The Armed Forces Covenant

An Enduring Covenant Between
The People of the United Kingdom
Her Majesty's Government

– and –

All those who serve or have served in the Armed Forces of the Crown

And their Families

The first duty of Government is the defence of the realm. Our Armed Forces fulfil that responsibility on behalf of the Government, sacrificing some civilian freedoms, facing danger and, sometimes, suffering serious injury or death as a result of their duty. Families also play a vital role in supporting the operational effectiveness of our Armed Forces. In return, the whole nation has a moral obligation to the members of the Naval Service, the Army and the Royal Air Force, together with their families. They deserve our respect and support, and fair treatment.

Those who serve in the Armed Forces, whether Regular or Reserve, those who have served in the past, and their families, should face no disadvantage compared to other citizens in the provision of public and commercial services. Special consideration is appropriate in some cases, especially for those who have given most such as the injured and the bereaved.

This obligation involves the whole of society: it includes voluntary and charitable bodies, private organisations, and the actions of individuals in supporting the Armed Forces. Recognising those who have performed military duty unites the country and demonstrates the value of their contribution. This has no greater expression than in upholding this Covenant.

Section 1: Principles Of The Armed Forces Covenant

1.1 We Northamptonshire Logistics Forum will endeavour in our business dealings to uphold the key principles of the Armed Forces Covenant, which are:

- no member of the Armed Forces Community should face disadvantage in the provision of public and commercial services compared to any other citizen
- in some circumstances special treatment may be appropriate especially for the injured or bereaved.

Section 2: Demonstrating our Commitment

2.1 We recognise the value serving personnel, reservists, veterans and military families bring to our business. We will seek to uphold the principles of the Armed Forces Covenant, by:

- Promoting the Armed Forces: promoting the fact that we are an Armed Forces-friendly organisation, to our members, suppliers, contractors and wider public.
- Veterans: supporting the employment and promotion of veterans and working with the Career Transition Partnership (CTP), in order to establish a tailored employment pathway for Service leavers;
- Service Spouses & Partners: supporting and promoting the employment of Service spouses and partners; including flexibility in granting leave before, during and after a partner's deployment;
- Reserves: promote amongst the members and the wider community to support employees who are members of the Reserve Forces; including granting special paid leave for training and supporting deployment;
- Cadet Organisations: supporting and promote our member companies who have employees who are volunteer leaders in military cadet organisations and supporting local cadet units;
- National Events: supporting Armed Forces Day, Reserves Day and Remembrance activities;
- Armed Forces Charities: supporting Armed Forces charities with fundraising, supporting members of the forum with staff who volunteer to assist.
- Member organisations: encouraging our member organisations to pledge the same support for Defence personnel through the Armed Forces Covenant.

2.2 We will publicise these commitments through our literature, through our members meetings, social media, our projects, and on our website, setting out how we will seek to honour them and inviting feedback from the Service community and our customers on how we are doing.
