1) The greatest number of attempts a candidate has taken at the car practical test at each test centre in Leicester from when your records exist (April 2004) to the present date. Also I'd like to know the age and gender of the candidate at their last attempt and whether they have now passed.

I'd like two figures for each of the six test centres in Leicestershire - one where all of the attempts were taken at the same test centre in Leicestershire and the other where the last attempt was taken at each of the test centres in Leicestershire but not all previous attempts were

The practical test centres in Leicestershire are: Hinckley, Leicester (Wigston), Leicester (Welford Road), Leicester (Gipsy Lane), Loughborough and Melton Mowbray

In the table below, you can find the greatest number of attempts a candidate has taken at the car practical test at each test centre in Leicester where all attempts were taken at that test centre. We've also provided you with the age of the candidate at their last test as well as their gender.

- candidate's licence number; therefore if a candidate changed their licence number, the count would start again

2) The greatest number of attempts a candidate has taken at the car theory test at Leicester theory test centre from when your records exist (September 2004) to the present date. Also I'd like to know the age and gender of the candidate at their last attempt and whether they have now passed

I'd like two figures for Leicester theory test centre - one where all of the attempts were taken at that centre and one where the last attempt was taken at that centre but not all previous attempts were.

The greatest number of attempts at the car theory test where all tests were taken at Leicester theory test centre is 92. This candidate was male, aged 28 at their last test and failed his latest attempt.

The greatest number of attempts at the car theory test where the last test was taken at Leicester theory test centre but not all previous tests were is 33. This candidate was male, aged 37 at their last test and failed his latest attempt.
