

Appendix 3. The adaptive learning website

The project website is intended to provide CSU stakeholders with information about the adaptive learning approach, the methodologies associated with it, details of project activities, project documents to download, information on the pilot studies and links to other sites that may be useful to them. In addition, the website has been designed to function as a resource for development practitioners and to provide a forum for discussing aspects of the approach, relating lessons learned and sharing experiences. How successful it is in this respect will depend very much on the willingness of stakeholders to contribute.

The website homepage is pictured below:

