The Armed Forces Covenant

An Enduring Covenant Between

The People of the United Kingdom

Her Majesty's Government

– and –

All those who serve or have served in the Armed Forces of the Crown

And their Families

The first duty of Government is the defence of the realm. Our Armed Forces fulfil that responsibility on behalf of the Government, sacrificing some civilian freedoms, facing danger and, sometimes, suffering serious injury or death as a result of their duty. Families also play a vital role in supporting the operational effectiveness of our Armed Forces. In return, the whole nation has a moral obligation to the members of the Naval Service, the Army and the Royal Air Force, together with their families. They deserve our respect and support, and fair treatment.

Those who serve in the Armed Forces, whether Regular or Reserve, those who have served in the past, and their families, should face no disadvantage compared to other citizens in the provision of public and commercial services. Special consideration is appropriate in some cases, especially for those who have given most such as the injured and the bereaved.

This obligation involves the whole of society: it includes voluntary and charitable bodies, private organisations, and the actions of individuals in supporting the Armed Forces. Recognising those who have performed military duty unites the country and demonstrates the value of their contribution. This has no greater expression than in upholding this Covenant.

Section 1: Principles of The Armed Forces Covenant

1.1 We Derbyshire Alcohol Advice Service will endeavour in our business dealings to uphold the key principles of the Armed Forces Covenant, which are:

- no member of the Armed Forces Community should face disadvantage in the provision of public and commercial services compared to any other citizen
- in some circumstances special treatment may be appropriate especially for the injured, those suffering from mental health or substance misuse problems or those who have been bereaved.

Section 2: Demonstrating our Commitment

2.1 We recognise the value serving personnel, reservists, veterans and military families bring to our business. We will seek to uphold the principles of the Armed Forces Covenant, by:

- Awareness: promoting the fact that we are an armed forces-friendly organisation; and promoting veteran awareness in health care settings across Derbyshire
- Reserves: seeking to support our employees who are members of the Reserve Forces, including granting special leave for training and supporting deployment
- Armed Forces Day: aiming to participate actively in Armed Forces Day and Reserves Day;
- Volunteer opportunities: Supporting ex services men and women with alcohol problems who have successfully been through our service to become volunteers with the project
- Recovery : Supporting ex-services personnel with alcohol problems to take part in local recovery events
- Access to treatment: ensuring speedy access into alcohol treatment and prescribing services for ex-services personnel who need medical interventions and who contact our single point of contact
- Signposting: ensuring ex-services personnel are informed about the additional support services that are available to them

2.2 We will publicise these commitments through our literature, on staff notices, and on our website, setting out how we will seek to honour them and inviting feedback from the Service community and our customers on how we are doing.
