Draft legislation

This annex sets out draft legislation on the main elements of the reforms, namely:

- clause 1 provides the rules deeming individuals to be domiciled in the UK for the purposes of income tax and capital gains tax
- clause 2 amends the rule which currently deems individuals to be domiciled in the UK for the purposes of inheritance tax
- clause 3 extends the scope of inheritance tax to UK residential property held by a non-domiciled person through an offshore structure
- schedule 1 sets out new rules for income tax and capital gains tax which apply to individuals who are deemed to be domiciled in the UK, including certain protections for non-resident trusts

The legislation published in this document is not intended to be complete and excludes some issues which will be included in the Finance Bill 2017.

The purpose of publishing the legislation now is to give stakeholders some certainty about the way in which the reforms will be introduced. It also provides an opportunity to consider and comment on the draft. It is not, however, intended to be a definitive version and should not be used for planning purposes.

The draft Finance Bill 2017 will be published later in the year.

The government is keen to hear views from stakeholders on the draft clauses published below.
