Who should fill in this form

- either you or your partner should fill in this form, if you’re responsible for a child under 16 (or under 20 and they’re in approved education or training)
- if you’re a couple and one of you is not working or paying National Insurance contributions, they should fill it in to protect their State Pension - they’ll automatically get National Insurance credits until their child turns 12, which will protect their State Pension

If you live in the UK and already claim Child Benefit, you may be able to tell us about a new child if
- they’re under 6 months old
- they were born in the UK
- their birth was registered in England, Scotland or Wales

by phoning the Child Benefit helpline on 0300 200 3100

Is your or your partner’s income more than £50,000?

If either you or your partner has an individual income of more than £50,000 in any year, the individual with the higher income may have to pay a tax charge on some or all of the Child Benefit you get. It’s called the High Income Child Benefit Charge. You can find out more, including how much you may have to pay at www.gov.uk/child-benefit-tax-charge

You may decide not to get Child Benefit payments, in which case the tax charge will not apply. It’s still important that you fill in this form to protect your State Pension (you’ll get National Insurance credits until your child turns 12) and help your child get their National Insurance number automatically at 16.

How the tax charge works

You and your partner both have an individual income of less than £50,000
The person with the highest income has income between £50,000 and £60,000
The person with the highest income has income of more than £60,000

You will not need to pay the tax charge unless your or your partner’s income goes over £50,000 in any year in the future.

The Child Benefit you or your partner get will be more than the tax charge. The person with the higher income must notify HMRC and pay the tax charge each year by registering for Self Assessment. Or you can decide not to get Child Benefit Payments.

The Child Benefit you or your partner get will be the same as the tax charge. You can decide not to get the Child Benefit payments. Or the person with the higher income must notify HMRC and pay the tax charge each year by registering for Self Assessment

You should fill in and send us this form even if you decide not to get Child Benefit payments. If you do not want to get Child Benefit payments, answer ‘no’ to question 62.

How to fill in this form

- answer all the questions that apply to you, writing clearly in capital letters
- send us all of the documents that we ask for, to avoid delays to your claim

For more information on Child Benefit, go to www.gov.uk/child-benefit or read the CH2 notes, ‘Child Benefit: Getting your claim right’.

If you cannot find the information online you can phone the Child Benefit helpline on 0300 200 3100 or use NGT relay (if you cannot hear or speak on the phone) dial 18001 then 0300 200 3100
