ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This report has been prepared by an independent team from Social & Scientific Systems, Inc., and the Institute of Education at the University of London (IoE). The team is grateful to all those persons who have provided support, information and comments. We received invaluable assistance from members of the Evaluation Steering Group (listed in annex 17) and from DFID's Evaluation Department (EvD), especially Julia Compton, John Murray and Jane Gardner. The UK Consortium on AIDS and International Development has also offered important collaboration for which we are most grateful. We appreciate the on-site hosting, working space and support for our team provided by EvD and by the Global AIDS Policy Team at DFID, as well as by staff of the Institute of Education. At Social & Scientific Systems, Inc., we thank Deanna Crouse, Susan Duberstein and Ariella Bock for their unstinting support and Dr. Sue Griffey, our corporate monitor. As lead author, Barbara Pillsbury thanks and acknowledges the very essential contributions of other core SSS-IoE team members in the development of this report.

Full responsibility for the text of this report rests with the team. In common with all evaluation reports commissioned by DFID's Evaluation Department, the views contained in this report do not necessarily represent those of DFID or of the people consulted.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

S1. The UK government's new AIDS strategy ('Taking Action: the UK's strategy for tackling HIV and AIDS in the developing world'<sup>1</sup>) was launched by the Prime Minister in July 2004, to cover the period 2005-8. Taking Action is a Cross-Whitehall strategy with DFID as the lead government department. Two evaluations of the strategy have been planned, an interim evaluation (this one) and a final evaluation in 2008/9.

S2. The aim of this evaluation is to improve implementation of the Taking Action strategy, to make recommendations for its final evaluation and to inform future decision-making. This work is guided by an Evaluation Design Paper, prepared by DFID's Evaluation Department in 2005 with substantial dialogue and input by DFID country offices, other government departments, and civil society. The present report should be read in conjunction with the design paper, which can be found at <http://www.dfid.gov.uk/consultations/aids-evaluation-design.pdf>

S3. This document describes what the evaluation team accomplished during the inception phase of this evaluation (6 February-13 April 2006) and how it plans to conduct the evaluation. The main report will be available in early 2007. Three working papers and two briefing papers will be disseminated in the interim, beginning in June 2006. Recommendations will be based on document review, interviews and focus groups with DFID and other Cross-Whitehall personnel and case studies in seven countries: China, Democratic Republic of Congo, Ethiopia, India, Russia, Zambia and Zimbabwe. Dissemination events are planned for early 2007.

1 OVERVIEW

1.1 – 1.4 Background and objectives of the Evaluation

1.1 The UK government's new AIDS strategy ('Taking Action: the UK's strategy for tackling HIV and AIDS in the developing world'<sup>2</sup>) was launched by the Prime Minister in July 2004, to cover the period 2005-8. The Government has committed significant financial resources to support this area (at least £1.5 billion over 3 years, up from £270 million in 2002/3). Taking Action is a Cross-Whitehall strategy with DFID as the lead government department. The Secretary of State and Permanent Under Secretary of State for International Development are concerned to ensure systems are in place to measure the impact of the additional resources allocated to tackling HIV and AIDS, and to 'monitor, evaluate and challenge interventions'<sup>3</sup>. Two evaluations have been planned, an interim evaluation (this one) and a final evaluation in 2008/9.

1.2 The aim of this evaluation is to improve implementation of the Taking Action strategy and to make recommendations for its final evaluation and for future decision-making. The evaluation is guided by an Evaluation Design Paper, prepared by DFID's Evaluation Department with substantial dialogue and input by DFID country offices, other government departments and civil society during 2005. The present report should be read in conjunction with the design paper, which can be found at <http://www.dfid.gov.uk/consultations/aids-evaluation-design.pdf>.

1.3 The specific objective of the evaluation is to provide DFID and the Cross-Whitehall Coherence Group with recommendations in four areas:

1. how to improve implementation and monitoring of the current strategy,
2. measures and indicators of success for the final evaluation of Taking Action in 2008/9 (including defining the baseline against which improvements will be assessed),
3. informing the UK Government's next steps on AIDS from 2008, and
4. future UK (especially DFID) strategies on development.

1.4 Linked to the evaluation's four objectives are three main questions. These are supplemented by ten amplifying questions (see Table 1 below). Many additional guiding questions are set forth in the Evaluation Design Paper, however these 13 core questions are the ultimate focus of the evaluation.

1.5 The Evaluation Team

1.5 The evaluation is being conducted by a consortium led by Social & Scientific Systems, Inc. with the Institute of Education of the University of London. A core team of five consultants is leading the work, supported by a technical panel. Core team members are Barbara Pillsbury (team leader), Roger Drew, Karen Semkow, Peter

Overview

Aggleton, and Ian Warwick. The evaluation is managed by DFID's Evaluation Department (EvD).

Table 1: The 13 Main Questions the Evaluation Must Answer

1. How is Taking Action being implemented to date? Can this be improved?
1.1 What progress has been made on Taking Action 's six "priority actions"? What are the lessons from these? ( Closing the funding gap, Strengthening political leadership, Improving the international response, Better national programmes, Long-term action, Translating strategy into action )
1.2 Overall, does the distribution of current UK-supported HIV and AIDS activities reflect the priorities laid out in Taking Action ? If not, why not?
1.3 How is the UK government making decisions in practice, e.g., how are choices being made about partner institutions for tackling HIV and AIDS in developing countries? How can decision-making systems be improved?
1.4 What is the UK's experience with moving to 'country-led' aid instruments regarding commitment and resources allocated to HIV and AIDS and the prioritisation of the response? What are the lessons on managing this?
1.5 How is Taking Action 's specific focus on 'women, young people and vulnerable groups' being interpreted by UK government decision-makers? Is a significant proportion of funding and activities reaching these priority groups? What are the initial lessons from this?
1.6 Are appropriate UK Government systems and staff resources in place to implement Taking Action
2. How should the success of Taking Action be measured in the final evaluation of the strategy in 2008/9?
2.1 Taking Action includes over 130 specific commitments for UK government action. In the light of experience, are these still the most relevant targets against which to measure the success of UK strategy? If not, how should success be measured?
3. What lessons does Taking Action hold for future UK strategy on AIDS – and other future UK (especially DFID) strategies on development issues?
3.1 Is Taking Action still, (in 2006) the most relevant strategy for the UK to adopt to tackle HIV and AIDS in the developing world? Are there major outstanding issues that are not adequately addressed in Taking Action (bearing in mind that the UK is only one player among others)? What are the implications for future AIDS strategy?
3.2 How are the potential tensions between top-down AIDS targets and a flexible, country-led approach being managed? What are the lessons (a) for future UK AIDS strategy; (b) for other UK development strategies?
3.3 Taking Action has several interesting features: it is a cross-Whitehall strategy, contains spending targets, and was developed through a consultative process. What lessons can be learned for developing future strategies (AIDS and other) from the process of developing Taking Action ?

1.6 The Evaluation Products

1.6 An overview of the evaluation products is presented in Table 2. (The 'submission date' is the date when final drafts are submitted to EvD. It normally takes several weeks before these are published.) The outline of the main (final) report is presented in annex 2. Terms of reference (ToRs) for the three working papers are provided in annexes 6-8.

MAIN REPORT	Interim evaluation of Taking Action: the UK's strategy for tackling HIV and AIDS in the developing world	Draft 23 October Final 15 Dec.

1.7 Guiding Principles

1.7 Three fundamental principles guide the evaluation. First is a shared commitment to donor harmonisation in responding to HIV and AIDS, in general, and with regard to monitoring and evaluation in particular. Second is a commitment to being efficient concerning the approach to data and minimising demands on people's time. This means going first to the existing documentation for answers and, only then, seeking further clarification and evidence from staff and partners. The third principle is accompanying DFID staff through a process of mutual learning.

1.8 Activities to Date

1.8 The team began work 6 February 2006. Activities and achievements include:

- Establishing working relationships with DFID staff and other government departments and stakeholders (see annexes 14 and 15)
- Collecting, organising, and cataloguing relevant documents
- Conducting a preliminary review of these documents
- Producing a draft for Working Paper 1: An Analysis of Trends in UK Government Funding and Activities to Tackle HIV and AIDS in the Developing World
- Preparing an outline of the main report
- Developing a data-gathering plan
- Developing a plan and preliminary tools for case studies in seven countries
- Meeting twice with the Evaluation Steering Group
- Making initial contacts with DFID and FCO personnel in the case study countries

2 PRELIMINARY DOCUMENT REVIEW AND GAP ANALYSIS

2.1 Document Review

2.1 We have conducted a rapid review of more than seven hundred documents. These include plans, reports, reviews, evaluations and other documents identified in the Evaluation Design Paper provided to us by DFID staff, as well as identified by us from a range of sources, including DFID's website, AiDA and inSight (inSight is DFID's intranet). We have developed a document tracking and management system, which is accessible to all team members via the Internet. We have also summarised HIV and AIDS content in several hundred of these documents and entered this information in an Excel matrix, which keys each document to the TQA questions addressed in the document. These are new tools likely to be valuable resources for DFID (annex 13 gives a snapshot of the 'library' of documents).

