390.

I call upon everyone, legislators, breweries, pub companies, tenants, landlords and customers to do everything in their power to ensure the long lasting health of the public house. Pubs are an integral part of Britain and our culture; the closure rate today must be reversed before pubs become things of the past in many areas. I believe that by limiting the number of outlets offering alcoholic beverages to council approved off-licences, hotels, pubs and clubs would do much to protect our heritage. It seems to me, around here in Sevenoaks, every corner shop applies to sell alcohol before anything else.
