6. Information about funded projects

6.1 All Round 1 and Round 2- small grants will be required to use the Armed Forces Covenant logo on their publicity materials and all will be required to submit at the end of their one year grants, a report of up to 2,000 words describing their project in full, including pictures, news reports and other evidence of social media engagement which will start to build up a national picture of what the Covenant Fund small grants cumulatively can achieve in terms of supporting the delivery and recognition of the Armed Forces Covenant.

6.2 In addition, all 24 of the large grants have 1 or 2 year delivery profiles and will be monitored in detail to ensure that following grant closure the outcomes arising from grant funded work can be demonstrated across each priority. Each large grant holder will be required to produce an End of Grant Report of up to 10,000 words describing their project and its outcomes.

6.3 In particular all grant funded research regardless of priority will have to be widely disseminated and if appropriate lodged at the Veterans Research Hub at Anglia Ruskin University. The grants made under the ex-serving personnel in the criminal justice system strand will also be required to report in considerable detail as to the outcomes achieved and it is hoped that by then end of 2 years that these grant holders working closely with the Covenant Fund Executive and with the COBSEO's criminal justice cluster will have developed a nationally accepted continuum of robust outcome measures which can be used to demonstrate impact.

7. Budget
