

1) The total number of people who have registered in the past two years and have not yet qualified and then broken down into:

- a) not passed part one
- b) passed part one but not passed part two
- c) passed part two but not passed part three

Our records show details of 21,365 individuals who applied to start the qualifying process between 1 October 2009 and 30 September 2011 but have yet to qualify. Out of those 21,365 individuals:

- 14,019 have not passed the ADI part one test
- 2,670 have passed the ADI part one test but not the ADI part two test
- 4,676, have passed the ADI part two test but not the ADI part three test

2) The current number of trainee licence holders

There are 6,613 trainee licence holders. This information is correct as of 1 October 2011.

The information supplied to you continues to be protected by copyright. You are free to use it for your own purposes, including for private study and non-commercial research, and for any other purpose authorised by an exception in current copyright law. Documents (except photographs) can be also used in the UK without requiring permission for the purposes of news reporting. Any other re-use, for example commercial publication, would require the permission of the copyright holder.

Most documents supplied by the Driving Standards Agency will be protected by Crown Copyright. Most Crown copyright information can be re-used under the Open Government Licence (<http://www.nationalarchives.gov.uk/doc/open-government-licence/>). For information about the OGL and about re-using Crown Copyright information please see The National Archives website - <http://www.nationalarchives.gov.uk/information-management/uk-gov-licensing-framework.htm> .

Copyright in other documents may rest with a third party. For information about obtaining permission from a third party see the Intellectual Property Office's website at www.ipo.gov.uk.