ASEAN Programme Fund Financial Year 2013-2014

The ASEAN Programme Fund is now accepting bids for projects in 2013-14.

The ASEAN Programme Fund is the Foreign and Commonwealth's fund for supporting regional integration, conflict prevention and enhancing awareness of human rights and the rule of law within the ASEAN countries and ASEAN institutions.

2013-2014 Programme

The Fund's priority areas for 2013-2014 are:

- Regional Integration
- Conflict Resolution
- Human Rights
- Good Governance and Anti-Corruption
- Counter-Terrorism
- Counter-Proliferation

Priority will be given to proposals with a broad impact across South East Asia and all projects should be designed to benefit at least two ASEAN Member States. They may involve collaboration between regional governments and/or civil society groups, or support ASEAN's institutional development.

Applications are welcome from government, NGOs, civil societies, universities, professional or research associations, and business.

We accept applications for co-funding for larger projects.

How to Apply

The concept bid should be written in English and submitted using the bidding form to Bilateral.Jakarta@fco.gov.uk Initial enquiries may also be sent to this address. As a general rule, projects can only be supported for the current UK financial year i.e. until March 2014.
