ABOUT THIS MANUAL

The target group for this manual is the leadership of organised groups of homeless in need of land for housing development.

The aim of this manual is to describe briefly how to get land for a house.

Land access in this manual is understood to mean:

- Land purchase: buying land and getting ownership papers changed into your name.
- Land development: planning for and getting approvals to put roads, water, sewerage pipes and other services into the ground as well as building services and houses on the land.
- Land occupation: moving onto the land or into the house and starting to live there.

This manual starts with an introduction to the land access process:

- Land and the Law
- The Land Development Journey
- The Five Main Stages in the Land Access Process
- The Steps in the Land Access Process

The manual then outlines the five stages involved in land access:

- STAGE A: Organising
- STAGE B: Deciding
- STAGE C: Planning
- STAGE D: Approvals
- STAGE E: Implementing

Each of the five stages:

- Starts with a summary of what is involved in that stage - AIMS
- Provides a diagram showing the steps involved - ACTIONS
- Concludes with the implications of buying land at that stage of the land access journey - ADVICE
LAND AND THE LAW

Let us first look at what the law has to say about land. The Constitution of South Africa states that:

“The state must take reasonable legislative and other measures, within its available resources, to foster conditions which enable citizens to gain access to land on an equitable basis.” (Section 25.6)

In relation to housing, the Constitution goes on to state that:

“Everyone has the right to have access to adequate housing.” (Section 26.1) and “The state must take reasonable legislative and other measures, within its available resources, to achieve the progressive realisation of this right.” (Section 26.2)

The Housing Act of 1997 states as one of its general principles applicable to housing development that:

“National, provincial and local spheres of government must encourage and support individuals and communities, including, but not limited to, co-operatives, associations and other bodies which are community-based, in their efforts to fulfill their own housing needs by assisting them in accessing land, services and technical assistance in a way that leads to the transfer of skills to, and empowerment of, the community.” (Section 2.1)

LAND DEVELOPMENT JOURNEY

The land access process is similar to a journey. You start off with no land, but with a goal to get land.

You want this land to be:

- secure so you are not made to leave
- properly marked out on the ground
- linked to municipal infrastructure (e.g. roads, water, sewerage, electricity)
- close to community facilities (e.g. schools, shops and work)
- with some form of shelter to protect you from the weather

STAGES IN THE LAND ACCESS PROCESS

The five main stages in your journey to get land are:

- Stage A: Organising
- Stage B: Deciding
- Stage C: Planning
- Stage D: Approvals
- Stage E: Implementing
Let us now take a closer look at each of the five main stages of your journey.

STAGE A: ORGANISING

In this first stage, you are preparing for the journey ahead. You form a group with others who also want to get land for a house. You set up and manage an organisation to represent your members’ interests. You learn about the housing development process.

Landless people → want to get land → organised group

STAGE B: DECIDING

Your group enters the second stage of the journey with a broad idea of what type of land it wants. You identify and compare your land options further. You work as an organised group and negotiate with outside role players, such as government and other specialists, to help you find and decide on a piece of land.

Establish a team → identify land options → choose preferred option

STAGE C: PLANNING

In the third stage, you and your team produce a plan showing what type of neighbourhood you want. You agree on how you are going to allocate people to the land and decide if you will own the land as individuals or as a group. You also decide what type of services and houses you want and how you will build them.

Decide on ownership → develop layout plan → design services and houses

STAGE D: APPROVALS

The fourth stage involves getting approvals from government and others to implement the plan, agreeing with the land owner to buy the land, and getting the money to develop the services and build the houses.

Get approvals → arrange land purchase → get money

STAGE E: IMPLEMENTING

With the approvals and funding to buy and develop the land in place, your group is ready for the final stage of its journey. You move into the phase of building the services and houses and transferring the land from the old to the new land owner. You move onto the land.

Build services and houses → transfer land → occupy houses
At each of the five main stages of your journey you will need to take a number of steps. The steps are listed below.

STAGE A: ORGANISING

Step 1: Decide to join a group
Step 2: Organise your group
Step 3: Learn about land access
Step 4: Develop a group vision
Step 5: Communicate with your members *
Step 6: Start saving
Step 7: Keep members involved

STAGE B: DECIDING

Step 8: Engage the municipality *
Step 9: Set up a team
Step 10: Get money for initial studies *
Step 11: Develop a concept plan
Step 12: Choose preferred land option
Step 13: Engage land owners

STAGE C: PLANNING

Step 14: Undertake land allocation
Step 15: Agree on tenure options
Step 16: Produce layout plan
Step 17: Produce engineering designs and budget
Step 18: Produce house designs and budget
Step 19: Decide on town planning process

STAGE D: APPROVALS

Step 20: Confirm bulk services availability
Step 21: Get National Home Builder’s Registration Council (NHBRC) approval
Step 22: Get environmental approval
Step 23: Get members’ approval
Step 24: Get town planning approval *
Step 25: Formalise land agreement with land owners *
Step 26: Confirm who will be the developer
Step 27: Arrange the necessary finances *

STAGE D: IMPLEMENTING

Step 28: Build internal services and houses
Step 29: Register sites and title
Step 30: Occupy property

These steps do not have to be followed in the order provided. For example, if you already occupy land you may leave out some of the steps in the ‘deciding’ stage.