2.2 Results and Gaps

2.2 Our preliminary review shows where information gaps currently exist. The documents assessed are most definitive in showing progress in two of Taking Action's six 'priority actions', namely 'strengthening political leadership' and 'improving the international response'. However, this is a work in progress and we will continue to identify further documents throughout the evaluation and focus additional literature review and other data collection on these gaps. A CD of all documents consulted will be delivered to DFID with the main report.<sup>4</sup>

<sup>4</sup> As new documents are produced, we would appreciate readers sending us any that seem likely to be important for the evaluation. Electronic versions (including links to documents in inSight or the Internet) are ideal. Please send any such documents to I-Warwick@dfid.gov.uk.

3. METHODOLOGY FOR IMPLEMENTATION (FIELDWORK PHASE)

3.1 – 3.4 Methodology Guided by the TQA

3.1 The evaluation methodology is based on the very detailed Table of Questions and Approaches (TQA) agreed upon by stakeholders and set forth in the Evaluation Design Paper<sup>5</sup>. We propose to answer the issues in the TQA through:

- further document review and analysis,
- individual interviews and focus groups/group discussions,
- seven focused country case-studies.

3.2 The focus of the data gathering is on collecting concrete evidence with which to answer specific questions. Accordingly, emphasis will be placed on fact or evidence based opinions and views.

3.3 We intend to use individual interviews for collecting evidence, and focus groups for discussing preliminary findings. Focus groups identified separately in annexes 3-5 will be combined as appropriate; no more than ten focus groups will be scheduled. Interviews and focus groups/group discussions will be conducted with:

- key DFID staff, UK-based and in country offices (in the seven case-study countries and by telephone with selected others)
- stakeholders from other UK government departments
- international donor personnel knowledgeable about the global response to HIV and AIDS and DFID's role in this
- relevant personnel of multilateral agencies with which DFID works, including WHO, UNAIDS, UNFPA, UNICEF and UNIFEM
- partner governments, when appropriate, considering harmonisation principles
- representatives of civil society in the UK and in developing countries, including PLWHA groups.

3.4 We recognise that the policy agenda moves rapidly and terminology along with it. The evaluation will make an effort to keep up with developments and cover these (e.g., Global Task Team, universal access, etc.). Details are presented in annexes 3-5, as well as 6-8). We have already conducted some preliminary interviews and group discussions during this inception phase (see annex 15). The timetables presented in annexes 3 and 4 are sufficiently flexible to accommodate the schedules of people we wish to interview. For a timetable summarising the main evaluation events and processes, see annex 1. The OECD-DAC evaluation criteria (relevance, effectiveness, efficiency, impact and sustainability) will be considered throughout the analysis.

Methodology for Implementation (Fieldwork Phase)

3.5 – 3.7 Consultation and Dissemination Plan

3.5 Our challenge is to balance the principle of organisational lesson learning with that of minimising demands on people's time. We plan the following:

3.6 Consultation. We will:

1. be available to discuss emerging findings and recommendations with interested parties,
2. consult with the Evaluation Steering Group on draft products according to the schedule circulated by EvD,
3. hold informal consultations with other stakeholder groups as they are available to provide feedback on draft products,
4. consult with civil society through PLHWA groups (e.g., ICW, GNP+, ICASO), the UK Consortium on AIDS and International Development (see annex 15), and local and international NGOs during country case study visits,
5. consult during 4th quarter 2006 and 1st quarter 2007 with decision-makers to whom recommendations in the main report are addressed,
6. consider accompanying DFID through a public consultation.

3.7 Dissemination. We will:

1. schedule lunch-time dissemination events when working and briefing papers have been finalized,
2. seek to identify DFID and Cross-Whitehall Coherence Group meetings and other events onto which to piggyback dissemination,
3. post all products on DFID's website as soon as they are available (and ask OGD representatives if they want to post on their sites as well),
4. hold a major, high-visibility, dissemination event in the first quarter 2007.

Table 3 presents proposed dates for consultation and dissemination, linked to the schedule of evaluation products.

Methodology for Implementation (Fieldwork Phase)

3.8 – 3.10 Country Case Studies: Seven Countries

3.8 Case studies will be conducted in seven countries. They will be highly focused on answering specific questions from the TQA. While we will assist DFID country offices by asking one or two questions of particular interest to them, we will not be undertaking a full review or evaluation of all of DFID's activities on HIV and AIDS in that particular country.

3.9 Choice of countries was guided by several criteria with the aim of achieving an appropriate mix in terms of geographic distribution, stage of the epidemic, country context (low income, middle income, post-conflict, fragile states, poverty reduction strategy countries), aid instruments (at least two countries where general budget support is a major feature) and level of UK government resources invested. Case studies will be conducted in:

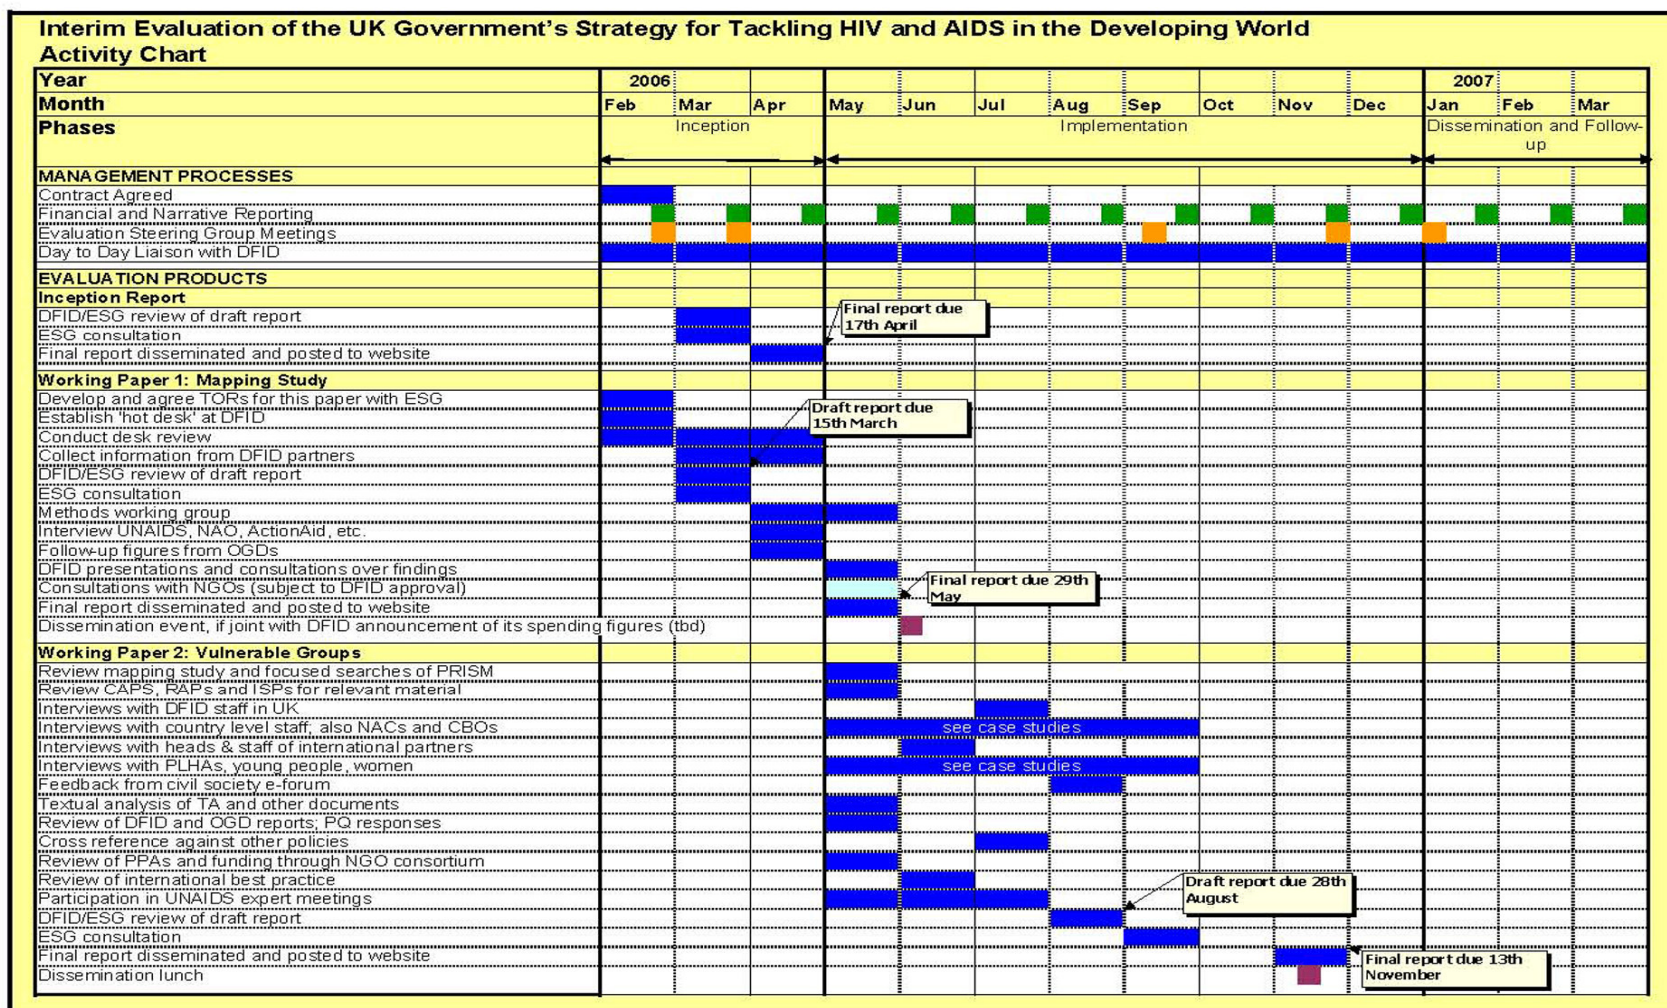

- Africa: DRC (post-conflict); Ethiopia, Zambia (general budget support) and Zimbabwe (fragile state)
- Asia: China and India (emerging epidemic)
- Europe: Russia (emerging epidemic)

3.10 We have started planning country visits and aim to finalise initial plans in April/May. (Planning documents are attached in annexes 9-11.) We expect to launch the country visits in May, in Zambia. To harmonise our efforts with others and to minimize the burden on DFID country offices, FCO Posts and particularly, in-country partners, we have developed a set of principles to guide the country case-study process:

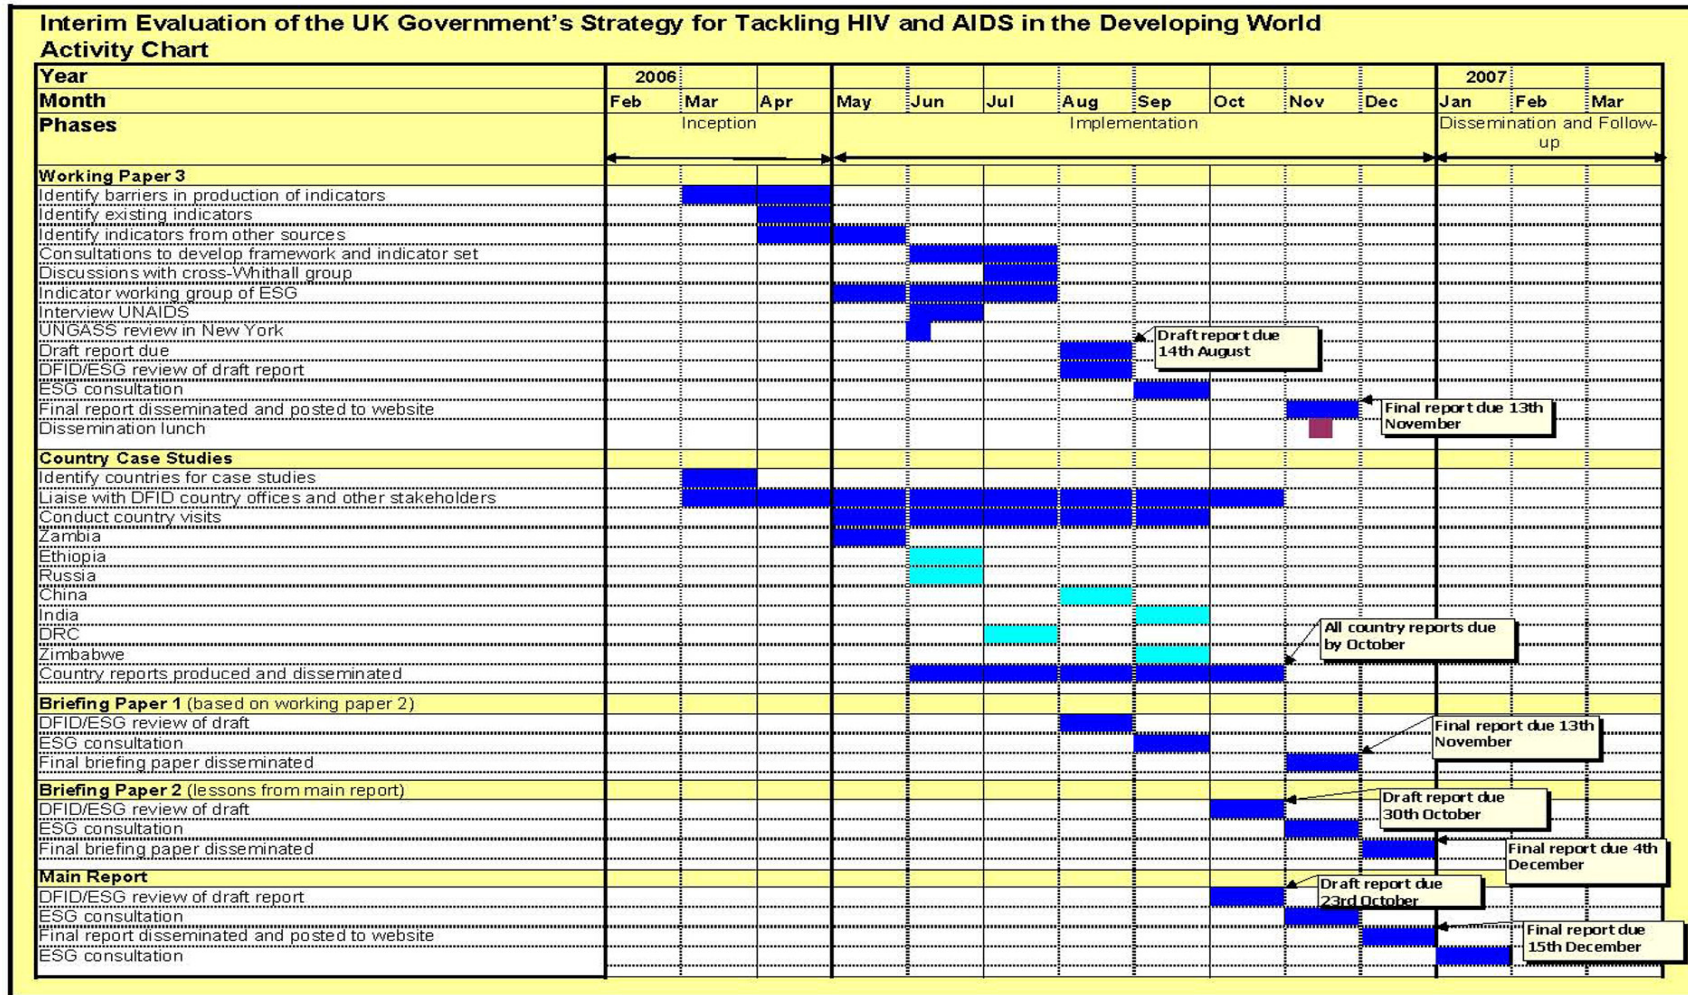

- using secondary and joint data where possible
- 'piggybacking' evaluation visits on joint reviews and other scheduled events where possible
- agreeing to specific terms of reference and questions with DFID country offices, FCO Posts where relevant and, possibly, government partners; (annex 10, questions for the Zambia visit, illustrates our approach)

In addition, each country visit will be led by a member of our core team.

ANNEX 2: OUTLINE OF THE MAIN REPORT

The main report will bring together evidence and analysis to answer the essential evaluation questions specified in the Evaluation Design Paper.

[TQA] = the corresponding question in the Table of Questions and Approaches set forth in the Evaluation Design Paper.

{ } = the team member taking the lead for each section; all team members contribute to all sections.

