

I was wondering if DSA had any statistics about the success of the Pass Plus scheme, i.e if it reduces your likelihood of having an accident etc.

We do not collect subsequent road safety data for those drivers who complete a Pass Plus course. You can, however, find some limited assessment of the Pass Plus scheme within the Cohort II study as well as in other studies conducted by the Transport Research Laboratory (TRL). You can find this information online at:

- Cohort II study (2008)

The Association of British Insurers also conducted a study of Pass Plus; you can find their study online at
