Notes for Guidance

You must keep an accurate and up-to-date herd register, if you do not this could lead to a loss of payment under CAP schemes and/or prosecution. If you already keep records, including electronic records, which meet the legal requirements and contain all the information that is covered by the herd register there is no need to keep this register as well. Please keep your register in a safe place. You are required to keep your herd register/records for 10 years from the end of the calendar year in which the last entry was made. Please complete your register/records in ink. Entries need to be completed by the following deadlines:

- 36 hours for movements on or off a holding.
- 7 days for the birth of a dairy animal.
- 30 days for the birth of cattle not in a dairy herd.
- 7 days for death.
- within 36 hours of replacing ear-tags.

You might find it easier to record the birth of a calf at the same time as applying the first tag.

Individual animal/movement record

You must record all additions to your herd, all movements on and off your holding, and all deaths on farm. Details of all cattle must be recorded. Movements of the same animal on and off the holding must appear on the same line. If you have a CTS link to another holding, you do not need to let BCMS know about movements to and from the linked location, but you must still record these movements in your records. You must start a new entry when an animal returns to the holding. You might find it easier to record male and female animals on separate pages or in different parts of the book.

- Column 1: include the old and new ear-tag numbers of re-identified animals (RT). Animals born (or imported from other countries within the EU) on or after 01/01/98 should not be re-identified. You must re-identify animals imported from countries that are not members of the EU with approved ear-tags.
- Column 2: enter the exact date of birth.
- Column 3: tick this box when you have notified BCMS of the birth.
- Column 4: use the 'Official cattle breeds and codes' on GOV.UK.
- Column 5: use F for females and M for males including steers.
- Column 6: enter the ear-tag number of the dam and if relevant, the surrogate dam, for calves born on your holding. You don't need to enter the sire's ear-tag number but you might find it useful.
- Columns 7 and 8: complete for all cattle brought onto your holding, including CPH number (this can be found in the animals passport).
- Columns 9 and 10: complete for all cattle which leave your holding. If an animal dies on farm you need to show how it was disposed of, the date the carcass was moved, the name of the haulier, and where the carcass went.
- Column 11: tick this box when you have notified BCMS of the movement. Please note Scottish markets and abattoirs report movements on behalf of the keeper.
- Column 12 is for any notes of your own.

Continuous herd record : running totals

The completion of this section is optional. You may find it useful to keep a running total of the cattle present on your holding.

Medicine record

Keeping medicine records is a statutory requirement. A section for veterinary medicinal records is provided at the back of this register, which can be used to record the acquisition, administration and disposal of veterinary medicines. If you already keep medicine records that meet the legal requirement, there is no need to keep this record as well.

Keeping veterinary medicinal records is a statutory requirement.

The keeper of a food-producing animal must keep the following records:

- Proof of purchase of all veterinary medicinal products acquired for the animal. If the products were not bought, a record of how they were acquired must be kept.
- Records of administration, including administration by a veterinary surgeon.
- Records of disposal other than by treating an animal.

The above records must be kept for at least five years following the administration, or other disposal of the product, even if the animal concerned is no longer kept by the keeper or has been slaughtered or died during that period.

For more information about the Veterinary Medicine Regulations and what you need to do to meet the regulations, please contact your local Animal Health office. You can also find more information on the Animal Health website at www.gov.uk/apha and the Veterinary Medicines Directorate at vmd.defra.gov.uk
