

The countdown has begun for commercial space launch from UK spaceports

The space industry is developing new launch services and spaceports, taking advantage of growing demand for small satellite launch and opportunities for sub-orbital science and tourist flights.

To support this emerging sector, the Government has announced a £50m spaceflight programme, put in place the Space Industry Act and is developing a world-leading regulatory structure, which will make the UK a globally attractive destination to start and grow a space business.

To learn more and explore how government and industry can jointly take advantage of this exciting opportunity, please join us on Spaceflight Day at the Farnborough International Airshow (Wednesday the 18th of July) for a special LaunchUK Spaceflight
