Statistical News Release

Operation of police powers under the Terrorism Act 2000 and subsequent legislation - arrests, outcomes, stops and searches: Great Britain, quarterly update to 30 June 2014

This statistical release brings together information on terrorism arrests and outcomes, stops and searches, court appeals, port examinations and police cordons.

Terrorism arrests and outcomes

In the year ending March 2014:

- There were 239 persons arrested for terrorism-related offences, down from 245 in the previous year.
- Forty-six per cent of terrorism arrests resulted in a charge. Of these, 74% were terrorism-related.
- Thirty two of the 82 persons charged with terrorism-related offences had been proceeded against at the time of reporting to the Home Office (10 October 2014). Of these, 29 persons were convicted of an offence.
- Data provided by the Crown Prosecution Service show that 18 of the 26 defendants proceeded against during the year for terrorism-related offences were convicted.
- Seventeen of the 18 defendants convicted were sentenced to immediate prison custody, 3 of whom received life sentences.
- Additionally, as at 30 June 2014 there were 157 terrorist/extremist prisoners in Great Britain, 84% of whom were UK nationals. A quarter of the prisoners were classified as domestic extremists/separatists.

Stops and searches under sections 43 and 47A of the Terrorism Act 2000

In the year ending March 2014:

- There were no stops and searches were made under s47A of the Terrorism Act 2000. This follows the repeal of s44 and its replacement with s47A.
- The Metropolitan Police Service stopped and searched 369 persons under section 43 (s43) of TACT. This represents a 35% fall on the previous year's total of 568.

Port examinations under Schedule 7 to the Terrorism Act 2000

- In the year ending March 2014, a total of 40,663 persons were stopped at ports in Great Britain under Schedule 7 to TACT, a fall of 26% on the previous year.

Notes to editors

Arrests and outcomes data are as at 10 October 2014, the date of data provision to the Home Office.

A first quarter release covering arrests and outcomes up to 30 September 2014 is scheduled to be published in spring 2015.

The report is available online through the UK Statistics Authority website as well as the GOV.UK website.

This statistical release has been produced by statisticians working in the Home Office Statistics Unit. Although this output is not currently given National Statistics accreditation, the protocols for such statistics have been mirrored as closely as possible.

The governance arrangements in the Home Office for statistics were strengthened on 1 April 2008 to place the statistical teams under the direct management of a Chief Statistician who reports to the National Statistician with respect to all professional statistical matters.
