Our Ref:

Sir Peter Bazalgette
Chair
Arts Council England
21 Bloomsbury Street
LONDON
WC1B 3HF

Dear Sir Peter

Spending Review 2015

I am writing to inform you about the outcome of the 2015 Spending Review for my Department. DCMS's overall settlement maintains the current resource budget in cash terms over the Spending Review period. In real terms, this represents a 5% reduction to the resource budget by 2019/20. In addition, DCMS will make £1.6 billion of capital investment across the Spending Review period.

This is a very positive settlement. DCMS is rightly contributing to reducing the deficit but this settlement reflects the Government's continued strong support for the economic and social benefits provided by the culture, media and sport sectors, and will allow DCMS to focus on its vision of driving growth and enriching lives. We will do this through our core work of promoting culture, heritage and sport, and driving economic growth by supporting the creative industries, tourism, broadband rollout and the digital economy. It will also enable the Department and its Arm's Length Bodies to achieve our strategic objectives and deliver the Government priorities set out in our Single Departmental Plan. DCMS will also ensure that the UK continues to project itself as a global cultural powerhouse, promoting and protecting British values.
In light of the Government's aim of achieving a structural budget surplus by 2019/20, this settlement is also conditional on a number of efficiency objectives that will enable us to deliver even more value for taxpayers' money.

I am keen to take this opportunity to build on the work of the last five years by further transforming the relationship between DCMS sectors and Government, and enabling them to deliver services with increased efficiency and effectiveness. Over the next five years, therefore, Government support for DCMS sponsored bodies will be focused on helping them to become more resilient, independent and entrepreneurial.

Capital budgets are tighter than for resource spending, making decisions here more difficult. We will therefore focus our spending on completing those major projects that are already underway and maintaining core capital spending to ensure that cultural institutions remain open, supporting the UK's cultural offer for domestic and overseas visitors.

Whilst this is a very good settlement for DCMS, I also recognise that it will be challenging in some areas.

This letter sets out the funding settlement for Arts Council England covering the financial years 2016/17 to 2019/20 on resource and 2016/17 on capital. The total resource grant-in-aid budget will be £1,451.684 million over four years.

The Department has a capital allocation of £1.6 billion for the period 2016/17 to 2020/21. To ensure this funding is spent most effectively, we will be putting in place measures that will allow Ministers, with the support of the DCMS Finance Committee, to actively manage the portfolio of major projects across the Group. Consequently at this stage, we are setting capital allocations for 2016/17 only, and will set budgets for future years as part of this portfolio management process.

Details of your settlement are set out at Annex A with further guidance on specific aspects at Annex B.

Within this settlement I expect you -

- to give a high priority to supporting the delivery of the outcomes of the Culture White Paper which will set out the direction for arts and culture policy for this Parliament;

- to support the local and regional devolution agenda by engaging with local cultural strategies in partnership with the other Lottery distributors;

- to engage fully with a tailored departmental Review of ACE in this Parliament;

- to work with DCMS to engage internationally, especially with high priority countries as indicated by Government. For your organisation, this will include making use of and contributing to the GREAT Britain Campaign, helping us to boost tourism, education and business. I also expect that you will encourage the use of the Culture Diary to support the coordination of UK cultural activity domestically and overseas;
• to continue to pursue commercial and philanthropic approaches to generating revenue which will complement grant-in-aid funding, and to seek innovative cost-sharing solutions with other Arm’s Length Bodies to maximise these additional sources of income;

• to ensure that all public bodies, however they are funded, meet increasingly stringent targets for efficiency, including the efficiency of grant administration;

• to continue the role of a development agency for libraries in England with responsibility for supporting and developing libraries. In doing so I expect you to work with the Leadership for Libraries Taskforce and other partners to help shape the strategic direction of the sector, and provide funding where appropriate for development, improvement and innovation in libraries in England;

• to prioritise access to arts and culture for disadvantaged young people and communities;

• to encourage Major Partner Museums to take a strategic approach to partnership working and to seek out opportunities to work across the UK with other museums, cultural and third sector partners, including through the loaning of items, touring of exhibitions, and sharing of expertise.

