Introductory note

This introductory note does not form a part of the notice.

Under the Environmental Permitting (England & Wales) Regulations 2010 (schedule 5, part 1, paragraph 19) a variation may comprise a consolidated permit reflecting the variations and a notice specifying the variations. Schedule 1 of the notice specifies the conditions that have been varied and schedule 2 comprises a consolidated permit which reflects the variations being made. All the conditions of the permit have been varied and are subject to the right of appeal.

Farnborough poultry unit is situated to the North East of Farnborough in Oxfordshire and is surrounded by rural farm land. There are no European sites or Sites of Special Scientific Interest within the 10 or 5 km of the installation. The installation is approximately centred on National Grid Reference SP 44607 50063.

This variation authorises the following change: the Operator has applied to rear 40,000 female turkey along side the existing permitted 206,999 broiler chicken. The Operator will only rear broiler chickens or female turkeys at any given time, they will never be reared together, so at any point there will be either 206,999 broilers being reared or 40,000 female turkeys being reared.

The rest of the installation is unchanged and continues to be operated as follows. There are 7 poultry houses, 6 are ventilated by roof fans and the other one is naturally ventilated. Also within the installation is a generator and fuel store, an LPG tank and feed bins. At the end of the growing cycle the houses are emptied of litter and washed and disinfected. The wash water is channelled to an underground waste water tank. Uncontaminated roof and yard water runoff drains to an unnamed ditch via French drains.

The site is subject to a Climate Change Levy Agreement.

This consolidation implements the requirements of the European Union Directive on Industrial Emissions.

The schedules specify the changes made to the permit.

The status log of a permit sets out the permitting history, including any changes to the permit reference number.
