylum in Northern Ireland.

Decisions to grant support and those supported under Section 4 of the Immigration and Asylum Act 1999¹¹

3.26 In 2006, 6,025 decisions to grant Section 4 support were recorded. As at the end of December 2006, 6,555 applicants were recorded on ASYS as being in receipt of Section 4 support¹².

Asylum removals

3.27 16,330 principal asylum applicants were removed from the UK in 2006 (including assisted returns and known voluntary departures following enforcement action), a rise of 19 per cent on 2005 (13,730). 4,630 principal applicants left under Assisted Voluntary Return (AVR) Programmes run by the International Organization for Migration (IOM), an increase of 59 per cent on 2005 (2,905). The nationalities with the largest number of principal applicants removed or departing voluntarily in 2006 were Iraqi (1,780), Turkish (1,665), Serbian & Montenegrin (1,420), Afghan (1,185) and Pakistani (875).

⁸ See Explanatory Notes and Definitions, paragraph 33.

¹⁰ Includes those in induction centres. See Explanatory Notes and Definitions, paragraph 37.

¹¹ See Explanatory Notes and Definitions, paragraph 38.

3.28 Including dependants, 18,280 asylum seekers were removed in 2006, 17 per cent more than in 2005 (15,685). Data on dependants removed have only been collected since April 2001.

Further information

3.29 Further information on asylum applications and decisions in the years 1998-2006 is published in the latest Home Office Statistical Bulletin, Asylum Statistics United Kingdom 2006 which is available from the RDS website <http://www.homeoffice.gov.uk/rds/immigration1.html>.

4. AFTER-ENTRY CONTROL

Decisions on after-entry applications to vary leave (excluding asylum) (Tables 4.1 and 4.2)

4.1 There was a rise in the number of non-asylum after-entry decisions in 2006 to 393,650¹³, an increase of 2 per cent on the previous year. This includes applications for settlement but excludes dependants of principal applicants.

4.2 Of the total decisions in 2006, 276,995 (70 per cent) were grants of an extension, 88,115 (23 per cent) were grants of settlement and 28,540 (7 per cent) were refusals. The overall refusal rate dropped from 8.6 per cent to 7.2 per cent between 2005 and 2006.

4.3 There were significant changes in nearly all categories, the increases being in:

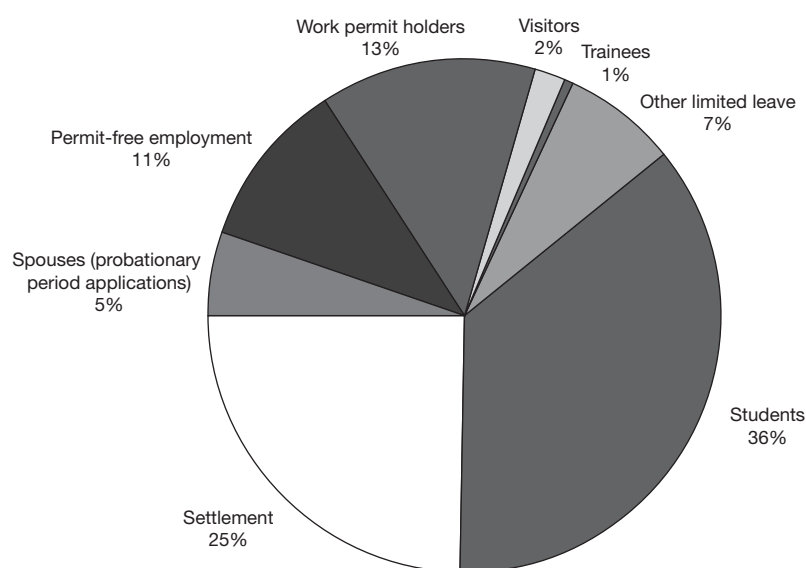

- permit-free employment – up 54 per cent to 41,915 decisions;
- business – up 282 per cent to 10,360 decisions; and
- students – up 4 per cent to 142,115 decisions.

These increases were offset by decreases in the number of decisions in the work permit holder (down 23 per cent to 52,860) and trainee (down 75 per cent to 2,765) categories.

4.4 Figure 6 shows the total number of decisions broken down by category. Student cases were the largest group, accounting for 36 per cent of the total. Decisions on settlement cases formed the second largest category in 2006, accounting for 25 per cent of the total.

Grants of extensions of leave to remain (Tables 4.1 and 4.2)¹⁴

4.5 Figure 7 shows that of the 276,995 persons granted an extension of stay, 78,185 (28 per cent) were from Asia (excluding the Indian sub-continent), 76,985 (28 per cent) were from the Indian sub-continent, 59,070 (21 per cent) were from Africa, 27,705 (10 per cent) were from the Americas, 23,445 (8 per cent) were from Europe (excluding the European Economic Area (EEA)), and 11,465 (4 per cent) were from Oceania.

¹³ Excludes withdrawn applications, asylum-related cases and return of passport cases.

¹⁴ Excludes asylum-related cases, return of passport cases and dependants of principle applicants.

4.6 47,120 (35 per cent) of persons granted a student extension were from Asia outside the Indian sub-continent, 33,135 (25 per cent) were from Africa, 31,725 (24 per cent) were from the Indian sub-continent, 13,710 (10 per cent) were from the Americas and 8,195 (6 per cent) were from Europe (excluding the EEA). The nationalities with the most student extensions were Chinese (25,895), Pakistani (13,750), Indian (13,575), Nigerian (7,680) and Bangladeshi (4,400).

4.7 18,810 (37 per cent) of persons granted an extension of stay as a work permit holder were from the Indian sub-continent, 13,155 (26 per cent) were from the rest of Asia, 8,680 (17 per cent) were from Africa, 4,525 (9 per cent) were from the Americas, 3,020 (6 per cent) were from Oceania and 2,410 (5 per cent) were from Europe (excluding the EEA). The nationalities with the most work permit holder extensions were Indian (16,425), Filipino (4,465), Chinese (3,270), South African (2,670) and United States citizens (2,220).

4.8 18,350 (45 per cent) of persons granted a permit-free employment extension were from the Indian sub-continent, 8,840 (22 per cent) were from the rest of Asia, 5,690 (14 per cent) were from Africa, 3,790 (9 per cent) were from Oceania, 2,950 (7 per cent) were from the Americas, and 1,185 (3 per cent) were from Europe (excluding the EEA). The nationalities with the most permit-free employment extensions were Indian (14,820), Pakistani (3,040), Filipino (2,690), Australian (2,575) and Chinese (2,240).

Decisions on after-entry applications to vary leave (excluding asylum) relating to dependants (Table 4.2)

4.9 The number of non-asylum after-entry decisions relating to dependants in 2006 was 121,600¹⁵, a decrease of 12 per cent on the previous year. This includes applications for settlement. There were substantial changes in some categories, the decreases being for:

- settlement dependants – down 45 per cent to 27,245 decisions;
- trainee dependants – down 79 per cent to 4,560 decisions; and
- work permit holder dependants – down 11 per cent to 34,680 decisions.

These decreases were offset by increases in the number of decisions in the permit-free employment (up 64 per cent to 26,440) and student (up 15 per cent to 24,815) dependant categories.

¹⁵ Excludes withdrawn applications, asylum-related cases and return of passport cases.

Decisions on residence document applications from EEA nationals and their family members (Tables 4.3 and 4.4)¹⁶

4.10 Decisions on applications for residence documents from EEA nationals and their family members¹⁷ rose from 59,575 in 2005 to 81,140 in 2006, an increase of 21,565 (36 per cent). The increase was reflected in decisions for applicants from nationals of all regions other than Africa.

4.11 The overall increase is due, in large part, to the increase in decisions relating to the ten states that acceded to the EEA in May 2004, allowing nationals of these countries and non-EEA dependant relatives to apply for residence documents. Of these, the largest increase was in decisions in applications made by Polish nationals, rising from 6,555 in 2005 to 25,435 in 2006, an increase of 19,885 (303 per cent). After Poland, the five nationalities with the most decisions were Portuguese (down 22 per cent to 4,000), Lithuanian (up 67 per cent to 3,585), German (up 1 per cent to 3,580), Indian (down 1 per cent to 3,550) and Dutch (up 5 per cent to 3,370).

4.12 Of the regions the largest increase was 21,455 (56 per cent) for Europe. Within this, decisions for nationals of the EEA accession states rose by 24,325, and by 330 for nationals of the 'Remainder of Europe'¹⁸, but fell by 3,200 for nationals of the pre-2004 EEA states¹⁹.

4.13 Decisions for applicants from Asia rose by 295 (4 per cent), the Americas by 215 (5 per cent) and Oceania by 35 (1 per cent). Africa was the only region to see a fall in decisions, by 740 (9 per cent).

4.14 The proportion of decisions that were refusals of Initial Recognition of Right to Reside documents fell from 11 per cent in 2005 to 5 per cent in 2006. The proportion of decisions that were to refuse documents in Recognition of Permanent Status also fell from 21 per cent in 2005 to 17 per cent in 2006.

¹⁶ See Explanatory Notes and Definitions, paragraphs 11 to 15.

¹⁷ Non-EEA family members of EEA nationals can apply for residence cards on the basis of their relationship. See Explanatory notes and Definitions, paragraphs 11, 14 and 15.

¹⁸ Europe excluding EEA.

5. GRANTS OF SETTLEMENT

Total grants (Tables 5.1 and 5.4)

5.1 The number of persons granted settlement²⁰ in the United Kingdom (UK), excluding European Economic Area (EEA) nationals, fell by 25 per cent in 2006 to 134,430.

5.2 Employment-related grants of settlement fell by 49 per cent from 63,015 in 2005 to 31,830 in 2006. The drop in grants reflects a change in the qualifying period for settlement from four to five years in all employment-related categories²¹.

5.3 Asylum-related grants of settlement were 55 per cent lower in 2006 than in 2005, at 30,605. The asylum-related grants were at a high level in 2004 and 2005 owing to the Family Indefinite Leave to Remain (ILR) Exercise (which allows certain asylum-seeking families who have been in the UK for four or more years to obtain settlement²²) and due to grants to persons given exceptional leave four years previously.

