422.

As a member of the public and pub user, albeit infrequently. I feel that all publicans should be treated fairly. It seems to be common sense that there should be a code which is enforceable which ensures that the tenants are not being squeezed out of existence by unfair rents, extortionate beer prices at source and/or ties that mean they have to buy one supplier's beer at very low profits. No publican should be struggling to keep their pub trade going at their own expense either financially or physically for the benefit of a brewery/supplier. Obviously not all tied landlords are unhappy, but protection should be put in place to make sure that everyone in the trade is protected. This will benefit the publicans and everyone who uses establishments, which again should ensure that their less closures.
