

Does the DSA know what percentage of pupils taking their practical driving test use an instructor, and if this figure has changed over the last 2 years?

Has the amount of pupils taking their test also gone down?

The table below shows the number of candidates that have been presented for a driving test in an instructor's car for the last 2 calendar years. Please note this information is based on tests where an ADI badge was displayed and captured at the time of the test and the information is correct as of 21 April 2011.

Year	Tests conducted	Tests conducted in Driving School cars	%
2009	1,590,282	1,472,466	93%
2010	1,513,620	1,409,606	93%
