CRIMINAL INJURIES COMPENSATION AUTHORITY

The Criminal Injuries Compensation Scheme was set up in 1964 to compensate blameless victims of violent crime. Before 1996 awards were set according to what the victim would have received in a successful civil action against the offender. Since April 1996, the level of compensation has been determined according to a tariff set by Parliament. Following the enactment of the Criminal Injuries Compensation Act 1995, CICA was established to administer a tariff -based compensation scheme in England, Scotland and Wales. Since 1996 the tariff Scheme has been revised three times, with the latest revisions having been approved by Parliament in November 2012.

CICA also administers The Victims of Overseas Terrorism Compensation Scheme. This is a government funded scheme designed to compensate blameless victims of designated acts of terrorism overseas.

THE CROWN COMMERCIAL SERVICE

The Crown Commercial Service has brought Government's central commercial capability into a single organisation. Our remit is to work with both departments and organisations across the whole of the public sector to ensure maximum value is extracted from every commercial relationship and improve the quality of service delivery.

By bringing together advice and buying we ensure that procurement policy development is closely linked to implementation. With service delivery and advisory capability, our services include contract management and supplier performance management to ensure that the Government acts as a single customer; freeing up individual organisations to focus their procurement expertise on what is unique to them.

CHARITY COMMISSION FOR ENGLAND AND WALES

The Charity Commission is the independent registrar and regulator of charities in England and Wales. Under the Charities Act 2011, it is responsible for registering charities, ensuring charities are transparent and accountable, providing general guidance for trustees, investigating maladministration and abuse and increasing public trust and confidence in charities. In fulfilling these functions, the Commission derives its authority from the Charities Act 2011, but its role is independent from ministerial direction. It acts on the same basis as the courts, working within and developing the legal rules that determine which organisations are charitable in law.

CROWN PROSECUTION SERVICE

The Crown Prosecution Service (CPS) is an independent body, responsible for prosecuting people in England and Wales. Created by the Prosecution of Offences Act 1985, the CPS works closely with the police to advise on lines of inquiry and to decide on appropriate charges or other disposals in all but minor cases. CPS prosecutors prepare and present cases for court. The Director of Public Prosecutions (DPP) is the head of the CPS; he is superintended by the Attorney General and accounts, through the Law Officers, to Parliament. The CPS's Headquarters are in London and York. The CPS has offices based on a structure of 13 geographical areas. The CPS London Area covers the operational boundaries of both City of London Police and Metropolitan Police Service. The CPS incorporates the Revenue and Customs Prosecutions Office who are responsible for prosecuting major drug trafficking and tax fraud cases in the UK.

FORESTRY COMMISSION

The Forestry Commission is the cross border Government Department responsible for providing advice on and delivering forestry policy in England and Scotland. It primarily exercises its powers and regulatory role under the Forestry Act 1967 and Plant Health Act 1967. It also manages the Public Forest Estate in both England (over 250,000 hectares) and Scotland (over 660,000 hectares). Forestry is a devolved issue and the Forestry Commission ceased to operate in Wales in April 2013 with the creation of Natural Resources Wales. In England it reports to the Secretary of State for the Environment, Food and Rural Affairs who has responsibility for forestry. Scottish Ministers have responsibility for forestry in Scotland and the National Assembly for Wales has responsibility for forestry in Wales.

OFFICE FOR STANDARDS IN EDUCATION, CHILDREN'S SERVICES AND SKILLS (Ofsted)

The new Ofsted (the Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills) came into being on 1 April 2007. It brings together the wide experience of four formerly separate inspectorates. Ofsted inspects and regulates care for children and young people, and inspects education and training for learners of all ages.

The Education and Inspections Act 2006 set out the general duties to be placed on Her Majesty's Chief Inspector and preserves the Chief Inspector's independent and sole responsibility for inspection judgements. It also put in place a new governance structure, creating a non-executive chair and members who, along with the Chief Inspector, form the Ofsted Board which has responsibility for setting the strategic direction of Ofsted.

OFFICE OF RAIL AND ROAD

The Office of Rail and Road (ORR) is the operating name of the Office of Rail Regulation. The Office of Rail Regulation was established on 5 July 2004 under the Railways and Transport Safety Act 2003. It replaced the Office of the Rail Regulator.

On 1 April 2006, ORR assumed new responsibilities as a combined safety and economic regulator under The Railways Act 2005. It also has concurrent jurisdiction with the Competition and Markets Authority under the Competition Act 1998 as the competition authority for the Railways.

As the railway industry's independent health and safety and economic regulator, the principal functions are to: ensure that Network Rail and HS1 manage the national network efficiently and in a way that meets the needs of its users; encourages continuous health and safety performance; secures compliance with relevant health and safety law, including taking enforcement action as necessary; develops policy and enhances relevant railway health and safety legislation; and licences operators of railway assets, setting the terms for access by operators to the network and other railway facilities, and enforces competition and consumer law in the rail sector. ORR is also a National Statistical Authority for rail statistics.

Following the Infrastructure Act 2015, on 1 April 2015, ORR also assumed new responsibilities for monitoring Highway's England's management and development of the strategic road network – the motorways and main 'A' roads in England. In this role ORR's role is to ensure that the network is managed to deliver performance, including efficiency, safety and sustainability, for the benefit of road users and the public. We advise the Government on Highways England's future performance objectives.

On 16 March 2015, ORR signed an agreement with the French rail regulator ARAF to establish a collaborative regulatory approach for consistent independent regulation across the Channel Tunnel network.

ORR is led by a Board appointed by the Secretary of State for Transport, under the chairmanship of Stephen Glaister.

UK STATISTICS AUTHORITY

The UK Statistics Authority is an independent body operating at arm's length from government as a non-ministerial department, directly accountable to Parliament. It was established on 1 April 2008 by the Statistics and Registration Service Act 2007.

The UK Statistics Authority's overall objective is to promote and safeguard the quality and comprehensiveness of official statistics that serve the public good. The Authority is also required to promote good practice in relation to official statistics. The Authority has three main functions: oversight of the Office for National Statistics (ONS) - its executive office; monitoring and reporting on all official statistics, wherever produced; and independent assessment of official statistics.

UK SUPREME COURT

In October 2009, The UK Supreme Court replaced the Appellate Committee of the House of Lords as the highest court in the United Kingdom. The 12 Justices of the UK Supreme Court are now explicitly separate from both Government and Parliament. The Court hears appeals on arguable points of law of the greatest public importance, for the whole of the United Kingdom in civil cases, and for England, Wales and Northern Ireland in criminal cases.

Additionally, it hears cases on devolution matters under the Scotland Act 1998, the Northern Ireland Act 1988 and the Government of Wales Act 2006. This jurisdiction was transferred to the Supreme Court from the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council. Since April 2011 the administration of the Supreme Court has also had responsibility for the administration of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council.

The Supreme Court also decides devolution issues, that is issues about whether the devolved executive and legislative authorities in Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland have acted or propose to act within their powers or have failed to comply with any other duty imposed on them.
