1. Knife and offensive weapon offences overview

The highest number of knife and offensive weapon offences since the year ending June 2010 were formally dealt with by the Criminal Justice System (CJS)

In the year ending June 2019 22,306 knife and offensive weapon offences were formally dealt with by the CJS. This is a 5% increase on the same period the previous year and is the highest number of offences dealt with since the year ending June 2010 (22,689).

Recent police recorded crime figures published by the ONS<sup>1</sup> also showed an increase in the number of knife and offensive weapon offences recorded. In the year ending March 2013 15,699 offences were recorded compared with 37,729 in the year ending March 2019. Furthermore, information published by the Home Office on “Crime outcomes in England and Wales” show that 51% of these offences resulted in a charge or police caution in the year ending March 2019.<sup>2</sup>

2. Sentencing

Offenders are now more likely to receive an immediate custodial sentence for a knife and offensive weapon offence and for longer.

In the year ending June 2019 38% of knife and offensive weapon offences resulted in an immediate custodial sentence compared with 23% when the series began in the year ending June 2009. The average length of the custodial sentences received also increased over the same period, from 5.9 months to 8.1 months.

Immediate custodial sentences are now at the highest level since the series began. In the year ending June 2019 over a third (38% or 8,446 offences) of all knife and offensive weapon offences resulted in immediate custody compared with just 6,212 offences or 23% in the year ending June 2009. This increase has been driven by adults, for whom there was a 39% increase in offenders receiving immediate custody in the period.

The increase in average custodial sentence length between the year ending June 2009 and the year ending June 2019 was seen in all age groups and offence types but particularly for adults, for whom it increased from 5.8 months to 8.1 months, and for possession of blade or point offences, where it increased from 5.1 months to 7.5 months.

3. Offending History

For 71% of offenders this was their first knife or offensive weapon possession offence

The proportion of offenders for whom this is their first knife or offensive weapon possession offence has been decreasing and is now at its lowest level since the series began in the year ending June 2009 (80%).

The decrease in the proportion of first time knife and offensive weapon offenders has been seen for both adults and juveniles, with the proportion for adults decreasing from 77% to 68% between the year ending June 2009 and the year ending June 2019 and the proportion for juveniles decreasing from 92% to 83% over the same period.

Figure 3: Number of previous cautions or convictions for the possession of a knife or offensive weapon offence for offenders cautioned or convicted for a knife or offensive weapon offence, England and Wales, annually from year ending June 2009 (Source: Interactive Pivot Table Tool)

Figure 3 shows that whilst the proportion of first time offenders for this offence type has fallen there has been an increase in the number of offenders dealt with for their first knife and offensive weapons offence in each of the last 5 years – increasing from 11,429 occasions in the year ending June 2014 to 14,235 occasions in the year ending June 2019 (a 25% increase). This follows a 45% decrease in similar offenders dealt with between the year ending June 2009 and the year ending June 2014 (from 20,707 occasions to 11,429).

Since the year ending June 2013 both the number and proportion of offenders dealt with who had one or more previous knife and offensive weapons possession offences increased year on year, rising from 25% or 3,873 occasions to 29% or 5,774 occasions.

4. Sentencing under section 28 of the Criminal Justice and Courts Act (CJCA) 2015<sup>3</sup>

The average custodial sentence received by offenders sentenced under section 28 of the Criminal Justice and Courts Act 2015 was 7.9 months in the year ending June 2019.

This has risen from the first full year after the legislation was introduced, the year ending June 2017, where it was 7.1 months. Over the same time period the average custodial sentence length has increased from 7.2 to 7.9 months for adults and 6.1 to 7.5 months for 16 and 17 year olds.