5.4 Family formation and reunion grants of settlement rose by 60 per cent from 37,335 in 2005 to 59,810 in 2006 but were 8 per cent lower than in 2003 (65,200). Grants in this category had dropped in 2004 and 2005 following a change in the qualifying period for spouses granted settlement on the basis of marriage²³.

Grants of settlement by nationality and category (Tables 5.1 to 5.8)

5.5 In 2006, there were decreases in grants to nationals of countries in Africa (down 21,850, or 40 per cent, to 32,230), Oceania (down 2,115, or 33 per cent, to 4,215), Europe (down 5,005, or 24 per cent, to 15,800), the 'Remainder of Asia²⁴' (down 10,050, or 22 per cent, to 35,305), the Indian sub-continent (down 3,905, or 13 per cent, to 25,080) and the Americas (down 1,770, or 13 per cent, to 12,130).

5.6 The top ten countries of nationality granted settlement in 2006 were India 11,220 (8 per cent of the total), Pakistan 11,000 (8 per cent), Afghanistan 7,410 (6 per cent), Nepal 6,940 (5 per cent), Philippines 6,325 (5 per cent), South Africa 5,675 (4 per cent), Nigeria 4,510 (3 per cent), Bulgaria 4,250 (3 per cent) and the United States of America (USA) 3,845 (3 per cent).

(1) Includes nationals of Cyprus, Czech Republic, Estonia, Hungary, Latvia, Lithuania, Malta, Poland, Slovakia and Slovenia before 1 May 2004, but excludes them after this date.

5.7 There was a change in the relative importance of each geographical area. The Indian sub-continent, the Middle East, the 'Remainder of Asia' and the Americas increased their respective share of the total number of grants: the Indian sub-continent from 16 per cent (28,990) to 19 per cent (25,080), the Middle East from 5 per cent (9,395) to 7 per cent (9,405), the 'Remainder of Asia' from 25 per cent (45,355) to 26 per cent (35,305) and the Americas from 8 per cent (13,905) to 9 per cent (12,130). The proportion of grants in Africa and Oceania fell: Africa from 30 per cent (54,080) to 24 per cent (32,230) and Oceania from 4 per cent (6,335) to 3 per cent (4,215). The proportion of grants to nationals of non-EEA European states remained unchanged at 12 per cent.

GRANTS OF SETTLEMENT BY NATIONALITY, EXCLUDING EEA NATIONALS AND SWITZERLAND, 2006 (Total number of persons 134,430)

5.8 More detailed points of note in the numbers accepted in particular categories and from different regions of the world, in 2006 compared with 2005, are as follows.

(a) Grants of settlement to all spouses and dependants decreased by 16 per cent to 87,850. This accounted for 65 per cent of all settlement. This includes grants on the basis of family formation and reunion as well as grants to dependants of persons granted settlement in their own right (e.g. employment and asylum-related dependants).

(b) Grants of settlement to husbands rose by 18 per cent to 18,540 (this was 14 per cent of all settlement). 6,240 (34 per cent) of grants to husbands were to those from the Indian sub-continent, 4,425 (24 per cent) from Africa, 2,560 (14 per cent) from the Americas, 2,370 (13 per cent) from Asia (excluding the Indian sub-continent), 2,175 (12 per cent) from Europe, and 755 (4 per cent) from Oceania.

(c) Grants of settlement to wives increased by 14 per cent to 34,400 (26 per cent of all settlement). 10,085 (29 per cent) of grants to wives were to those from Asia (excluding the Indian sub-continent), 8,770 (25 per cent) from the Indian sub-continent, 5,280 (15 per cent) from Africa, 4,595 (13 per cent) from Europe, 4,490 (13 per cent) from the Americas and 1,135 (3 per cent) from Oceania.

(d) Grants of settlement to children decreased by 44 per cent to 25,430 (19 per cent of all settlement). This was mainly due to a decrease in asylum-related grants to children and in grants to children of work permit holders. 8,370 (33 per cent) of grants of settlement to children were to applicants from Africa, 8,315 (33 per cent) from Asia (excluding the Indian sub-continent), 3,625 (14 per cent) from the Indian sub-continent, 2,725 (11 per cent) from Europe, 1,875 (7 per cent) from the Americas and 435 (2 per cent) from Oceania.

(e) In 2006, grants of settlement to elderly parents and grandparents joining children or grandchildren increased by 1 per cent to 1,470 (1 per cent of all settlement). Approximately 72 per cent of these were granted after entry.

(f) Grants of settlement on completion of four or five years in employment with a work permit decreased by 56 per cent to 11,270 (8 per cent of all settlement) reflecting a change in the qualifying period for settlement in all employment-related categories from four to five years²⁵. Of the total in 2006, the nationalities with the highest numbers of grants were Filipino (2,180; 19 per cent), Indian (1,650; 15 per cent), South African (1,395; 12 per cent), Zimbabwean (660; 6 per cent) and Malaysian (595; 5 per cent).

(g) Grants of settlement to asylum seekers (those granted asylum, those previously granted exceptional leave and grants under the Family ILR Exercise²⁶), excluding dependants, fell by 43 per cent to 19,385, and represented 14 per cent of all settlement. Of the total in 2006, the nationalities with the highest numbers of grants were citizens of Iraq (5,455), Afghanistan (4,900), Serbia and Montenegro (780), Sri Lanka (705), Somalia (605) and Angola (565). From 30 August 2005, the granting of indefinite leave to remain for refugees was replaced with an initial grant of five years' limited leave which is subject to review.

(h) Other grants on a discretionary basis, which include grants after a long period of continuous residence in the UK, rose by 52 per cent to 6,155, representing 5 per cent of all settlement.

5.9 The proportion of all acceptances of non-EEA nationals for settlement in 2006 (excluding those who obtained settlement on arrival²⁷) was equal for both males and females (50 per cent). The proportion varied between nationality groups, with males accounting for 75 per cent from the Middle East, 50 per cent from the 'Remainder of Asia', 49 per cent from Europe, 47 per cent from the Indian sub-continent and Africa, 45 per cent from Oceania and 41 per cent from the Americas.

5.10 The majority of those granted settlement in 2006 were relatively young, with 86,905 (71 per cent) under 35 years old. Overall, 20,130 (16 per cent) were children under 16, 18,815 (15 per cent) were between 16 and 24, 47,960 (39 per cent) were aged between 25 and 34, 22,390 (18 per cent) were between 35 and 44, 10,395 (8 per cent) were between 45 and 59, and 2,905 (2 per cent) were 60 or over. Those from the Indian sub-continent and the Middle East were generally younger, with 19,045 (79 per cent) and 7,265 (81 per cent) respectively of the successful applicants aged under 35, and those from the 'Remainder of Asia' and the Americas older, with 19,645 and 7,225 respectively (64 per cent) aged under 35.

6. ENFORCEMENT AND COMPLIANCE

6.1 Owing to a change in the working practices of the Border and Immigration Agency (BIA), all removals of unsuccessful asylum seekers are now carried out by Enforcement and Removal caseworkers and not by Immigration Officers at ports. This re-classification occurred in February 2003 and applied to all asylum removals conducted after 1 January 2004. However, Table 6.1 shows the type of removal that took place – not the team responsible – and so its definitions remain unchanged and the series remain continuous²⁸.

Removals (Table 6.1)

6.2 The number of persons who were removed or departed voluntarily (either as a result of enforcement action or under Assisted Voluntary Return (AVR) Programmes) from the United Kingdom (UK) in 2006 was 63,865, an increase of 10 per cent on 2005 (58,215). Of those removed or departing voluntarily in 2006, 55 per cent were removed after having been initially refused entry at a port, 36 per cent were removed as a result of enforcement action²⁹, and 10 per cent left under AVR Programmes run by the International Organization for Migration (IOM).

6.3 Within the total number of persons removed in 2006, 16,330 persons had sought asylum at some stage as principal applicants, 19 per cent more than in 2005 (13,730).

6.4 6,200 persons left under AVR Programmes run by the IOM in 2006, 70 per cent more than in 2005 (3,655). This includes 4,630 principal asylum applicants, 710 dependants of asylum seekers and 860 non-asylum cases leaving under the Assisted Voluntary Return for Irregular Migrants Programme.

6.5 Of the total number of non-asylum cases removed or known to have departed voluntarily²⁹ in 2006, 30 per cent were from America, 27 per cent were from Asia and 22 per cent were from Africa. The nationalities with the largest numbers were Brazilian (6,335), Pakistani (3,060), Nigerian (2,890), Indian (2,515) and Malaysian (2,150).

6.6 Of the total number of principal asylum applicants removed or known to have departed voluntarily²⁹ in 2006, 28 per cent were from Europe, 28 per cent were from Asia and 22 per cent were from Africa. The nationalities with the largest numbers were Iraqi (1,780), Turkish (1,665), Serbian and Montenegrin (1,420), Afghan (1,185) and Pakistani (875).

6.7 Including dependants, 18,280 asylum seekers were removed in 2006, 17 per cent more than in 2005 (15,685).

(1) Includes persons known to have departed 'voluntarily' after enforcement action had been initiated against them. 2005 and 2006 figures include persons who it has been established have left the United Kingdom without informing the immigration authorities.

²⁸ See Explanatory Notes and Definitions, paragraph 47.

²⁹ Includes persons who it is established have left the UK without informing the immigration authorities.

Immigration detention (Tables 6.3 to 6.6)

6.8 On 30 September 2006, there were 2,010 persons being detained solely under Immigration Act powers in the UK, excluding those detained in prison service establishments. Of these, 1,455 persons (72 per cent) were recorded as having sought asylum at some stage. The majority (98 per cent) of immigration detainees were being held in Immigration Removal Centres, with the remaining 2 per cent being held in Immigration Short Term Holding Facilities.

6.9 The nationalities with the highest number of detainees were Jamaican (155), Nigerian (140), Indian (115) and Pakistani (110). 94 per cent (1,880) of all detainees were male. 28 per cent of detainees had been in detention for less than 14 days, 14 per cent for between 15 and 29 days, 16 per cent for between one and two months and 22 per cent for between two and four months. 3 per cent had been detained for one year or more.

6.10 On 30 September 2006, 20 people who were detained solely under Immigration Act powers were recorded as being under 18 years old. 74 per cent of these persons had been in detention for 7 days or less and 21 per cent for between 8 and 14 days. All had been detained for 29 days or less. These individuals were all detained as part of families whose detention, as a group, was considered necessary.

