NOTES

1. Natural England checks compliance with licenses and the attached conditions.
2. Amendments to the list of people authorised to act under this licence can be made by completing their details on line or by contacting Natural England. Additional authorised persons must not undertake licensable activities until their name is listed on a valid licence.
3. It is the responsibility of each person relying on this licence to ensure that they comply with all the relevant legislation with regard to the use of firearms. It is also their responsibility to use appropriate equipment (e.g. firearm and ammunition) and to ensure that they are competent to use such equipment so as to avoid causing unnecessary suffering.
4. This licence does not permit the use of any method of killing or taking a wild bird or animal which is prohibited by the Wildlife and Countryside Act 1981 (as amended), except as specifically allowed by this licence.
5. If any birds that have been killed are found to have leg rings, these should be removed and sent to the BTO at The Ringing Unit, BTO, The Nunnery, Thetford, Norfolk IP24 2PU. Please include details of the bird species and where it was killed, alternatively details may be submitted online at www.ring.ac
6. The data required in your report includes information about: Species, Date of action, Action taken, Number affected, County, OS grid reference and Site name. You can also send additional information. The required format of the data return can be viewed on the Natural England website. Please note the information and format may have changed from previous years.
7. Important - You may also use the report form to request a renewal of your licence if you believe that one will be required after this licence expires. A full application form is only required if you ask for significant changes to your licence (we will contact you if that is the case). Following receipt of your renewal request, Natural England will contact you to reassess the need for the licence. If this relates to a damage problem which is seasonal, this assessment will be deferred until just before the time of year damage occurs.
8. Non-lethal measures should be varied and the licensee should consider new methods, and alternating methods to ensure habituation does not occur. Some non-lethal measures may be undertaken throughout the year (such as use of gas guns, shooting to scare*) and others are only appropriate during the specific times when poults are released (such as use of diversionary feeding and reflective barrier tape).
9. Habitat management should be undertaken at the appropriate times of year. This should include continuing to provide good cover crops for gamebirds and removing perches used by buzzards (e.g. by putting spikes on top of fence posts of pheasant pens). Consideration should be given to making the rides in the cover crops curved to make it more difficult for buzzards to hunt along them.
10. It is recommended you continue with diversionary feeding, ensuring it finishes as soon as the vulnerable period for gamebirds has finished in late September. This should mean that it does not artificially increase the number of buzzards on the estate or increase survival rates of juvenile buzzards over the winter.

*Shooting to scare refers to the action of discharging a shotgun into the air over, under or behind a bird so as to scare the bird, but not to hit it, ensuring that no physical injury occurs.
