

Background

The Evans family live in a three-bedroomed terraced house in a poor housing estate. Fiona does not work, and Steve has a part-time job. There are no concerns about parental drug and alcohol misuse or domestic abuse, but there are concerns that both parents suffer from depression. Money is tight, but the family are reasonably connected within the community. The family did take advantage of various youth clubs and drop-in community centres, but have not been seen as regularly in the last 9-12 months.