6.11 It has not been possible to include information on persons leaving detention during the fourth quarter of 2006³⁰. A total of 21,045 people left detention (excluding Oakington and Harwich) between January and September 2006. Of these persons leaving detention, 14,360 (68 per cent) were removed from the UK, 5,470 (26 per cent) were granted temporary admission/release and 1,105 (5 per cent) were bailed.

6.12 Of the 1,235 children (i.e. aged under 18) recorded as leaving detention (excluding Oakington and Harwich) between January and September 2006, 1,085 (88 per cent) were asylum detainees. 93 per cent of children who left detention between January and September 2006 had been detained for 29 days or less.

Court proceedings (Table 6.7)

6.13 The available information relates to England and Wales and is on a principal immigration offence basis. It has not been possible to include information for November and December 2006³¹. Provisional data for January to October 2006 show that 868 persons were proceeded against at magistrates' courts for offences under the Immigration Acts 1971 to 2004. This information is not available by nationality.

6.14 The number of persons proceeded against for offences under the Asylum and Immigration Act 2004, which came into force in 2005, continues to account for a large proportion of all persons proceeded against. 498 persons (57 per cent of total proceedings) were proceeded against for offences under this Act between January and October 2006.

6.15 96 persons (11 per cent of total proceedings) were proceeded against for the offence of seeking leave to enter or remain by deception, including seeking the avoidance, postponement or revocation of enforcement action by deception, under the Immigration and Asylum Act 1999, between January and October 2006. 63 persons (7 per cent of total proceedings) were proceeded against for the offence of assisting unlawful immigration under the Nationality, Immigration and Asylum Act 2002 between January and October 2006.

6.16 676 (78 per cent) of the defendants at magistrates' courts were found guilty of immigration offences by these courts between January and October 2006. This high percentage is largely due to the high conviction rate of persons proceeded against for offences under the Asylum and Immigration Act 2004: of the 498 persons proceeded against for these offences, 476 (96 per cent) were found guilty. 225 defendants at magistrates' courts who had been proceeded against for immigration offences were tried at the Crown Court between January and October 2006, and 178 (79 per cent) were found guilty.

7. APPEALS

Appeals to Immigration Adjudicators/Judges (Table 7.1)

7.1 Immigration Judges³² determined 166,945 appeals in 2006, 66 per cent more than in 2005 (100,790), reflecting the higher number of entry clearance (including family visit visas) appeals.

7.2 33 per cent of appeals dealt with in 2006 were allowed, 56 per cent were dismissed and 11 per cent were withdrawn.

7.3 In 2006, the number of appeals determined relating to asylum cases fell by 17,845 to 16,095, reflecting the lower number of initial decisions, while the number of appeals determined on entry clearance and relating to other non-asylum cases increased.³³

7.4 130,460 appeals against refusal of entry clearance (including family visit visas) were dealt with by Immigration Judges in 2006, an increase of 79,150 from 2005. Of these 130,460 appeals, 35 per cent were allowed, 53 per cent were dismissed and 12 per cent were withdrawn. This compares with 41 per cent allowed and 52 per cent dismissed in 2005.³⁴

7.5 There were 20,390 other non-asylum appeals determined by Immigration Judges in 2006 (relating to after-entry control cases), 4,855 more than in 2005. Of these 20,390 appeals, 29 per cent were allowed, 59 per cent were dismissed and 12 per cent were withdrawn.

³² See Explanatory Notes and Definitions, paragraph 54.

³³ For further details of appeals on asylum cases, see section 3, paragraphs 3.12 to 3.15.

8. MIGRATION

Total International Migration (TIM) data³⁵ (Tables 8.1 to 8.5)

8.1 Net migration data for 2006 were unavailable at the time of producing this Command Paper. Instead, breakdowns of international migration data for the years 1995-2005 are provided. Summary net migration data for 2006 will be available from the Office for National Statistics in autumn 2007.

8.2 In 2005, the estimated number of people arriving to live in the United Kingdom (UK) for at least a year was 565,000. While slightly lower than the estimate for 2004, the change is not sufficient to signal an end to the overall trend of high in-migration into the UK that began in the late 1990s.

8.3 The estimate of 380,000 people emigrating from the UK in 2005 sustained the trend of increasing levels of emigration of previous years. Over half of emigrants were British citizens.

8.4 As a consequence of these flows, 185,000 more people entered than left the UK in 2005 for at least a year. Although slightly lower than the estimate in 2004, it was still higher than all other years since the current method to estimate Total International Migration (TIM) began in 1991.

8.5 The net inflow of non-British citizens continued, with just over a fifth of all immigration being accounted for by citizens from the New Commonwealth in 2005. Overall, there has been a 27 per cent rise of non-British citizens migrating into the UK between 2001 and 2005. The net outflow of British citizens migrating from the UK, following the trend seen since the method to estimate TIM began in 1991, increased by 25 per cent between 2001 and 2005.

8.6 Just over 70 per cent (64,000) of the net in-migration from the European Union (EU) (89,000) was accounted for by citizens from the eight Central and Eastern European accession states (A8) which joined the EU in May 2004. Net in-migration of A8 citizens coming into the UK for a period of at least a year increased by just over 30 per cent, from 49,000 in 2004 to 64,000 in 2005.

8.7 Almost all the increase in in-migration over the last decade is accounted for by people in the 15-24 and 25-44 age groups. Levels of emigration for 25-44 and 44-59/64 year olds are steadily climbing, with just over 1 per cent of the UK population of these age groups migrating abroad.

8.8 Work continues to be the most important reason for in-migration to the UK. In 2005, 28 per cent of migrants had a definite job to go to, while 15 per cent of migrants arrived in the UK looking for work. 'Formal study' continues to be the second most popular reason for migrating into the UK, with nearly a quarter of migrants (136,000) stating this as their reason for migration in 2005.

8.9 An increasing number of in-migrants are stating an intention to stay in the UK³⁵ for one to two years rather than a longer period; 44 per cent (250,000) in 2005 compared with 37 per cent (176,000) in 2001. On the other hand, the trend continues for a large proportion of people leaving the UK to state an intention to stay abroad for more than four years: a record 71 per cent of out-migrants (270,000) in 2005, compared with 61 per cent (172,000) in 2001.

8.10 Proportionally, the numbers of people migrating to and from different Government Office Regions (GORs) in England have only fluctuated marginally. The trend of migration to and from these areas is the same for both in- and out-migration, with London being most popular³⁶, followed by the South East and the North West. For instance, when averaged over the last five years, 41 per cent of people migrating to England migrated to London, while 30 per cent of people moving abroad left England from London.

³⁵ The data are quoted as proportions of those who gave an intended length of stay; those migrants who said they were 'not sure' how many years they intended to stay in the UK or return overseas were excluded.

³⁶ However, it is thought that respondents in the International Passenger Survey often state London as their first destination on arrival in the UK, but then move elsewhere in the longer term. This could mean that inflows to London are overstated, with a corresponding under-recording of the movement of international migrants to other areas.

(17) A change in procedures may have resulted in some under-recording for the fourth quarter of 2000 and the first quarter of 2001.

(1) May exclude some cases lodged at Local Enforcement Offices between January 1999 and March 2000.

(2) Includes outcomes of cases reconsidered for initial decisions made between 2000 and 2006. Outcomes related to date of reconsideration.

(3) Humanitarian Protection (HP) and Discretionary Leave (DL) replaced Exceptional Leave to Remain (ELR) from 1 April 2003. See Changes Affecting Statistics, paragraph 2(xi).

(4) Cases considered under normal procedures. Data for 2000 may include some cases decided under the backlog criteria.

(5) Cases decided under measures aimed at reducing the pre 1996 asylum application backlog.

(6) Figures for 1998 to 2000 are based on manual counts of data received in Appeals Support Section (ASS) of the Home Office. Some cases are received elsewhere in the Home Office before being forwarded to ASS and so may be counted in a later month than when they arrived in the Home Office. Figures for 2001 to March 2005 are based on Border and Immigration Agency electronic sources. From April 2005 appeals are lodged directly with the AIT.

(7) Prior to 2005, based on data supplied by the Presenting Officers Unit within the Home Office. From 2005 based on information supplied by the AIT. Determinations do not necessarily relate to appeals received in the same period.

(8) Includes enforced removals, persons departing 'voluntarily' following enforcement action initiated against them, persons leaving under Assisted Voluntary Return Programmes run by the International Organisation for Migration, and those who it is established have left the UK without informing the Immigration Authorities.

(9) Data for 1998 are not directly comparable with figures for later years. Figures from 1999 are rounded to the nearest hundred.

(10) Data may be under-recorded due to 2,490 cases in 2002, 6,175 cases in 2003, 4,440 cases in 2004, 4,565 cases in 2005 and 4,465 in 2006 for which the settlement category is unknown.

(1) The unification of the appeals system came into effect on the 4 April 2005. The Asylum & Immigration Tribunal (AIT) was created by a merger of the Immigration Appellate Authority (IAA) and the Immigration Appeals Tribunal (IAT). There is a right of application for a review of the AIT decision, which may lead to a reconsideration by the AIT with oversight by the appropriate Court.

(2) Based on Border and Immigration Agency electronic sources. From the 4 April 2005 appeals are lodged directly with the AIT.

(3) Pre 2005 based on data supplied from the Presenting Officers Unit within the Home Office. From 2005 based on information supplied by the AIT. Determinations do not necessarily relate to appeals received in the same period.

(4) The decision of the respondent (in this case, the Home Office or the Immigration Appeal Tribunal) was quashed. These figures include consent orders where the Judicial Review was conceded by the respondent.

(5) The decision of the respondent was upheld.

(1) As Commonwealth citizens were not subject to immigration control until 1 July 1962, when the Commonwealth Immigrants Act 1962 came into effect, earlier Commonwealth figures were recorded on a different basis. The available information is that from 1 January 1955 to 30 June 1962 the net intake (the total number entering, less the number leaving during the same period), is estimated at about 472,500.

(2) The breakdown of figures by settlement on arrival and on removal of time limit of foreign nationals is not available before 1967.

(3) Excludes EEA nationals from 1999, Switzerland from 1 June 2002 and Accession States from 1 May 2004, hence the totals differ slightly from Tables 5.6 and 5.7 between 1996 and 2002.

