Dear [REDACTED]

I am writing in response to your request for information regarding the below received on 7 July 2015. Your request has been handled under Section 1(1) of the Freedom of Information Act 2000. In accordance with Section 1(1)(a) of the Act I hereby confirm that the CNC/CNPA does hold information of the type specified.

1) A copy of your mobile/agile working strategy policy (use of mobile devices whilst working in the community)

There is no mobile strategy for CNC currently.

2) The name and contact details of the person responsible for your mobility strategy

Lucy Shirodkar, Head of IT, 01235 466920

3) Your budget for any mobile working strategy developments for 2015/16

It is the intention of CNC to replace its BlackBerry system (email only) with an alternative system. However, at this stage no software development has been identified.

4) Your budget specifically for mobile application development

None

5) If you currently have a software solution, which application you currently use to manage your corporate mobile devices and officer owner devices (BYOD)?

Currently Blackberry Enterprise Server for around 160 BlackBerry v5 devices purely for email use.

6) If you currently do not have a software solution enabling community policing on mobile devices, do you intend to implement such a solution in the next 24 months? If yes, please provide your budget.

No requirement.

7) Do you have any mobile application development resource in house? If so how many.

None

8) If no, who do you outsource your application development to?

No mobile development undertaken.

The Civil Nuclear Constabulary is a specialist armed police service dedicated to the civil nuclear industry, with Operational Policing Units based at 11 civil nuclear sites in England, Scotland and Wales and over 1400 police officers and staff. The Constabulary headquarters is at Culham in Oxfordshire. The civil nuclear industry forms part of the UK's critical national infrastructure and the role of the Constabulary contribute to the overall framework of national security.

The purpose of the Constabulary is to protect licensed civil nuclear sites and to safeguard nuclear material in transit. The Constabulary works in partnership with the appropriate Home Office Police Force or Police Scotland at each site. Policing services required at each site are agreed with nuclear operators in accordance with the Nuclear Industries Security Regulations 2003 and ratified by the UK regulator, the Office for Nuclear Regulation (ONR). Armed policing services are required at most civil nuclear sites in the United Kingdom. The majority of officers in the Constabulary are Authorised Firearms Officers.

The Constabulary is recognised by the Association of Chief Police Officers of England, Wales and Northern Ireland (ACPO) and the Association of Chief Police Officers in Scotland (ACPOS). Through the National Coordinated Policing Protocol, the Constabulary has established memorandums of understanding with the local police forces at all 11 Operational Policing Units. Mutual support and assistance enable the Constabulary to maintain focus on its core role.