The Government places a high priority on support for the regions and I will expect you to continue to rebalance your funding towards areas outside London and particularly towards areas of deprivation and low arts and cultural engagement.

In addition, I expect you to work with DCMS to deliver the Department’s allocated Government priorities for this Parliament as set out in DCMS’s Single Departmental Plan. For your organisation, this includes supporting plans for a new theatre in Manchester, The Factory, and supporting a Great Exhibition in the North.

I would also encourage all Lottery distributors to work together to promote National Lottery good causes.

In conclusion, I hope you are as pleased as I am with the Government’s continued support for the Department and the importance of the work we do for the nation and its citizens. My Ministerial Team and I look forward to working with you over the next five years.

2. Communications with the Public

| The public body should make an explicit commitment to openness in all its activities. It should engage and consult with the public on issues of real public interest or concern. This might be via new media. It should publish details of senior staff and board members together with appropriate contact details. |
|-------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------|
| We conduct a Stakeholder Survey, on a wide and balanced sample of our stakeholders, to gain insights around perceptions of how we are perceived. |
| We also regularly consult stakeholders on key proposals. An example of this is the consultation with the sector in February 2016 about our investment approach for 2018-2022. Further details are available from: |

<td>The body should consider holding open board meetings or an annual open meeting.</td>
<td></td>
<td>Arts Council England have considered open board meetings and decided that this is not the best way of demonstrating our openness and transparency. Attendance at open board meetings or annual general meetings tend to be small and limited to those who have availability during the day and can afford to travel to those meetings. Instead we use our website, social media and the Chair and Senior Executives’ attendance at events across the country to consult, listen, and communicate our strategy. For the last three years we have invested in a sector led conference to allow free and open debate around cultural policy. We have found this a more effective tool for generating debate and ideas than a formal ACE annual event. We hold regular briefing sessions for our regularly funded organisations and this year will be holding sessions for non-NPOs for them to find out more about the new investment process.</td>

| The body should proactively publish agendas and minutes of board meetings. | Arts Council England publishes the minutes of all its National Council meetings, with any redactions made in accordance with the Freedom of Information Act.

Arts Council England does not publish the agendas of National Council meetings as the meetings are not open to members of the public. However the minutes of the meetings provide an indication of the items discussed at a Council meeting. |

| In accordance with transparency best practice, bodies should consider publishing their spend data over £500. By regularly publishing such data and by opening their books for public scrutiny, bodies can demonstrate their commitment to openness and transparency and to making themselves more accountable to the public. | Arts Council England publishes all grants awarded on our Website and all payments over £5,000.

We have considered whether we should publish spend data over £500 in line with guidelines in April 2015, but due to concerns about the level of resource which might be involved in preparing the payment schedule we opted for the £5,000 threshold. |

<th>Marketing and PR</th>
<th>The body should establish effective correspondence handling and complaint procedures. These should make it simple for members of the public to contact the body and to make complaints. The body should monitor and report on its performance in handling correspondence.</th>

<td>All correspondence is responded to within Arts Council England's Service Level Agreement. Arts Council England has a full and comprehensive three stage complaints process open to all. It is fully accessible in different formats and specialist assistance is offered to those with access needs. The process is designed using the Parliamentary Health Service Ombudsman's principles of good complaint handling and is a shared complaints process with the other National Lottery funding providers. We have a dedicated Complaints Manager appointed with the appropriate skills to respond to complaints, third-party objections, raised concerns and allegations. Responses are subject to our Quality Assurance process to assure high quality. The Complaints Manager prepares quarterly and annual reports which are distributed to senior management teams for review and action. Learning from this information informs process/policy review where appropriate.</td>

<td>The body should put robust and effective systems in place to ensure that the public body is not, and is not perceived to be, engaging in political lobbying. This includes restrictions on board members and staff attending party conferences in a professional capacity.</td>
<td>Arts Council England does not engage in political lobbying, and neither board members nor staff purchase, or are provided with, passes for party conferences from Arts Council funds. The Arts Council has a role to advocate for arts and culture, and as a steward of public funding it is accountable to Parliament. As such we provide information for Select Committees, Members of Parliament and Government Departments on our work, and the value arts and culture can bring to the nation.</td>