(4) Data from 2003 exclude dependants of EEA and Swiss nationals in confirmed relationships granted permanent residence. See Explanatory Notes and Definitions, paragraph 11.

(5) Figures for settlement of Pakistani nationals have been included in Commonwealth throughout the period covered. South African nationals have been included in Commonwealth from 1994 only.

(6) Includes Commonwealth nationals from 1 July to 31 December 1962 only.

(1) Under Sections 3(6), 3(7) or 33(1) of the Immigration Act 1971, or under Section 10 of the Immigration and Asylum Act 1999.

(2) Includes cases dealt with at juxtaposed controls.

(3) Includes persons departing 'voluntarily' after enforcement action had been initiated against them.

(4) Due to a reclassification of removal categories, figures for 2006 are not directly comparable with previous years, see Explanatory Notes and Definitions, paragraph 49.

(5) Due to a change in the working practices of the Border and Immigration Agency, from February 2003 all port asylum removals have been carried out by enforcement teams using Port Powers of removal, see Explanatory Notes and Definitions, paragraph 47.

(6) Persons who had sought asylum at some stage, excluding dependants.

(7) Data on dependants of asylum applicants removed have only been collected since April 2001. Information on the type of removal of dependants is only available from 2004.

(1) The unification of the appeals system came into effect on the 4th April 2005. The Asylum & Immigration Tribunal (AIT) was created by a merger of the Immigration Appellate Authority (IAA) and the Immigration Appeals Tribunal (IAT). There is a right of application for a review of the AIT decision, which may lead to a reconsideration by the AIT with oversight by the appropriate Court.

(2) Figures for 1997, 1999, and 2000 rounded to the nearest 10, figures for 1998 rounded to the nearest 100, and figures for 2001 onwards are rounded to the nearest 5.

(3) From 1999 to 2005, based on data supplied by the Presenting Officers Unit within the Home Office. From 2005 based on information supplied by the AIT.

(4) Includes cases where the appellant withdrew the appeal because the Home Office had conceded the case, as well those where the appellant decided not to pursue the appeal further.

(5) Includes refusal of certificate of entitlement and family visit visa appeals.

(6) After-entry control cases.

(1) Based mainly on data from the International Passenger Survey (IPS). Includes adjustments for (i) those whose intended length of stay changes so that their migrant status changes; (ii) asylum seekers and their dependants not identified by the IPS; and (iii) flows between the UK and the Republic of Ireland.

(2) Based on the United Nations definition of migration, i.e. a migrant into the UK is a person who has resided abroad for a year or more who states on arrival the intention to stay in the UK for a year or more, and vice versa for a migrant from the UK. Adjustments have been made on the data on intentions to give estimates of actual net migration.

(3) Data for 2006 is unavailable.

(4) Up to and including 2003, estimates are shown only for the EU15 (Austria, Belgium, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, the Irish Republic, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Portugal, Spain and Sweden). From 2004, the estimates are also shown for A8 (the Czech Republic, Estonia, Hungary, Latvia, Lithuania, Poland, Slovakia and Slovenia) and the EU25 (i.e. the EU15 and A8 groups, plus Malta and Cyprus). British citizens are excluded from all EU groupings and are shown separately.

(5) Includes estimates of South African citizenship for all years. From 2004 onwards excludes Malta and Cyprus.

(6) Includes Hong Kong. For 2004 onwards excludes the eight central and eastern European member states that joined the EU in May 2004.

(7) The difference between inflow and outflow; a positive figure indicates a net inflow (i.e. net in-migration), a negative figure a net outflow (i.e. net out-migration).

(2) These estimates of Total International Migration have been derived using a consistent methodology based primarily on the International Passenger Survey (IPS) to allocate migration to the constituent countries of the UK, and to Government Office Regions within England. A new methodology is planned for the 2006 estimates. Given the small sample size of the IPS for Scotland and Northern Ireland residents, adjustment of these estimates using data from administrative records is currently made for the purposes of population estimation in Scotland and Northern Ireland.

CHANGES AFFECTING STATISTICS OF IMMIGRATION CONTROL

1. The statistics in this publication reflect the operation of immigration control, which is based on the Immigration Act 1971 that came into force on 1 January 1973. Since then, the main legislation bearing on the statistics has been the British Nationality Act 1981, which came into force on 1 January 1983, the Immigration Act 1988, the Asylum and Immigration Appeals Act 1993, the Asylum and Immigration Act 1996, the Immigration and Asylum Act 1999, the Nationality, Immigration and Asylum Act 2002, and the Asylum and Immigration (Treatment of Claimants, etc.) Act 2004.

(i) The British Nationality Act 1981 defined British citizenship, British Overseas citizenship and British Overseas Territories citizenship, and two related categories – British protected persons and British subjects under the Act (for the way in which these citizenships are included in the statistics, see Explanatory Notes and Definitions, paragraph 8). The Act also incorporated certain amendments to the Immigration Act 1971, mainly in relation to the right of abode in the United Kingdom (UK).

(ii) The Immigration Act 1988 made a number of changes to immigration law; some of its provisions came into force on 10 July 1988, and most of the remainder on 1 August 1988. Most importantly, it repealed Section 1(5) of the Immigration Act 1971, under which dependants of male Commonwealth citizens settled in the UK on 1 January 1973 were exempt from the requirement to serve a probationary year before being granted settlement. The effect of the repeal of Section 1(5) was to reduce the number of persons, particularly wives, accepted for settlement on arrival, and to increase the numbers of such persons accepted on removal of time limit after serving a probationary year. The Act also extended to all administrative deportation cases the provision allowing the Home Office to pay the fares of persons removed under supervised departure procedures.

(iii) The Asylum and Immigration Appeals Act 1993 came into force on 26 July 1993 and provided for: new rights of appeal for asylum applicants refused asylum; strict time limits on all stages of processing asylum cases; and a swifter procedure for dealing with manifestly unfounded cases. The Act restricted the appeal rights of persons seeking to enter the country as a visitor or a short-term or prospective student, or seeking to extend their duration of stay beyond the maximum period permitted.

(iv) The Asylum and Immigration Act 1996 (which came into force in stages, mostly during September and October 1996) introduced the following.

(a) An extension of the accelerated appeals procedure to a wider range of refused asylum applications.

(b) The designation by the Secretary of State, with the approval of Parliament, of selected countries of destination where there is generally no serious risk of persecution – refusals of such cases being liable to the accelerated appeals procedure.

(c) Restricting appeals against return to a safe third country within the European Union (EU) and other countries so designated.

(v) On 2 October 2000, Part IV of the Immigration and Asylum Act 1999 came into force; this supersedes all previous legislation on asylum appeals. It introduced a comprehensive ‘one-stop’ appeals process replacing the old system of multiple appeals. Applicants are required to set out in a statement all the reasons, outside the scope of the original application, why they wish to enter or remain in the UK. An applicant can make only one application. Anything he/she says to add to it or change it until such time as a decision is made is a variation of that application that will attract only one decision and one appeal.

(vi) The Nationality, Immigration and Asylum Act 2002 came fully into force on 1 April 2003. It built upon the ‘one-stop’ system of the 1999 Act with a single right of appeal which could be brought on one or more well-known grounds restated in Section 84 of the Act. As previously an appellant could raise further grounds of appeal in a ‘one-stop’ statement that the adjudicator would consider. This act also introduced Non-Suspensive Appeals (NSA) which did not suspend removal and could only be pursued outside the UK. Under Section 94 of the Act this would apply where the Secretary of State certifies the asylum or human rights claim as clearly unfounded. Where the Secretary of State is satisfied that they are entitled to reside in any state designated under Section 94(4) or in any Order derived there from he/she is obliged to consider whether the claim is clearly unfounded and to certify it as such where he/she finds it to be so. Where they are not entitled to reside in a designated state the Secretary of State can certify a clearly unfounded claim but he/she is not obliged to do so.

(vii) Since November 2002: under the Nationality, Immigration and Asylum Act 2002, the Secretary of State has designated various countries as generally safe. Asylum applications from nationals of these countries must be certified as “clearly unfounded” unless the Secretary of State is satisfied that they are not clearly unfounded. The countries currently on the NSA list are: Albania, Jamaica, Macedonia, Moldova, Mongolia, Serbia, Nigeria (males only), Ghana (males only), Bolivia, Brazil, Ecuador, South Africa, India and Ukraine. In addition Bosnia, Mauritius, Montenegro and Peru were added to the list in 2007 along with male asylum seekers with clearly unfounded claims from the Gambia, Kenya, Liberia, Malawi, Mali and Sierra Leone.

(viii) The Asylum and Immigration (Treatment of Claimants, etc.) Act 2004 received Royal Assent in July 2004. One of the Act’s key aims was to deter and prevent behaviour designed to frustrate the UK asylum process. The Act provided for the re-structuring of the appeals system. Previously appeals were heard first by an Adjudicator, with scope for permission to be sought to appeal to the Immigration Appeals Tribunal (IAT). From April 2005, these stages were effectively combined, with appeals heard by an Asylum and Immigration Tribunal (AIT) Judge (or by a panel of Judges in more complex or important cases). An onward right of review against a determination of the AIT is to the High Court for an order that the Tribunal reconsiders its decision on the grounds that it has made an error of law. The Act introduced two new offences from September 2004, one of being undocumented without reasonable explanation, and another of failing to comply with the re-documentation process.

(ix) In March 2006 The Immigration, Asylum and Nationality Act 2006 gained Royal Assent, to boost Government powers to tackle illegal working and strengthen UK borders. The Act, which will be fully implemented by 2008, restricts appeals for those refused entry to the UK to work or study; introduces a new civil penalties scheme for employers found knowingly to use or exploit illegal workers; allows data sharing between the Immigration Service, police and customs to strengthen the Border as part of the e-Borders programme; and improves our ability to strip citizenship from and deport those who pose a serious risk to the UK’s interests.

2. The figures in the historical tables also reflect changes in the Immigration Rules or instructions made under the Immigration Acts and other factors, as follows.

(i) On 1 January 1994 the European Economic Area (EEA) Agreement came into force. It provided for the right of admission and residence for nationals of the EU to be extended to non-EU EEA nationals. In 1994 the EEA comprised the twelve Member States of the EU, formerly the European Community (EC), together with Austria, Finland, Sweden, Iceland and Norway. Austria, Finland and Sweden subsequently became Member States of the EU on 1 January 1995 and Liechtenstein became part of the EEA on 1 May 1995.

