South East - Existing adopted Local Plans and saved policies

Introduction

In the South East there are 68 local authorities with adopted local plans, and the South Downs National Park Authority which has yet to adopt its own local plan. 21 local authorities have core strategies in place which are in general conformity with both the requirements of the 2004 Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act and the policies set out within the South East Plan. The other 47 authorities in the region have local plans at different stages of development, with adopted plans put in place before the South East Plan was published in 2009 and therefore not necessarily in general conformity with the regional policies.

There are 17 mineral and waste authorities, excluding the South Downs National Park Authority which has yet to adopt its own local minerals and waste policies. Some authorities are working together to prepare minerals and waste policies under a single plan or core strategy, others are working individually and have separate minerals and waste policies, and one authority includes minerals and waste policies form part of its wider Core Strategy. Of the 15 mineral and waste plans, 2 are consistent with the policies set out within the South East Plan since they were published in or after May 2009, or shortly beforehand, and 13 were adopted prior to May 2009 and therefore not necessarily consistent with the regional plan. One waste planning authority, West Sussex County Council, does not have an adopted waste plan in place, but instead relies on an approved revised deposit draft document

These Plans would form part of the Development Plan in the absence of the Revoked Regional Strategy.

Table 1 shows a summary of the housing, gypsy & traveller pitches and plots for travelling showpeople, renewables, and employment policies/targets within the South East Plan and in local authority plans and core strategies.

Table 2 presents a summary of the Mineral and Waste policies/targets within the South East Plan and those in mineral and waste plans.
