

BT Group / EE merger inquiry provisional findings

Response from Maple Communications – received 12 November 2015

Why should I object? BT the originators of Cellnet, which became O2 was sold to the Spanish so they lost access to the market.

As a major player they need access to the mobile network and by combining with or taking full control of EE, a German company they will again make a significant input to the communications market.

[✂]

Maple Communications

[✂]