Evaluation of DFID's Support for Health and Education in India

ICAI Recommendation	Accept/ Partially Accept /Reject	Action already taken	Action to be taken	Target date
Recommendation 1: Beginning with its work in Bihar in education and health, DFID should clearly identify and monitor what are the particular benefits provided by UK aid in order to focus its activities where it adds most value.	Accept	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• DFID has published an Operational Plan (2011-2015) which focuses its activities in India on: the poorest states; action for women and girls; and strengthening the private sector's role in development. The plan is monitored twice yearly and updated annually. The OP results framework measures a significantly wider range of indicators than the 8 'headline' results in the Operational Plan.</li> <li>• Annual reviews already assess in detail the qualitative and quantitative benefits of individual programmes. Findings from these inform DFID's future programming.</li> </ul>	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. DFID will use the Annual Review reporting format to capture more systematically the results of the knowledge it shares, policy it helps generate and relationships it develops in India.</li> <li>2. DFID and the World Bank will commission a 10 year review of their engagement in basic education in India, assessing the particular results, strengths and weaknesses of development partners' funding, policy advocacy and technical support activities.</li> <li>3. DFID will commission a value for money assessment of health sector support in India which will further examine the impact of our financial and technical assistance.</li> </ol>	On-going, from June 2012 with progress review during Operational Plan (OP) stock take of March 2013 Commissioned by September 2012, to report by September 2013 Commissioned by July 2012, to report by January 2013