(ii) On 5 February 1996, the Department of Social Security withdrew a range of non-contributory benefits from after-entry asylum seekers and from asylum seekers whose application had been refused and who were appealing against that refusal. These regulations were confirmed by the Asylum and Immigration Act 1996.

(iii) The primary purpose rule, which sought to establish that entry was not being sought for a purpose that would lead to the marriage being abandoned shortly after, was abolished on 5 June 1997.

(iv) The provisions of the Dublin II Regulation EC No 343/2003 came into force on 1 September 2003 and replace those provided by the Dublin Convention since 1 September 1997. The Dublin arrangements provide an agreed framework: (a) to determine which state is responsible for examining applications for asylum lodged in one of the participating states; and (b) to transfer the applicant to the responsible state. The Dublin II Regulation applies in all EU member states (including Denmark since 1 April 2006), as well as in Norway and Iceland (by means of an Agreement between those two countries and the European Community concluded in 2001). Prior to the introduction of the Dublin Convention in 1997 an applicant was normally returned to the safe third country where he/she embarked to the UK, but under both the Convention and the replacement Regulation the responsible state in most cases is not the state of embarkation as the basic premise of the Dublin arrangements is that the member state most responsible for the presence of an asylum seeker on EU territory will also be responsible for assessing the asylum claim.

(v) In July 1998 the White Paper entitled ‘Fairer, Faster and Firmer – A Modern Approach to Immigration and Asylum’ was published. A number of proposals relating to asylum were made, several of which were implemented immediately (27 July 1998) as there was no need for primary legislation. These have the effect of abolishing the qualifying period of four years for grants of settlement to those recognised as refugees and given asylum and reducing it for those granted exceptional leave from seven to four years. In early 1999 the Home Office established units to implement further measures outlined in the White Paper.

(vi) The administrative removal powers contained in Section 10 of the Immigration and Asylum Act 1999 came into force on 2 October 2000. The Section introduced new arrangements for overstayers, persons who fail to observe the conditions attached to their leave, and persons who, having entered lawfully in the first instance, subsequently obtain further leave by deception, all of whom would previously have been liable to deportation.

(vii) The Voluntary Assisted Returns Programme (VARP) began as a pilot project in February 1999 and was expanded into a full programme in September 2000. VARP is funded by the Home Office but is run by the International Organisation for Migration in partnership with Refugee Action. It provides a service to asylum seekers and persons with exceptional leave who are considering returning voluntarily to their country of origin; independent advice is given on options for return and eligible persons are provided with a ticket and practical assistance with travel arrangements. In 2002, the VARP became the: the Voluntary Assisted Returns and Reintegration Programme (VARRP).

(viii) An agreement between Member States of the EEA and Switzerland came into force on 1 June 2002. The agreement confers on Swiss nationals the same rights as those enjoyed by EEA nationals and their family members.

(ix) From 18 December 2002 nationals from Poland, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Bulgaria and Romania became eligible to enter the UK as au pairs.

(x) With effect from 1 April 2003, the implementation of amendments to rule changes published as HC 538 has resulted in a number of changes in the Immigration Rules relating to spouses, fiancé(e)s and unmarried partners, including the following.

(a) A passenger seeking entry in these categories must be 16 years or over and the sponsor must be 18 years or over on the date leave to enter is granted.

(b) Passengers seeking entry as a spouse are to be given two years leave to enter rather than 12 months.

(c) A passenger seeking entry as a spouse can now be granted indefinite leave to enter by an Entry Clearance office (ECO), rather than completing the probationary period, if the passenger has been married to a person who has the right of abode in the UK or has settlement status and who is on the same occasion seeking admission to the UK for the purpose of settlement and the parties were married at least four years ago since which time they have been living together outside the UK.

(d) A passenger seeking entry as an unmarried partner can now be granted indefinite leave to enter, by an ECO, rather than completing the probationary period if the sponsor has the right of abode in the UK or has settled status and the parties have been living together outside the UK in a relationship akin to marriage which has subsisted for four years or more.

(xi) On 1 April 2003, Exceptional Leave to Remain (ELR) was replaced by Humanitarian Protection (HP) and Discretionary Leave (DL). These new policies were introduced to ensure that only those who are in genuine need of protection, or where there are other compelling reasons why they should be allowed to stay in this country, are granted leave to remain here outside the Immigration Rules.

(xii) The Family Indefinite Leave to Remain (ILR) Exercise, announced by the Home Secretary on 24 October 2003, allows certain asylum-seeking families who have been in the UK for four or more years to obtain settlement. To qualify, the main applicant of the family unit must have applied for asylum before 2 October 2000 and must have had at least one dependant aged under 18 (other than a spouse) in the UK on 2 October 2000 and/or 24 October 2003. The exercise will not apply to a family where the principal applicant or any of the dependants:

- (a) has a criminal conviction;
- (b) has been the subject of an anti-social behaviour order or sex offender order;
- (c) has made (or attempted to make) an application for asylum in the UK in more than one identity;
- (d) should have his/her asylum claim considered by another country (i.e. he/she is the subject of a possible third country removal);
- (e) presents a risk to security; or
- (f) falls within the scope of Article 1F of the Refugee Convention, or whose presence in the UK is otherwise not conducive to the public good.

(xiii) Cyprus, Czech Republic, Estonia, Hungary, Latvia, Lithuania, Malta, Poland, Slovakia and Slovenia became part of the EEA on 1 May 2004.

(xiv) In February 2005 the Government announced a 5 year strategy for asylum and immigration: 'Controlling our borders: Making migration work for Britain'. This has since been built upon by the Immigration and Nationality Directorate (IND) Review (Fair, Effective, Transparent and Trusted) in July 2006. Both outlined how asylum claims would be managed more closely under the New Asylum Model. The IND Review gave details of how we would be tackling a legacy of old asylum cases that had arisen. The Strategy included granting refugees temporary leave rather than permanent status.

(xv) There was a number of Statement of Changes in Immigration Rules laid before Parliament in 2006. Among them were changes affecting child visitors; the qualifying period for settlement for employment related categories; EEA nationals right apply for permission to remain indefinitely in the UK; the Highly Skilled Migrant Scheme and the immigration rules regarding Bulgarian and Romanian nationals. A full list of the 2006 Statements of Changes in Immigration Rules follows:

- HC 819 of January 2006 (took effect 12 February 2006)
- HC 949 of March 2006 (took effect 2 March 2006 and 22 March 2006)
- HC 974 of March 2006 (took effect 3 April 2006)
- HC 1016 of March 2006 (took effect 3 April 2006)
- HC 1053 of April 2006 (took effect 30 April 2006)
- HC 1337 of July 2006 (took effect 20 July 2006)
- CM 6918 of September 2006 (took effect 9 October 2006)
- HC 1702 of November 2006 (took effect 8 November 2006)
- HC 130 of December 2006 (took effect 1 January 2007).

(xvi) HC 1016 introduced a requirement for those seeking settlement in the employment related categories to have spent a minimum of five years in the United Kingdom in this category whereas previously this was four years.

3. Before travelling to the UK, visa nationals are required to obtain entry clearance from a British diplomatic post abroad. Since October 2000 under the Immigration (Leave to Enter and Remain) Order 2000, entry clearance serves a dual purpose. It not only permits the bearer to travel to the UK, it also confers as leave to enter from the date of issue and will be activated upon passing through UK immigration control. Statement of changes in Immigration Rules (HC 1224) took effect on 13 November 2003 that required all non-EEA nationals to obtain entry clearance issued overseas for stays in the United Kingdom in excess of six months. HC 1224 further prevented Immigration Officers from granting in excess of six months entry at the United Kingdom border. Visa requirements were introduced for nationals of Malawi on 2 March 2006 and lifted for nationals of Croatia on 22 March 2006.

EXPLANATORY NOTES AND DEFINITIONS

1. This is the latest in an annual series of Command Papers on immigration control statistics. It presents information for 2006 and earlier years, and includes information on applications for asylum and their outcome and demographic characteristics of persons granted settlement in the United Kingdom (UK).

The first permanent control over the admission and residence of foreigners in peacetime was established by the Aliens Act 1905. Annual reports of HM Inspector under the Act from 1906 to 1913 inclusive, which included statistics on foreign passengers arriving and departing, were published as Command Papers. No foreign passenger traffic figures were published for the period 1 July 1914 to 31 December 1919. Quarterly returns of foreign passenger traffic were published as Command Papers for the period 1 January 1920 to 30 June 1939. Annual returns giving a more detailed analysis were published for the years 1921 to 1938. The series was suspended on the outbreak of war. Following a number of requests for permission to use figures since 1939 a Command Paper volume was published providing information for the years 1939 to 1951. This Command Paper stated the intention to publish figures annually.

Data quality

2. During the first half of 2002, a new integrated database was implemented by the Immigration and Nationality Directorate (IND) (the Border and Immigration Agency (BIA) from 1 April 2007) to record case information including grants of leave to remain and settlement. This database will in time enable the generation of high quality information, but in the meantime there remain some data quality issues which have affected some of the statistics in this publication.

3. The most significant of the data quality issues concern grants of extensions of leave to remain and grants of settlement. There are 2,675 cases of grants of leave to remain (excluding dependants) and 4,465 cases of grants of settlement in 2006 for which the category of extension or settlement is unknown. These cases have been recorded as 'category unknown' in Tables 4.1, 4.2, 5.1, 5.3 and 5.4, and included in 'other' in Table 5.6. There is no reason to believe that any of these cases fall disproportionately into any of the individual extension or settlement categories.

4. Further data quality issues are identified in paragraphs 48, 50, 51 and 52.

Coverage

5. The statistics in this publication (apart from Tables 2.1, 4.3, 4.4, 5.3, 5.8 and 8.1 to 8.5) relate to persons who are subject to immigration control under Immigration Acts (that is, to persons who do not have the right of abode in the UK) and are produced mainly as a by-product of the process of immigration control. British citizens and those Commonwealth citizens who also have the right of abode are not subject to immigration control and may freely enter and leave the UK and, except for Tables 2.1 and 8.1 to 8.5, they are not covered by the statistics. Nearly all of these persons are British citizens who, together with other European Economic Area (EEA) nationals and passengers in direct transit, comprised 88 per cent of the 105 million total passenger arrivals from outside the Common Travel Area (see paragraph 9) in 2006.

