

I do not agree with the County Council exclusion from this process. Cumbria has already voted against hosting this facility.

There is much credible evidence that the geology of this county is not suited to such plans. I do not understand why only Cumbria is the focus for this facility, when other sites around the country have been identified as 'suitable'.

A national geological survey should be conducted, as part of a national process.

J Shone

REDACTED

REDACTED