Dear [REDACTED]

PROVISION OF REQUESTED INFORMATION

Thank you for your request for information bee colonies which we received on 7 October 2018. Your request has been handled under the Environmental Regulation Information 2004(EIR).

The information you requested and our response is detailed below:

'it would be interesting to know how honeybee hive numbers have changed through time'

The following clarity was received on the 17 October:

'I should have mentioned that important detail! From 2005 to present'

The Animal and Plant Health Agency (APHA) is an Executive Agency of the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs. APHA only holds records for Great Britain (England, Scotland and Wales).

BeeBase, in its current form, where beekeepers could register online, was launched in April 2006 hence some of the data in the earlier years or prior to this, is either not held in the requested form or is very immature. Scottish beekeepers have only been able to register since June 2010.

Where data is recorded as '0' we assume this to mean 'data is available and recorded as a zero value'. However, given the historic nature of some of the data provided and changes to county boundaries over time, caution should be taken to the accuracy of these figures as it is more likely that '0' values (or erratic values) recorded in the earlier years (especially 2006-2008) are actually a reflection of the lack of accurate data being available, rather than a true zero value.

Information for Northern Ireland should be requested from the Department of Agriculture, Environment and Rural Affairs: <https://www.daera-ni.gov.uk/>

The Animal and Plant Health Agency is an Executive Agency of the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs working to safeguard animal and plant health for the benefit of people, the environment and the economy.

Following a search of our paper and electronic records, any in relation to the year 2005 are not held by APHA.

However please see the attached published link that will provide some information on bees for this period <http://www.nationalbeeunit.com/downloadDocument.cfm?id=378>

The information in the table at Appendix 1 was taken from BeeBase which is the APHA National Bee Unit website. It is designed for bee keepers and supports Defra, Welsh Government and Scotland's Bee Health Programmes and the Healthy Bees Plan, which set out to protect and sustain our valuable national bee stocks.

When referencing 'colony numbers', we are specifically referring to 'registered' honey bee colonies.

When referencing 'beekeeper numbers', we are specifically referring to 'registered' honey beekeepers.

BeeBase is a voluntary registration system, the data is only representative of those bee keepers and colonies registered and the information is dependent upon beekeepers updating their records.

The annualised figure may not necessarily be at the same time point each year.

For 2018, the report is live, so effectively when it was run.

Please see Appendix 1 for the information taken from BeeBase.

Information disclosed in response to this EIR request is releasable to the public. In keeping with the spirit and effect of the EIR and the government's Transparency Agenda, this letter and the information disclosed to you may be placed on GOV.UK, together with any related information that will provide a key to its wider context. No information identifying you will be placed on the GOV.UK website.

I attach an Annex which explains the copyright that applies to the information being released to you and contact details should you be unhappy with the service you have received.

If you have any queries about this letter, please contact the Access to Information Team at the email address below or postal address at the top of this letter.