6. Immigration control regulates the entry and refusal of entry of passengers into the UK, the conditions of stay in the UK, the variation of such conditions following entry, settlement and the deportation or removal of persons. The administration of immigration control is governed by the immigration rules which are laid before Parliament by the Home Secretary. The immigration rules current in 2006 are 'Statement of Changes in Immigration Rules' HC 395, which took effect from 1 October 1994, (consolidating previous rule changes) and subsequent amendments to the rules. Changes in the Rules have affected the statistics over the years, and an account of the more notable changes and of other developments are given in the previous section.

7. Persons who emigrate from the UK are not included in this publication. It is not possible for the BIA to provide information on how many persons have left the country, as we do not count everyone into and out of the UK. However, estimates of the total number of international migrants are available from the Office for National Statistics (www.statistics.gov.uk). These estimates are based mainly on the results of the International Passenger Survey, a sample survey of all passengers, which identifies those intending to stay for a year or longer in their new country of residence. For more detail, see page 113.

Classification of countries and nationalities

8. The heading 'British Overseas citizens' also includes British protected persons and British subjects under the British Nationality Act 1981 and covers those persons classified in the pre-1983 issues of this publication as 'United Kingdom Passport Holders'. British Overseas Territories citizens (BOTCs) from Hong Kong, stateless persons from Hong Kong, British Nationals (Overseas) and holders of Hong Kong Special Administrative Region passports are recorded under 'Hong Kong', and other BOTCs are included under the relevant geographical region. The term 'Indian sub-continent' refers to India, Pakistan and Bangladesh, but excludes Sri Lanka, reflecting the special immigration history of the three mainland countries. Pakistan and South Africa rejoined the Commonwealth on 1 October 1989 and 1 June 1994 respectively; for the purposes of this publication, Pakistan is regarded as Commonwealth for the whole period covered but South Africa is not. Additionally, for the purposes of this publication, the term 'foreign' means 'non-Commonwealth' to 1998 and 'non-Commonwealth and non-EEA' from 1999.

EEA nationals

9. This publication does not include figures for citizens of the Republic of Ireland, who are generally able to travel freely within the Common Travel Area. Other EEA nationals are also entitled to free movement and do not require leave to enter or remain in the UK (see Changes Affecting Statistics of Immigration Control paragraph 2(i)). EEA nationals are therefore not included in the statistics in this publication on: admissions with limited leave; extensions of stay; or settlement on arrival (Table 2.1 is an exception to this rule). Data on EEA nationals granted settlement was not recorded between 1999 and 2000. An agreement between the Member States of the EEA and Switzerland came into force in the UK on 1 June 2002. This agreement confers on Swiss nationals the same rights as those enjoyed by EEA nationals and their family members. Data on admissions of Swiss nationals in this publication are included for arrivals up to 31 May 2002.

10. On 1 May 2004, Cyprus, Czech Republic, Estonia, Hungary, Latvia, Lithuania, Malta, Poland, Slovakia and Slovenia all joined the EEA. Tables in sections 2, 4 and 5 (other than tables 4.3 and 4.4) within this Command Paper have been compiled to include data on these countries up to 1 May 2004. Cyprus (non-European Union) is included in 'Other Europe' from 2004.

11. The 2000 European Economic Area Regulations were replaced on the 30 April 2006 by the Immigration (European Economic Area) Regulations 2006. This transposes the 2004/38/EC/Directive into UK legislation. Under the 2006 Regulations, EEA nationals (and their family members) have the right to reside in the UK for 3 months, by virtue of their nationality. To have a right to reside beyond that period they must be exercising a treaty right, described in domestic regulations as being a qualified person. To be considered a qualified person, they must be a worker, self-employed person, self-sufficient or a student. After residing in the UK for a period of five years according to the EEA Regulations, an EEA national or their family member will acquire the right of permanent residence in the UK.

Nationals from the 'A8' Accession States (Poland, Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia, Hungary, Czech Republic, Slovakia, and Slovenia) who joined the European Union (EU) in 2004 are required to register as workers under the terms of the Worker Registration Scheme and obtain full movement rights as workers on completion of twelve months continuous employment. Following 12 months lawful employment they become entitled to seek EEA documentation on basis of that employment. A8 nationals are entitled, from date of entry, to seek documentation confirming status if exercising any other treaty right (Self employment, Self sufficiency or Student). This period of data does not include Bulgarian and Romanian nationals exercising a treaty right. Bulgaria and Romania joined the EU on 1 January 2007.

12. A registration certificate is issued to an EEA national to confirm that they are exercising a treaty right. They are not obliged to apply for a registration certificate but may find it useful if they do so.

13. A residence card is issued to a non-EEA national family member of an EEA national when sought. It confirms their status as a family member of an EEA national and is normally issued for a period of five years.

14. A document certifying permanent residence is issued to EEA nationals to confirm their right of permanent residence in the UK which they acquire after 5 years of living in the UK as an EEA national exercising a treaty right. They are not obliged to apply for a permanent residence card but may find it useful if they do so.

15. A permanent residence card for non-EEA family members of EEA nationals must be issued within 6 months of receipt of application on the provision that they have a right to such a card. To acquire that right the non-EEA national must be a family member of an EEA national, and to have been living in accordance with the EEA Regulations for 5 years.

16. Based on information from the International Passenger Survey, it is estimated that about 22.3 million EEA nationals (excluding arrivals from within the Common Travel Area) entered the UK in 2006 (see Table 2.1).

Passenger admissions and refusals (Tables 2.1 to 2.6)

17. The statistics of passengers given leave to enter the UK and of those refused entry and removed exclude EEA nationals, passengers who enter as members of HM or NATO forces, officers or members of the crew of ships, aircraft or Channel Tunnel trains, those who land briefly in the UK in transit without passing through immigration control, and any passengers who enter the UK from other parts of the Common Travel Area. The data are of the number of journeys made; a person who makes more than one journey is counted on each occasion, either in a specific category if given fresh leave to enter or in 'passengers returning'. The data on visitors, students, passengers in transit and passengers returning (previously settled) are based, mainly or partly depending on the category, on a sample of such persons. Improvements to the sampling methodology were introduced from July 2003 and therefore caution should be exercised when making statistical comparisons with earlier periods at a detailed level. There are certain breaks in some of the admission series as a result of Austria, Finland, Iceland, Norway, Sweden and Liechtenstein joining the EEA in 1994-95, and hence being excluded from the figures from then on. Additionally, Swiss nationals are excluded from 1 June 2002 and nationals of the accession countries from 1 May 2004.

18. 'Dependants of work permit holders' includes spouses, and children under 18 years old, of work permit holders.

19. 'Passengers returning' includes both persons who are settled in the UK and who have been absent for less than two years, and those subject to a limited leave to enter who have returned within the time limit of that leave. The initial admissions of such passengers will have been counted in one of the specific categories of Table 3.2 in the year in question.

20. 'Refugees, exceptional leave cases and their dependants' covers persons who have applied for asylum at ports (and their accompanying dependants) and who have been granted asylum, humanitarian protection, discretionary leave or who have been allowed to stay under the Family Indefinite Leave to Remain (ILR) Exercise (Changes Affecting Statistics of Immigration Control, paragraph 2(xii)), and are hence given leave to enter. Port asylum applicants are usually given temporary admission initially while their claim is being considered, and the grant of leave to enter may therefore occur some time after the initial entry to the country. These figures are not directly comparable with those in Tables 3.1 and 3.2 since they exclude grants to in-country asylum applicants and include dependants.

21. In Table 2.3, 'Others given leave to enter' includes:

- (a) children seeking settlement;
- (b) diplomats and officials;
- (c) domestic workers;
- (d) ministers of religion;
- (e) persons of independent means, investors, in business, self-employed persons, writers and those coming for permit-free employment;
- (f) seasonal agricultural workers;
- (g) unmarried partners;
- (h) civil partners and proposed civil partners;
- (i) working holidaymakers;
- (j) UK ancestry cases (i.e. Commonwealth citizens with a UK-born grandparent, who are taking or seeking employment); and
- (k) dependants of (b) to (j) where applicable, of students and NATO forces.

Asylum (Tables 3.1 to 3.7)

22. The criteria for recognition as a refugee, and hence the granting of asylum, are set out in the 1951 United Nations Convention relating to the Status of Refugees, extended in its application by the 1967 Protocol relating to the Status of Refugees. The Convention defines a refugee as a person who “owing to a well-founded fear of being persecuted for reasons of race, religion, nationality, membership of a particular social group or political opinion, is outside the country of his nationality and unable or, owing to such fear, is unwilling to avail himself of the protection of that country; or who, not having a nationality and being outside the country of his former habitual residence ... is unable or, owing to such fear, is unwilling to return to it.”

23. Persons who are found not to be refugees within the terms of the Convention will be refused asylum. In certain circumstances they may be granted Humanitarian Protection (HP) or Discretionary Leave (DL) for a limited period (HP and DL replaced Exceptional Leave to Remain (ELR) on 1 April 2003).

24. Until 30 August 2005, persons granted asylum were given ILR (settlement). Those granted HP between 1 April 2003 and 30 August 2005 were eligible to apply for settlement after three years with that status and those granted DL were normally eligible to apply for settlement after completing six years in this category.

Since 30 August 2005, all refugees, other than those arriving in the UK under the Gateway resettlement scheme have been granted five years' limited leave rather than ILR. At the end of this period they are entitled to apply for settlement. HP has been brought in line with refugee leave, and as such those granted HP may also apply for settlement after five years. There is no change to the time limits pertaining to DL.

25. A reconsideration case refers to an asylum decision by the Secretary of State which is later required to be reconsidered as a result of additional information and/or significant changes in current circumstances and country information.

26. Non-compliance refusals are for failure to cooperate with the process to examine and decide the asylum claim within a reasonable period. This includes refusals for failure to respond to invitations to interview to establish identity.

27. There is no provision in the Immigration Rules to seek asylum in the UK from abroad. However, under certain specified exceptional circumstances, cases can be referred to the Home Office from overseas diplomatic posts. If entry clearance is granted exceptionally, and the applicant subsequently travels to the UK and applies for asylum, the application would be included in the figures in the same way as other applications. Limited information is available on applications that are processed abroad. No applications are recorded as having been lodged under these circumstances in the UK since 1992.

