Modified UK National Implementation Measures for Phase III of the EU Emissions Trading System

As submitted to the European Commission in April 2012 following the first stage of their scrutiny process

On 12 December 2011, the UK submitted to the European Commission the UK's National Implementation Measures (NIMs), containing the preliminary levels of free allocation of allowances to installations under Phase III of the EU Emissions Trading System (2013-2020), in accordance with Article 11 of the revised ETS Directive (2009/29/EC).

In response to queries raised by the European Commission during the first stage of their assessment of the UK's NIMs, the UK has made a small number of modifications to its NIMs. This includes the introduction of preliminary levels of free allocation for four additional installations and amendments to the preliminary free allocation levels of seven installations that were included in the original NIMs submission. The operators of the installations affected have been informed directly of these changes.

The allocations are not final at this stage as the Commission's NIMs scrutiny process is ongoing. Only when all installation-level allocations for an EU Member State have been approved will that Member State's NIMs and the preliminary levels of allocation be accepted. Once all Member States' NIMs have been accepted, the European Commission may be required to issue a cross-sectoral correction factor, as set out in Article 10a(5) of the EU ETS Directive, to ensure that the total allocation given to all non-electricity generating does not exceed the pre-determined cap.

The allocations have been determined in accordance with EU harmonised rules, using data provided from operators of EU ETS Phase III installations in 2010/11. More information about the approach to the allocation of emissions allowances for free and determining levels of free allocation in Phase III is set out in the UK's NIMs (as submitted on 12 December) published on the Department's website:
