Bereavement benefits

Help for widows, widowers and surviving civil partners

- Bereavement Payment
- Widowed Parent’s Allowance
- Bereavement Allowance

This pack contains
- more information about bereavement benefits
- a bereavement benefits claim form.
What are bereavement benefits?

We use bereavement benefits to mean any of these
- Bereavement Payment
- Widowed Parent’s Allowance
- Bereavement Allowance.

They are all based on your spouse or civil partner’s National Insurance (NI) contributions.

By your spouse or civil partner we mean the person you were legally married to, or were in a civil partnership with, at the time of their death.

For people who live or have lived in Scotland
Please get in touch with us if you live or have lived in Scotland and you are not sure if you were legally married.

Can I get bereavement benefits?

You may be able to get bereavement benefits if your spouse or civil partner had paid enough NI contributions.

You cannot get bereavement benefits if at the time of death
- you were divorced from your spouse, or
- your civil partnership had been dissolved, or
- you were living together as if you were married, but you were not legally married, or
- you had remarried or formed a civil partnership, or
- you were living with another person as if you were married.

The information in these notes will help you see if you are able to get any of the bereavement benefits.

You can find out more about bereavement benefits at www.gov.uk/browse/benefits/bereavement

But if you are still not sure if you can get bereavement benefit, claim anyway.
Bereavement Payment

Answer these 3 questions to find out if you may be able to get a Bereavement Payment.

1. Were you under state pension age when your spouse or civil partner died? No ☐ Yes ☐

2. Was your spouse or civil partner under state pension age when they died? No ☐ Yes ☐

3. Was your spouse or civil partner over state pension age when they died and not entitled to a basic pension based on their own contributions? We call this a category A pension. No ☐ Yes ☐

You may be able to get a Bereavement Payment:
- if you have answered Yes to at least one of these questions, and
- if your spouse or civil partner had paid enough NI contributions.

The way HM Revenue and Customs (HMRC) collects Class 2 NI contributions has changed from the 2015/16 tax year.

This means the contributions will be collected as part of the Self-Assessment Tax return for the majority of customers and HMRC will no longer collect Class 2 NI contributions during the tax year. This may affect how much bereavement benefit we can pay you.

HMRC can give you information on your late spouse or civil partner’s NI records and about paying Class 2 NI contributions for your late spouse or civil partner for benefit purposes. There is more information at www.gov.uk

If you are entitled to a Bereavement Payment, it will be paid as a lump sum.

You may be able to get Widowed Parent’s Allowance or Bereavement Allowance as well as a Bereavement Payment.
Widowed Parent’s Allowance

Please answer these questions to find out if you may be able to get Widowed Parent’s Allowance.

1. Are you entitled to Child Benefit for one of your children or one of your spouse or civil partner’s children?
   - No
   - Yes

2. Are you entitled to Child Benefit but not getting it because you or your late spouse or civil partner fell into the High Income Child Benefit charge group?
   - No
   - Yes

3. Was your spouse or civil partner getting Child Benefit?
   - No
   - Yes

4. If you are a woman, are you pregnant?
   - No
   - Yes

You may be able to get Widowed Parent’s Allowance if
- you have answered Yes to at least one of these questions, and
- your spouse or civil partner had paid enough NI contributions.

But if you have answered No to all these questions, you may still be able to get Bereavement Allowance.

If you are entitled to Widowed Parent’s Allowance, the amount that you can get is based on the NI contributions of your spouse or civil partner. It may include an Additional Pension based on their earnings since 1978. It may also include an Additional Pension based on caring responsibilities contribution-based Employment and Support Allowance, or Incapacity Benefit since April 2002.

You can usually get Widowed Parent’s Allowance as long as you are entitled to Child Benefit.

If you fall into the High Income Child Benefit charge group and you have not claimed Child Benefit, you must do so for your claim for a Widowed Parent’s Allowance to be considered.

If you fall into this group please contact HMRC to make your claim.

If you stop being entitled to Child Benefit within 52 weeks of the death of your spouse or civil partner, you may be able to receive Bereavement Allowance for the remainder of the 52 weeks. This does not apply to you if you are a man whose wife died before 9 April 2001.

If your late spouse or civil partner was claiming Child Benefit and you have not yet made a claim to transfer the Child Benefit to your name, you must do so for your claim for a Widowed Parent's Allowance to be considered.

If you fall into this group please contact HMRC to make your claim.

More information
For more information
● go to www.gov.uk/child-benefit/how-to-claim
● telephone the HMRC Helpline on 0300 200 3100. Lines are open Monday to Friday 8am to 8pm, Saturday 8am to 4pm. If you have speech or hearing difficulties and use a textphone, the number to use is 0300 200 3103.

Bereavement Allowance

Answer this question to find out if you may be able to get Bereavement Allowance.

1  Were you aged 45 or over when your spouse or civil partner died?
   No ☐
   Yes ☐

You may be able to get Bereavement Allowance
● if you have answered Yes to this question, and
● if your spouse or civil partner had paid enough NI contributions.

If you are entitled to Bereavement Allowance, the amount that you can get depends on your age when your spouse or civil partner died and your spouse or civil partner’s NI contributions.

If you were aged 55 or over, you may get the full rate of Bereavement Allowance. But if you were aged under 55, you will get less than the full amount.
Bereavement Allowance cannot include any Additional Pension and is paid at the basic rate only.

You can usually get Bereavement Allowance for 52 weeks. It will stop if you become entitled to State Pension before the end of the 52 weeks.

To find out when you can get State Pension visit www.gov.uk/calculate-state-pension

If you were getting Widowed Parent’s Allowance for less than 52 weeks and it stops because you are no longer entitled to Child Benefit, you may be able to get Bereavement Allowance which is paid at the basic rate only

- for the remainder of the 52 weeks, or
- until you are entitled to State Pension whichever comes first.

How to claim

Just fill in claim form BB1.

We are sorry that we have to ask you some questions about your spouse or civil partner. This is because bereavement benefits are based on your spouse or civil partner’s NI contributions.

If you have any difficulty filling in this claim form, someone else can do it for you. You can ask a friend, a relative or an advice centre. Or ask at your Jobcentre Plus office.

Please make sure that you sign the Declaration in Part 7 of the claim form, if you can.

When to claim

You should send us the claim form BB1 as soon as possible.

- You must send us your claim form within 3 months of the death of your spouse or civil partner. Failure to do so may affect your entitlement to benefit.

- If your spouse died on or after 1 April 2003 your claim for a Bereavement Payment can be accepted for up to 12 months.

- If your civil partner died on or after 5 December 2005 your claim for a Bereavement Payment can be accepted for up to 12 months.
More about benefits for widows, widowers and surviving civil partners

Are benefits for widows, widowers and surviving civil partners affected by earnings?

No – if you work, your bereavement benefit will not go down because of the money that you earn.

Are benefits for widows, widowers and surviving civil partners taxable?

Bereavement Payment
This benefit is paid as a lump sum and is tax-free.

Widowed Parent’s Allowance or Bereavement Allowance
These benefits are taxable. If you have to pay tax, they are counted as part of your income when tax is worked out.

What happens if you are also entitled to contribution-based Employment and Support Allowance or Incapacity Benefit?

If you are getting contribution-based Employment and Support Allowance or Incapacity Benefit and
● the amount that you get is less than your bereavement benefit, or
● your contribution-based Employment and Support Allowance stops because you have received it for 365 days you will not lose money. We will pay you an amount of benefit to make up your full entitlement.

You will pay tax on contribution-based Employment and Support Allowance from the first day you get it.

We normally pay your money into an account.
Many banks and building societies will let you collect your money at the post office.
We will tell you when we will make the first payment and how much it will be for. We will tell you if the amount we pay into the account is going to change.

Finding out how much we have paid into the account
You can check your payments on account statements. The statements may show your National Insurance (NI) number next to any payments we have made. If you think a payment is wrong, get in touch with the office that pays you straight away.

If we pay you too much money
If we pay you too much money we have the right to take back any money we pay that you are not entitled to. This may be because of the way the payment system works.
For example, you may give us some information which means you are entitled to less money. Sometimes we may not be able to change the amount we have already paid you. This means we will have paid you money that you are not entitled to.

We will contact you before we take back any money.