28. The right of appeal is based in law on the taking of an ‘immigration decision’ as defined by Section 82 of the Nationality, Immigration and Asylum Act (NIA) 2002. This right of appeal is subject to limitations and exceptions detailed in Sections 88 to 89 of the NIA Act 2002.

From April 2005 there has been a single-tier system for asylum and immigration appeals, the Asylum and Immigration Tribunal (AIT). The AIT is the responsibility of the Tribunals Service which is an executive agency of the Ministry of Justice. Appeals before the AIT are decided by Immigration Judges. There is a right of application for a review of the AIT decision, which may lead to a reconsideration by the AIT with oversight by the appropriate Court.

Prior to April 2005, there was a two-tier system for appeals in these cases – to immigration adjudicators in the Immigration Appellate Authority (IAA) at the first tier; and an onward right of appeal, by way of permission, to the Immigration Appeals Tribunal (IAT).

29. In addition to individual applications for asylum, South East Asian refugees formed a distinct group of persons, already recognised as refugees, who were granted settlement on their arrival in the UK up to 1996. These cases are included in recognised refugees in Table 5.3. Under arrangements announced on 30 November 1992 and 6 August 1995 some 3,000 vulnerable former Yugoslavs who were in need of evacuation were admitted into the UK, on an exceptional basis. In addition, the Government announced that the UK was willing to receive persons from Kosovo whom the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) had classified as being vulnerable and in need of evacuation, together with their dependants. As at the end of June 1999, 4,345 persons from Kosovo, including dependants, were admitted to the UK under the UNHCR Humanitarian Evacuation Programme. The evacuation programme closed at the beginning of July 1999.

30. Asylum statistics are based on numbers of principal applicants, excluding dependants. If dependants apply for asylum in their own right then they are recorded as principal applicants and removed from all other applications.

31. The Home Office assumed responsibility for the provision of support for asylum seekers from April 2000 when the National Asylum Support Service (NASS), a directorate of IND, was created. NASS was set up to provide accommodation and/or subsistence payments to asylum seekers so that they could support themselves while they were awaiting a decision on their asylum application. Any person applying for asylum in the UK after 3 April 2000 would only be eligible to apply for NASS support (apart from some in-country cases that were part of the roll out). Prior to 3 April 2000 asylum seekers, depending on the location of their application for asylum, could apply for support from the Department for Work and Pensions (DWP) or local authorities. Asylum seekers who applied for NASS support could receive: accommodation only (where they were allocated accommodation in a dispersal area and must otherwise support themselves); or subsistence only (where they received cash to support themselves but must find their own accommodation); or accommodation and subsistence (where they were allocated accommodation in a dispersal area and cash to support themselves).

32. In preparation for the forthcoming restructuring of the Department, NASS was disbanded in 2006. The legislation in respect of eligibility for asylum support, and the categories of support available, has not changed. Asylum support is now managed through regional structures and the provision of support is an integral part of asylum casework for new cases.

33. Asylum applicants who are in receipt of asylum support can have their support terminated for various reasons. If an asylum seeker receives refugee status, HP or DL they cease to be eligible for asylum support as they are entitled to apply for mainstream benefits. Conversely, if an asylum seeker receives a final negative decision, and is a single applicant or a family with no children under 18 they also have their support terminated – families with children under 18 remain supported until they are removed from the UK (but see paragraph 38 below). Also, support can be terminated or suspended if asylum seekers do not abide by the regulations set out when the support is provided to the asylum seekers, for example, if the asylum seeker does not move in to the allocated accommodation.

34. Where an applicant has made more than one application for support during a year, only one application is recorded in the numbers. These numbers therefore reflect the total number of principal applicants applying for support. It should be noted however, that where an applicant has made an application for support in two separate years this will be recorded as an application in each year's data. By contrast the estimates published quarterly by the Home Office include both the original and any subsequent reapplications recorded (at the time of data production).

35. The English regions include the following areas:

East of England – Bedfordshire, Cambridgeshire, Essex, Hertfordshire, Norfolk, and Suffolk;

East Midlands – Derbyshire, Leicestershire, Lincolnshire, Northamptonshire, Nottinghamshire, and Rutland;

Greater London;

North East – Cleveland, Durham, Northumberland and Tyne and Wear;

North West – Cheshire, Cumbria, Greater Manchester, Lancashire, and Merseyside;

South East – Berkshire, Buckinghamshire, East Sussex, Hampshire, Isle of Wight, Kent, Oxfordshire, Surrey, and West Sussex;

South West – Cornwall, Devon, Dorset, Gloucestershire, Somerset, and Wiltshire;

West Midlands – Herefordshire, Shropshire, Staffordshire, Warwickshire, West Midlands, and Worcestershire;

Yorkshire and Humberside – Humberside, North Yorkshire, South Yorkshire and West Yorkshire.

The tables also include figures for Northern Ireland, Scotland and Wales.

36. Under Section 55 of the Nationality, Immigration and Asylum Act 2002, asylum seekers are required to apply for asylum as soon as reasonably practicable after arrival in the UK in order to be eligible for support under Sections 4, 95 or 98 of the Immigration and Asylum Act 1999. There are exceptions where applicants will get support even if they have delayed making their asylum claim. Most significantly, Section 55 does not prevent support being provided to those with dependent children or with particular care needs and it does not prevent the provision of support if it would be a breach of the European Convention on Human Rights not to provide it.

37. The provision of initial accommodation is a temporary arrangement for asylum seekers who would otherwise be destitute and who:

- are supported under Section 98 of the Immigration and Asylum Act 1999 and awaiting a decision from the Secretary of State on whether he may provide asylum support under Section 95 of that Act; or
- are supported under Section 95 and are awaiting transfer to their dispersal accommodation.

38. Support under Section 4 of the Immigration and Asylum Act 1999 is provided in the form of accommodation and vouchers to cover the cost of food and other basic essential items. Individuals are generally eligible for Section 4 support if their asylum application has been finally determined as refused but they are destitute and there are reasons that temporarily prevent them from leaving the United Kingdom. These reasons are:

- taking reasonable steps to leave the UK or place themselves in a position in which they can leave the UK; or
- unable to leave the UK by reason of a physical impediment to travel or some other medical reason; or
- unable to leave the UK because there is no current viable route of return to the country of origin; or
- permission has been obtained to proceed with a judicial review against a decision relating to the person's asylum claim; or
- the provision of support is otherwise necessary to avoid a breach of a person's human rights.

39. Further information on asylum applications and decisions in the years 1998-2006 is published in the latest Home Office Statistical Bulletin, 'Asylum Statistics United Kingdom 2006' which is obtainable free of charge from the RDS website <http://www.homeoffice.gov.uk/rds/immigration1.html>.

Grants of settlement (Tables 5.1 to 5.8)

40. The statistics of grants of settlement – i.e. persons subject to immigration control who are allowed to remain in the UK indefinitely – are the main available measure of longer term immigration of persons subject to immigration control. The settlement figures comprise persons granted settlement on arrival at ports, and persons initially admitted to the country subject to a time limit that was subsequently removed on application to the Home Office. Following changes to the immigration rules in recent years, the majority of grants are on removal of time limit.

41. Grants are counted once in the year in which they occur; subsequent journeys are counted once each in Tables 2.2 and 2.3 as described above. If a settled person is absent from the UK for more than two years he/she will be treated as a new arrival unless there are special circumstances; indefinite leave to enter for settlement may be granted again, so the person would be counted in more than one year's figures of settlement, or the person might be re-admitted with limited leave.

42. The term 'Granted settlement in own right' in Tables 5.1 and 5.3 means that the individual was eligible to apply for settlement under one of the provisions of the immigration rules and this was not dependent on their relationship to another person (for example, a spouse or parent) already settled or settling at the same time.

43. The category 'Other grants on a discretionary basis' in Tables 5.1, 5.3 and 5.4 includes grants, on a discretionary basis, after a long period of continuous residence in the UK. It also includes those persons granted settlement following application under the regularisation scheme for overstayers (persons who had permission to enter or remain in the UK for a limited time only and who had remained beyond the time allowed). From 2 October 2000 all overstayers required to leave the UK no longer had the right of appeal from removal except on asylum, human rights or discrimination grounds. The regularisation scheme offered overstayers who applied to regularise their stay, prior to 2 October 2002, the opportunity to retain the right of appeal if their application was subsequently refused. No special consideration was given to those who applied under the scheme. The benefit of the scheme to applicants who were refused permission to stay is that they kept the right of appeal before removal from the UK.

44. The category 'Claim to right of abode upheld and other grants' in Table 5.3 includes grants to those previously settled but then absent from the UK for some time and who, on return, were initially re-admitted with limited leave.

45. Table 5.2 shows an analysis by gender and age of grants to non-EEA nationals on removal of time limit. These comprise around 91 per cent of total grants to non-EEA nationals, and are reasonably representative of this total. However, they understate somewhat the relative numbers of children under 16 (a relatively high proportion of whom are granted settlement on arrival and so not included in these figures) and so may tend to understate the proportion of grants to non-EEA nationals of a younger age.

46. The figures in Tables 5.1, 5.3 and 5.4 of grants of settlement to refugees and exceptional leave cases are of those granted settlement after a period of residence in the UK, along with South-East Asian refugees (see paragraphs 24 and 29). Information on applications for asylum and decisions is shown in Tables 3.1 to 3.3.

Enforcement and Detention (Tables 6.1 to 6.7)

47. A change in BIA working practices has meant that since February 2003 all asylum removals (other than voluntary returns) are carried out by Enforcement and Compliance. Table 6.1 shows the type of removal that took place and not the team responsible, so definitions remain unchanged and the series remain continuous. This redistribution of work has no effect on the processing of non-asylum removals.

48. Information on the number of persons against whom enforcement action was initiated is not available for 2005 and 2006 due to data quality issues. The same issues led to the withdrawal of the provisional figures for 2004 in the 2005 Command Paper. Information for 2003 is also not available. As a consequence, it has not been possible to produce a breakdown of the type of enforcement action used to remove people from the UK between 2003 and 2006, inclusive.

