

Statement	True/False	Notes
The Queen cannot vote in a general election
UK astronauts can vote in a general election while they are in space
You can vote across the UK when you are 18
In one country, citizens vote by dropping marbles into a bin
You can take your pet to a polling station
Elections are held in North Korea
General elections are held on a Thursday
Members of the House of Lords cannot vote in general elections
You can take a selfie of yourself voting
There is no way for young people to get involved with Parliament before the age of 18
You can't join a political party until you turn 18
The UK only has one voting system for all elections
In some countries voting is compulsory
All decisions in the UK are made through the UK Parliament		