Those steps marked with a * can be difficult steps and may need extra attention.

For more detailed information on each of these steps, see Manual B, Urban Land Access: The Steps.
STAGE A: ORGANISING

AIMS:
During Stage A you will:

- Set up and manage an organisation to represent your members' interests
- Learn all about the housing development process
- Build the internal capacity of your organisation to effectively represent your members in negotiating with outside role-players.

ACTIONS:

As a landless person you decide to join a group to get land

Work with others to organise your group and to develop a group vision

Learn about land access so you know what to do to get land
Communicate with your members often so you know what your members want and you keep them updated
Start saving so you have finances available for future expenses
Keep members involved in activities so they stay committed to working together

ADVICE:
If you buy land after the Organising Stage, you will:

- Not be sure it’s the best land as you have not compared it to other land
- Have to own the land collectively as it will not yet be subdivided
- Have to start paying rates for undeveloped land.
STAGE B: DECIDING

AIMS: During Stage B you will:
- Get the municipality to help your group as much as possible
- Find other specialists to help you find land and plan for its development
- Use criteria you develop to choose which land you want to buy and develop.

ACTIONS:

As an organised group

Engage the municipality in your area to help your group find and develop land

Set up a team of specialists to help you with all the steps of getting and developing land

Get money for initial studies so you can pay for initial planning work

Develop a concept plan which explains what type of land and neighbourhood you want and how you plan to get it

Choose the preferred land option after looking at and comparing lots of options

Start to engage land owners to find out if and how you can buy and develop the land

ADVICE: If you buy land after the Deciding Stage, you will:
- Know it is good land
- Not have had it planned and approved yet
- Have to own it collectively as it will not be subdivided.
- Have to pay rates for undeveloped land
STAGE C: PLANNING

AIMS: During Stage C you will:
- Agree who will be allocated to the land and how they will own the land
- Develop a plan for what type of development you want
- Produce draft designs and budgets for the services and houses.

ACTIONS:

As an organised group that has identified a preferred land option

Undertake land allocation to determine who will live on the land

Agree on tenure options so you know how you will hold the land

Produce a layout plan showing where all the plots and roads will go on your land

Produce engineering designs and budget showing what type of services you will have, how they will be built and how much they will cost

Produce house designs and budget showing what the houses will look like, how they will be built and how much they will cost

Decide on town planning process that you will use to get permission to develop your land

ADVICE: If you buy land after the Planning Stage, you will:
- Have a draft plan for the land you have chosen
- Not have approvals to develop the land
- Not have services or houses built on it yet
- Have to own the land collectively as it will not be subdivided
- Have to pay rates for undeveloped land.
STAGE D: APPROVALS

AIMS: During Stage D you will:

- Get approvals from different government departments for the land development
- Reach an agreement with the land owner on how you will transfer the land and at what price
- Agree with all role-players who will develop the services and houses
- Get money to implement the project.

ACTIONS:

- As an organised group that has prepared layout plans and engineering and house designs
- Confirm bulk services availability with the municipality so you can get water and other services to and from your land
- Get environmental approval so that the environment is protected and people live in a safe and healthy neighbourhood
- Get town planning approval for the whole project so that you can start to implement the project
- Formalise the land agreement with land owners so you know exactly how much you will pay for the land and how it will be transferred to you
- Get NHBRC approval of all your plans so if anything goes wrong you will be able to get money to fix it
- Get members’ approval of all the plans that have been produced so everyone is happy
- Confirm who will be the developer of the services and houses and who will arrange for the property to be transferred
- Arrange the necessary finances to build the services and houses and transfer the property

ADVICE: If you buy land after the Approvals Stage, you will:

- Have approvals to develop the land
- Not have it subdivided into plots yet
- Not have services or houses built on it yet
- Have to own it collectively as it will still not be subdivided
- Have to pay rates for undeveloped land.
STAGE E: IMPLEMENTING

AIMS: During Stage E you will:
- Get a piece of paper proving that you are able to live on a marked out piece of land
- Arrange for the building of services and houses
- Stay on a properly developed piece of land.

ACTIONS:

- As an organised group that owns the land, or has a formal agreement with the land owners; knows who will be the developer; and has the money to start implementation

- Arrange for construction tender documents to be produced, find builders and build the internal services and houses

- Register sites and title so that a surveyed piece of land is transferred to you or your group

- With paper work completed showing that you have permission to occupy the house, and with services and house built, you occupy the property

ADVICE: If you buy the land after the Implementing Stage, you will:
- Be able to own the land individually as it will be subdivided
- Be able to live on a serviced plot with a house
- Have to pay rates and services for developed land
- Sometimes be able to buy and occupy the land before all the houses have been built.

For more detailed advice on how and when land can be accessed, see Manual C, Urban Land Access: Options.
To access land your group needs to be able to answer YES to each of the questions below. If you answer NO to any question you need to re-visit that step.
