Dear [REDACTED]

I am writing in response to your request for information regarding the below received. Your request has been handled under Section 1(1) of the Freedom of Information Act 2000. In accordance with Section 1(1) (a) of the Act I hereby confirm that the CNC/CNPA does hold information of the type specified. The answer to all of the below are zero.

- 1. In the last three calendar years, how many assaults on police officers with injury were recorded by your force? Please provide this information for 2014, 2015, 2016 and 2017 January to March only - broken down by year.
- 2. Of these assaults with injury (as outlined in question (1.)) how many persons were charged? Again please break down by the same three years.
- 3. Broken down by the same three years above, please state how many officers required hospital treatment following an assault? For incidents occurring in 2016 and 2017 only, please provide a full description of the injury, and how it occurred.
- 4. How many police officers were injured by a weapon as part of an assault in the last three years?
Again please break down by year. For incidents occurring in 2016 and 2017 only, please provide a full description of the injury, weapons used, and how it occurred.

The Civil Nuclear Constabulary is a specialist armed police service dedicated to the civil nuclear industry, with Operational Policing Units based at 11 civil nuclear sites in England, Scotland and Wales and over 1400 police officers and staff. The Constabulary headquarters is at Culham in Oxfordshire. The civil nuclear industry forms part of the UK's critical national infrastructure and the role of the Constabulary contribute to the overall framework of national security.

The purpose of the Constabulary is to protect licensed civil nuclear sites and to safeguard nuclear material in transit. The Constabulary works in partnership with the appropriate Home Office Police Force or Police Scotland at each site. Policing services required at each site are agreed with nuclear operators in accordance with the Nuclear Industries Security Regulations 2003 and ratified by the UK regulator, the Office for Nuclear Regulation (ONR). Armed policing services are required at most civil nuclear sites in the United Kingdom. The majority of officers in the Constabulary are Authorised Firearms Officers.

The Constabulary is recognised by the National Police Chiefs' Council (NPCC) and the Association of Chief Police Officers in Scotland (ACPOS). Through the National Coordinated Policing Protocol, the Constabulary has established memorandums of understanding with the local police forces at all 10 Operational Policing Units. Mutual support and assistance enable the Constabulary to maintain focus on its core role.
