

We were asked:

Q1. List all the items valued over £100 which the department's staff lost in 2013 and state their value.

Q2. Please state if any of these items contained personal data.

Q3. Please state how many items of any value have been lost in 2013 in total and state how many contained personal information.

Q4. Please repeat the above questions for the years 2012 and 2011.

We replied:

You asked for a list of all the items valued over £100 which the department's staff lost in 2013, to state their value and if any of these items contained personal data. You also requested that these questions be applied to 2011 and 2012.

In 2012, one Wales Office blackberry smart phone was reported as lost. The blackberry smart phone was linked to a business email account and the device complied with the blackberry security guidance issued by the Ministry of Justice. No personal data was lost as a result of this incident.

There were no reported losses in 2011 and 2013.
