

Consultant 32

4 May 2012

Hello,

As a consultant, my comments are that despite rises in insurance subscription, providers have not increased their fees since 1997 & forcing consultant to accept their fees.

For example I was de-recognised by AXA then told I can only be re-recognised if I sign up to their fees & not to ask for any excesses.

Surely these practices should not be tolerated?
