The Armed Forces Covenant

An Enduring Covenant Between
The People of the United Kingdom
Her Majesty's Government

– and –

All those who serve or have served in the Armed Forces of the Crown
And their Families

The first duty of Government is the defence of the realm. Our Armed Forces fulfil that responsibility on behalf of the Government, sacrificing some civilian freedoms, facing danger and, sometimes, suffering serious injury or death as a result of their duty. Families also play a vital role in supporting the operational effectiveness of our Armed Forces. In return, the whole nation has a moral obligation to the members of the Naval Service, the Army and the Royal Air Force, together with their families. They deserve our respect and support, and fair treatment.

Those who serve in the Armed Forces, whether Regular or Reserve, those who have served in the past, and their families, should face no disadvantage compared to other citizens in the provision of public and commercial services. Special consideration is appropriate in some cases, especially for those who have given most such as the injured and the bereaved.

This obligation involves the whole of society: it includes voluntary and charitable bodies, private organisations, and the actions of individuals in supporting the Armed Forces. Recognising those who have performed military duty unites the country and demonstrates the value of their contribution. This has no greater expression than in upholding this Covenant.

Section 1: Principles Of The Armed Forces Covenant

1.1 We, Arrow XL will endeavour in our business dealings to uphold the key principles of the Armed Forces Covenant, which are:

- no member of the Armed Forces Community should face disadvantage in the provision of public and commercial services compared to any other citizen
- in some circumstances special treatment may be appropriate especially for the injured or bereaved

Section 2: Demonstrating our Commitment

2.1 Arrow XL recognises the value serving personnel, reservists, veterans and military families bring to our business. We will seek to uphold the principles of the Armed Forces Covenant, by:

- promoting the fact that we are an armed forces-friendly organisation;
  - Publicising our commitment to the armed forces and this covenant through our website and posters
  - Supporting employees to volunteer and raise funds for Armed Forces charities as part of our employee engagement commitment
  - Encourage partner organisations / suppliers to join the Corporate Covenant scheme
- seeking to support the employment of veterans young and old and working in partnership with the Career Transition Partnership (CTP), in order to establish a tailored employment pathway for Service Leavers;
  - Ensuring we recognise military skills and qualifications when interviewing for positions
  - Giving due consideration to applications from veterans; young and old, who meet the minimum criteria of the job advert. This would not constitute a guarantee of employment, but rather the opportunity to prove themselves in interview
- striving to support the employment of Service spouses and partners;
  - Endeavouring to support the employment of service spouses and partners through providing awareness of and access to available career opportunities
- endeavouring to offer flexibility in granting leave for Service spouses and partners before, during and after a partner's deployment;
  - Taking into account the military commitments of a spouse of a member of the Armed forces when reviewing requests for leave
  - Considering whether special paid leave is appropriate for employees who are bereaved through the loss of a member of the Armed Forces
- seeking to support our employees who choose to be members of the Reserve forces, including by accommodating their training and deployment where possible;
- aiming to actively participate in Armed Forces Day and reserves day

2.2 We will publicise these commitments through our literature and on our website, setting out how we will seek to honour them and inviting feedback from the Service community and our customers on how we are doing.
