

Court of Appeal, Criminal Division, Emergency Business Plan (w/c 13 July 2020)

During the current COVID-19 outbreak the work of the Court of Appeal Criminal Division will continue so far as possible. However, it is inevitable that with the outbreak of the virus and the Government and NHS guidelines on self-isolation, it means that there are, and will continue to be, absences of both Judiciary and court staff.

An overview of our current arrangements:

1. We are now listing all types of hearings, but priority is being given to cases that are the most urgent.
2. We aim to make use of DCS wherever possible to provide judges with a Single Judge or Full Court Index that provides hyperlinks to documents that we have uploaded to the appeal sections of DCS.
3. All applications and documents should wherever possible be lodged electronically. Where that is not possible, they should be left in the drop boxes installed outside Conviction Casework Room E239 - 240.

at the registry applications mail box:

5. We will prioritise new applications lodged in terms of urgency as outlined above.
6. Where possible, we will hear cases remotely by telephone (BTMeetMe) or by a combination of telephone and video (CVP). Further guidance will be provided to parties who are involved in a remote hearing.

General protective measures

A local risk assessment has been undertaken in line with the published HMCTS corporate risk assessment. This assessment details the protective measures we have put in place in our courtrooms, staff offices and other spaces. The assessment will be shared on request with our professional users. A separate risk assessment has been undertaken for the RCJ Building and Security and this too may be shared on request with professional users. This note provides all users with a summary of the measures in place when attending a hearing in the Court of Appeal (Criminal Division) (CACD).

The CACD is currently sitting in a limited number of courtrooms, which comply with relevant social distancing guidance. We have introduced new measures such as additional cleaning for frequent touch points, changes to the way courtrooms are used e.g. attending a hearing by video and new signage e.g. to show which seats in the courtrooms should and should not be used to maintain a 2 metre distance between those who may physically attend a hearing.

Attending a hearing

The List Office will when fixing a hearing advise as to how you may attend and any enquiries about your attendance should be directed to this office e.g. if you are unable to attend a hearing in the RCJ building or you are an interested party or the media and wish to join remotely. The List Office may be contacted at the following address:

criminalappealoffice.listoffice@hmcts.x.gsi.gov.uk

Please note that the social distancing measures and layout of our courtrooms has led to a significant reduction in the number of people who may physically attend a hearing.

Dress code for advocates attending a hearing by video

The Vice-President, CACD, has said that if you are joining a hearing by video, that you should not be robed, but dressed in business attire, including a tie for men. Advocates need to consider the “backdrop” when they are linking remotely from home, chambers or an office – it should be neutral and appropriate for a court hearing. Advocates linking remotely need not “rise” when the court assembles etc.

Unfortunately, as a protective measure, we are not currently providing carafes of water in the courtroom and those attending should therefore bring their own water (not in glass bottles), food and other personal items e.g. hand sanitiser for use in the courtroom.

These measures are consistent with the approach being taken throughout the RCJ.

Facilities

Toilets and handwashing facilities are available in the corridor used for criminal appeals – located outside courts 6 and 8. These facilities are fairly small and so please allow sufficient time in case you need to wait for the facilities to become free. Likewise, there is a maximum occupancy for the robing room, so please allow extra time in case you need to wait to robe.