49. Cases that had initially been refused leave to enter at ports but were subsequently dealt with in country are no longer classified as 'Persons refused entry at port and subsequently removed' but are now classified as 'Persons removed as a result of enforcement action and voluntary departures'. Due to this reclassification figures for 2006 for both these categories are not directly comparable with previous years. This reclassification has no effect on the total removals recorded for 2006.

50. Following a change in the system in which information is collected, statistics on all persons detained under sole Immigration Act powers by length of detention were not available for 31 December 2006. Information on children was made available through the examination of individual cases, which would only be possible for adult detainees at disproportionate cost. So that information on the length of detention could be included in this publication, Tables 6.3 and 6.4 show the number of people recorded as being in detention as at 30 September 2006 rather than 31 December, as would be the convention. Due to data quality issues, this information excludes persons detained in police cells and prison service establishments, and so is not directly comparable with published snapshots taken on and before 25 March 2006 (which included persons detained in prison establishments under sole immigration powers).

51. The statistics on those held in detention over a period during Q1-Q3 2006 are of a high enough standard to comply with National Statistics, but there are some statistical and quality assurance issues with producing these data. These can be summarised as follows:

- in order to avoid double counting immigration detainees who are moved between different removal centres and other detention facilities during the period of detention, statistics have been produced on those who have left detention. This avoids double counting individuals and also provides information on 'complete' lengths of detention;
- Oakington Reception Centre and Harwich are not controlled by the same part of BIA as the removal/detention centres listed. Oakington and Harwich data are incomplete so they have been excluded from the tables;
- detainees in police cells or Prison Service establishments at the time of removal/release are excluded from the statistics. Reliable data are not readily available for these individuals.

52. The statistics on those held in detention during the final quarter of 2006 are not of a high enough standard to comply with National Statistics due to a change in the system in which information is collected. Tables 6.5 and 6.6 therefore show the number of people recorded as leaving detention between January and September 2006, inclusive, rather than over the whole year.

53. At the time when Table 6.7 was compiled, it was not possible to produce a complete set of statistics on persons proceeded against for offences under the Immigration Acts in November and December 2006. For this reason, Table 6.7 shows persons proceeded against and found guilty up to October 2006 only.

Appeals against managed migration (non-asylum) decisions (Table 7.1)

54. See paragraph 28 on page 110.

Net migration (Tables 8.1 to 8.5)

55. Estimates of net migration – the balance between inflows and outflows – are produced by the Office for National Statistics (ONS). These estimates are mainly derived from data on migration intentions obtained from the International Passenger Survey (IPS) – a sample survey of passengers, including British citizens and other EEA nationals, arriving at and leaving ports (air, sea, Channel Tunnel) in the UK. The IPS migrant data provide the foundation for the Total International Migration (TIM) estimates and is supplemented with the Irish Central Statistics Office (CSO) data on flows to and from the Irish Republic. The other data sources allow the estimation of adjustments to this data to cover migrants who are not captured in these sources. A list of these adjustments and their data sources is given below.

- Home Office data on asylum seekers and their dependants are used to estimate the numbers entering and leaving the UK without being interviewed by the IPS.
- IPS visitor data are used to estimate the number of visitor switchers, persons who initially come to or leave the UK for a period of less than 12 months but subsequently stay here or abroad for a year or longer.
- IPS migrant data are used to estimate the number of migrant switchers, persons who initially come to or leave the UK for a year or more but subsequently stay here or abroad for less than a year.

Therefore, the data on net migration are subject to sampling and estimation error, and undue weight should not be given to one year's data. The methodology used can be found on the National Statistics website: www.statistics.gov.uk/downloads/theme_population/Methodology_for_Revised_International_Migration_Estimates.doc.

56. A migrant is defined as someone who changes his or her country of usual residence for a period of at least a year, so that the country of destination becomes the country of usual residence (United Nations definition of an international long-term migrant). This will also include persons who are not intending to settle. Therefore, in-migration is not the same as being accepted for settlement, i.e. allowed to stay indefinitely in this country, especially as settlement can occur several years after entry to the country.

57. ONS revised its international migration estimates for 1992 to 2001 in June 2003. Detailed explanations of how these revised estimates have been produced can be found on the National Statistics website: www.statistics.gov.uk/downloads/theme_population/Methodology_for_Revised_International_Migration_Estimates.doc.

58. Further statistics and analysis related to international migration in 2005 may be found in the ONS web link http://www.statistics.gov.uk/downloads/theme_population/MN_no32.pdf.

59. A National Statistics Quality Review (NSQR) of International Migration Statistics was published in September 2003. This was followed by an implementation plan giving details of how the recommendations made by the quality review will be addressed, and a progress report. A link to each of these documents can be found at: <http://www.statistics.gov.uk/about/data/methodology/quality/reviews/population.asp>. Research arising from the NSQR is being taken forward as part of the Improving Migration and Population (IMPS) project: <http://www.statistics.gov.uk/about/data/methodology/specific/population/future/imps/default.asp>.

60. In 2006 the Office for National Statistics lead the Inter-Departmental Task Force on Migration Statistics, set up by the National Statistician to advise on timely improvements that could be made to estimates of migration and migrant populations in the UK, both nationally and at local level. The recommendations of the Migration Task Force report will be implemented from 2007 onwards. A link to the report can be found here: <http://www.statistics.gov.uk/statbase/Product.asp?vlnk=14731>.

Conventions used in the tables

61. Despite the care which is taken in collecting and collating all the information obtained, the figures are subject to the inaccuracies inherent in any large recording system and are not necessarily accurate to the last digit. The rounding of figures also serves to ensure the confidentiality of the original source data used and the individuals to whom it relates. Figures on admissions, extensions of leave, and settlement are now rounded to the nearest five or three significant figures, to be consistent with other statistics of immigration and asylum. This rounding convention has been used for figures for 1997 to 2006; figures relating to 1996 have been rounded to the nearest ten or three significant figures. The components in some of the tables in this report may not add to the totals shown because they have been rounded independently.

62. Symbols used in tables:

..	not available	-	nil
*	not applicable	†	negligible (i.e. two or less)
(R)	some figures in the column or row have been revised	(P)	provisional figures

OTHER SOURCES OF INFORMATION ON IMMIGRATION

1. Population Projections

National population projections by age and sex are produced for the United Kingdom (UK) and constituent countries every two years. In recent years, projections have been produced by the Government Actuary's Department (GAD) in consultation with the statistical offices of the constituent countries. Details of the latest (2004-based) projections and historical projections are currently available from the GAD website via <http://www.gad.gov.uk/Population/index.asp?v=Principal&y=2004&subYear=Continue>.

2. International Passenger Survey (IPS)

The IPS, conducted by the Office for National Statistics (ONS), is a survey of a random sample of passengers entering and leaving the UK by air, sea or the Channel Tunnel. Over 250,000 face-to-face interviews are carried out each year with passengers entering and leaving the UK through the main airports, seaports and the Channel Tunnel. Information on the IPS is available via http://www.statistics.gov.uk/ssd/surveys/international_passenger_survey.asp and <http://www.statistics.gov.uk/STATBASE/Source.asp?vlnk=348&More=Y>.

3. International Migration (MN Series)

The MN Series, published by ONS, present statistics on flows of international migrants to and from the UK and England and Wales during the preceding ten years. The time series data contain estimates of Total International Migration derived from the IPS, estimates of flows between the UK and the Irish Republic and Home Office data. The latest annual 'International Migration' publication may be accessed via <http://www.statistics.gov.uk/statbase/Product.asp?vlnk=507>.

ONS also publishes information about international migration alongside other population and demographic information in a number of publications:

The latest statistics are available via a report called 'National Insurance Number Allocations to Overseas Nationals Entering the UK 2006' on the DWP website at http://www.dwp.gov.uk/asd/asd1/nial/nino_allocation.asp.

The following publications are not covered by National Statistics protocols except where they quote Immigration Research and Statistics, ONS or DWP publications.

5. Work Permits UK

The UK Government wishes to manage legal migration in the interests of the UK economy, and there are opportunities for persons with very different types and levels of skill. The following site aims to provide clear information about the various routes open to foreign nationals who want to come and work in the UK: http://www.workingintheuk.gov.uk/working_in_the_uk/en/homepage.html.

7. United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR)

The UNHCR was established by the United Nations General Assembly. The agency is mandated to lead and co-ordinate international action to protect refugees and resolve refugee problems worldwide. Its primary purpose is to safeguard the rights and well-being of refugees. It strives to ensure that everyone can exercise the right to seek asylum and find safe refuge in another State, with the option to return home voluntarily, integrate locally or to resettle in a third country. Its website is <http://www.unhcr.org/cgi-bin/texis/vtx/home>.

Furthermore, United Nations data on migration, provided by the Population Division of the Department of Economic and Social Affairs at the United Nations Secretariat, is available by visiting the link

8. Eurostat

The Statistical Office of the European Communities (Eurostat) is the statistical arm of the European Commission, producing data for the European Union (EU) and promoting harmonisation of statistical methods across the member states. Its website is

9. European Migration Network (EMN)

The European Commission launched the EMN in December 2002. EMN is a network of national contact points with the purpose of collating, providing access to and facilitating the exchange of information on migration and asylum. It also analyses this information and co-ordinates existing research effort. Part of the EMN work programme is the EMN annual statistical report containing statistics for 29 countries. The latest report may be found at http://ec.europa.eu/justice_home/doc_centre/asylum/statistics/doc_asylum_statistics_en.htm.

10. Towards Harmonised European Statistics on International Migration (THESIM)

The THESIM project brings together data suppliers and users at the national and EU level, and has also involved the creation of a strong international network of key academic experts on migration statistics in the EU. The project included creation of a book, THESIM Towards Harmonised European Statistics on International Migration, which provides an up-to-date and comprehensive picture of the whole system of statistical data sources on international migration and asylum in the EU. A copy of the publication may be obtained (at a fee) via <http://www.uclouvain.be/en-12321.html>.

11. Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD)

The OECD was established in 1961. Since then, its mission has been to help its member countries to achieve sustainable economic growth and employment and to raise the standard of living in member countries while maintaining financial stability. The OECD collects statistics needed for the analysis of economic and social developments by its in-house analysts, committees, working parties, and member country governments from statistical agencies and other institutions of its member countries. OECD databases and publications of migration statistics may be found at the following website:
