

Ministry of Defence Freedom of Information Publication Scheme Guide to Information

The MOD FOI Publication Scheme Guide to Information lists the information that the MOD makes routinely available to the public, how it can be accessed and whether there is a charge for the information. All information that is published on the website can be accessed free of charge.

You may use the Search Publication Scheme to find the information and by the following seven Classes of Information:

- Who we are and what we do
- What we spend and how we spend it
- What are our priorities and how are we doing
- How we make decisions
- Our policies and procedures
- Lists and Registers
- The services we offer

The MOD FOI Publication Scheme Guide to Information is available as a downloadable or printable version and we will aim to review and maintain the Scheme(s) for which we are responsible on a regular basis. The definition documents are:

- Definition document for the Model Publication Scheme for Government departments
- Definition document for the Model Publication Scheme for the Armed Forces of the Crown (excluding any Special Forces)
- Definition document for the Model Publication Scheme for police authorities
- Definition document for the Model Publication Scheme for non departmental public bodies

Information within the scope of the Scheme is attributed to a Class of Information but is also described by Title, Description, Organisation and Format. The Scheme also specifies whether there is a Charge and, where the information is not directly accessible via the Scheme, provides advice on the website on how it can be accessed.

Defence Technology Strategy 2006	Today the UK faces adversaries whose tactics change rapidly and employ ever more varied advanced and innovative technologies. This demands rapid evolution in our response, both tactically and in the technologies we deploy to combat the threats. We must therefore continuously examine the balance and quantity of our research and development (R&D) investment to meet these changing circumstances. Nimrod MR Mk2 Review of Hot Air System	The Ministry of Defence commissioned this report in January 2008 in response to the Board of Inquiry report into the loss of Nimrod XV230 which recommended that a safety review of the Nimrod hot air system be completed. The mitigation measures currently in place for the operation of the hot air system in flight, together with the hot air ducts replacement programme will ensure we can continue to operate the Nimrod aircraft safely until its planned retirement from service.
