HIV in the United Kingdom

There were 6,095 new HIV diagnoses in 2015:

- 54% were among gay/bisexual men*
- 22% were among heterosexual women
- 15% were among heterosexual men
- 3% were among people who inject drugs
- 45% were among heterosexual men

88,769 people were seen for HIV care in 2015:

- 41,016 Gay/bisexual men*
- 1,909 People who inject drugs
- 25,654 Heterosexual women
- 16,291 Heterosexual men
Age distribution of people seen for HIV care in 2015:

Over 65,000 people seen for HIV care in England had gender identity reported

Gay/bisexual men* People who inject drugs
Heterosexual women Heterosexual men

People living with HIV 100%
HIV diagnosed 87%
On treatment 83%
Virally suppressed 78%

96% of all people diagnosed were receiving antiretroviral therapy

87% of the 101,200 people living with HIV knew their HIV status

84% - 86% identified as trans (trans woman, trans man, genderqueer / non-binary)

Viral suppression makes onward transmission highly unlikely

94% of people receiving antiretroviral therapy had viral suppression

Gay/bisexual men* Heterosexual women Heterosexual men People who inject drugs

78% 76% 76% 74%

The proportion of people living with HIV who were virally suppressed was similar across exposure categories
Percentage of people living with undiagnosed HIV:

- Gay/bisexual men: Total living with HIV = 47,000
  - 12% (7-19%)

- People who inject drugs: Total living with HIV = 2,500
  - 13% (7-21%)

- Heterosexual women: Total living with HIV = 29,900
  - 13% (11-16%)

- Heterosexual men: Total living with HIV = 19,600
  - 16% (12-23%)

* Gay/bisexual men also includes gay/bisexual men who have injected drugs