What to do now

1. Tell us about the account you want to use on the next page. By giving us your account details you – agree that we will pay you into an account, and – understand what we have told you above in the section If we pay you too much money.
2. If you are going to open an account, please tell us your account details as soon as you get them.
3. If you do not have an account, please contact us and we will give you more information.

Fill in the rest of this form. You do not have to wait until you have opened an account or contacted us.
Part 5: How we pay you

About the account you want to use

- You can use an account in your name, or a joint account.
- You can use someone else’s account if
  - the terms and conditions of their account allow this, and
  - they agree to let you use their account, and
  - you are sure they will use your money in the way you tell them.
- You can use a credit union account. You must tell us the credit union’s account details. Your credit union will be able to help you with this.
- If you are an appointee or a legal representative acting on behalf of the claimant, the account should be in your name only.

Please tell us your account details below.

It is very important you fill in all the boxes correctly, including the building society roll or reference number, if you have one. If you tell us the wrong account details your payment may be delayed or you may lose money.

You can find the account details on your chequebook or bank statements. If you do not know the account details, ask the bank or building society.

Name of the account holder
Please write the name of the account holder exactly as it is shown on the chequebook or statement.

Full name of bank or building society

Sort code
Please tell us all 6 numbers, for example 12-34-56.

Account number
Most account numbers are 8 numbers long. If your account number has fewer than 10 numbers, please fill in the numbers from the left.

Building society roll or reference number
If you are using a building society account you may need to tell us a roll or reference number. This may be made up of letters and numbers, and may be up to 18 characters long. If you are not sure if the account has a roll or reference number, ask the building society.

You may get other benefits and entitlements we do not pay into an account. If you want us to pay them into the account above, please tick the box.
Part 6: Other information

Please read carefully the notes that came with this form. Use this space to tell us anything else you think we might need to know.
If there is not enough space, please use a separate sheet of paper. Make sure you put your full name and National Insurance (NI) number on each sheet of paper, and sign and date each sheet that you use.

Part 7: Declaration

I declare that I am a widow, widower or surviving civil partner of the person named in Part 2 of this form.

I understand that if I give false or incomplete information or fail to report all changes in my circumstances which may affect my entitlement promptly, I may be liable to prosecution or face a financial penalty.

I declare that I have read and understand the notes which came with this form and that I must telephone or write to the office that pays my benefit to report any change in my circumstances.

I declare that the information in my claim is complete and correct.

Part 8: What to do now

1 Check that you have answered all the questions that apply to you and your spouse or civil partner.

2 Check that you have shown us all the documents we have asked for, or are sending them with this form.
   Use the checklist below:
   – the Certificate of Registration of Death
   – your birth certificate and marriage or civil partnership certificate
   – a birth certificate for each child.

3 Check that you have signed this form.

4 Send us your claim form as soon as possible.
   You must send us your claim form within 3 months of the death of your spouse or civil partner. Failure to do so may affect your entitlement to benefit.
   You can claim a Bereavement Payment for up to 12 months after the death of your spouse or civil partner.
   Return this claim form to Dover Benefit Centre, Post Handling Site B, Wolverhampton WV99 1LA or your nearest Jobcentre Plus office.
   You can contact the Dover Bereavement Benefits office on 0345 608 8601. If you have speech or hearing difficulties you can contact them using a textphone on 0345 608 8551. Lines are open 9am to 5pm Monday to Friday. On the first Wednesday of every month the lines are open from 10am to 5pm.

Part 9: What happens next

- If you are entitled to a Bereavement Payment, we will make payment into your account as soon as we can. If you are not entitled to this benefit, we will write to tell you why.
- It will take a little longer to work out if you are entitled to any other benefit. But we will write to tell you about this as soon as we can.
- Benefit you can get because of this claim can be paid more quickly if you answer all the questions on this form that apply to you and your spouse or civil partner. If you cannot do this, get in touch with us. But benefit you can get because of this claim may be delayed.

Part 10: About Child Tax Credit

Child Tax Credit is a payment to support families with children. It can be claimed by those responsible for one or more child or young person.

- Child Tax Credit is claimed from HM Revenue & Customs
- is paid in addition to Child Benefit
- can provide income for families with children, whether in or out of work
- is normally paid to the main carer.