Working title:

INTERIM EVALUATION OF *TAKING ACTION: THE UK'S STRATEGY FOR TACKLING HIV AND AIDS IN THE DEVELOPING WORLD

Contents:

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY (5-10 Pages). This will include key recommendations (with specification of who in the DFID/OGD/UK government is responsible for acting on the recommendation).

I. *TAKING ACTION: IMPLEMENTATION TO DATE

How is Taking Action being implemented to date? Can this be improved?

1. Progress on Taking Action's six priority actions: Challenges, lessons and recommendations [TQA 1.1]

- (1) Closing the funding gap
- (2) Strengthening political leadership
- (3) Improving the international response
- (4) Better national programmes
- (5) Long-term action
- (6) Translating strategy into action {Barbara Pillsbury}

2. Trends in the DFID/OGD portfolio since *Taking Action

(Builds on Working Paper 1) [TQA 1.2] {Roger Drew}

3. Decision-making on HIV and AIDS at DFID and FCO

How are national and international partners chosen? How can decision-making systems be improved? Analysis and recommendations. [TQA 1.3] {Karen Semkow}

4. Effect on resources to HIV and AIDS of the move to country-led aid instruments

Looks at Poverty Reduction Strategies, PR Budget Support, Sector Programmes, etc. Lessons from best practice. Recommendations. [TQA 1.4] {Roger Drew}

5. Women, young people and vulnerable groups

Is a significant proportion of funding and activities reaching these priority groups?
Analysis of decisions, trends, challenges faced and recommendations
(Builds on Working Paper 2). [TQA 1.5] {Peter Aggleton}

6. UK systems and staff resources for tackling HIV and AIDS in developing countries

Includes addressing key 'enabling environment' issues (e.g., health systems, AIDS and rural livelihoods). Analysis and recommendations. [TQA 1.6] {Karen Semkow}

II. MEASURING THE SUCCESS OF TAKING ACTION IN 2008/9

How should the success of Taking Action be measured in the final evaluation?

Analysis of targets and indicators in Taking Action and recommendations for 2008/9

With lessons from implementation. (Builds on Working Paper 3.) TQA [2.1] {Roger Drew}

III. LESSONS FROM TAKING ACTION FOR FUTURE UK STRATEGY

What lessons does Taking Action hold for future UK strategy on AIDS -- and other development issues?

1. Relevance of Taking Action as a strategy for tackling HIV and AIDS

Review of Taking Action priorities and progress against key international targets, major constraints and bottlenecks. Recommendations for current and future strategy. [TQA 3.1] {Barbara Pillsbury}

2. Pros, cons and results of the UK AIDS-specific spending targets in *Taking Action

Recommendations for future AIDS strategy and lessons for other strategies and spending targets. (Builds on Working Paper 1). [TQA 3.2] {Roger Drew}

3. Lessons from the process of developing the Taking Action strategy

Recommendations for future strategy development processes. [TQA 3.3] {Ian Warwick}

Annexes - will include, among others:

- Summaries of country case studies, and
- A synthesis of highlights presented throughout the report concerning multilaterals and other international partners. The report and this annex will address questions raised by the evaluation steering group on 28 March 2006.

ANNEX 3: THE EVALUATION METHODOLOGY: QUESTIONS AND APPROACHES

The following table is a modification of the Table of Questions and Approaches (TQA) presented in the Evaluation Design Paper developed for this evaluation.<sup>6</sup>

- The three left-hand columns are taken from the Evaluation Design Paper's TQA.
- The two right-hand columns present information sources and the team's approach to data gathering, with proposed dates.
- Timing: For basic information gathering before beginning country case studies in May, effort will be made to arrange focus groups/group discussions with as many key people as are available. Subsequent follow-up interviews and group discussions will be conducted later, interspersed with country case studies.
- Focus groups: Those identified separately both in this annex and in annexes 4 - 5 (linked to specific topics) will be combined as appropriate. No more than ten will be scheduled.
- Details of country data gathering are specified with the country case study materials (annexes 9 -11).
- The OECD-DAC criteria (relevance, effectiveness, efficiency, impact and sustainability) will be considered throughout the analysis.

Is a significant proportion of funding and activities reaching these priority groups? What are the initial lessons from this?	Recommendations to improve implementation and monitoring of the current strategy W2 (and W1), S - Analysis of decisions and challenges faced, and recommendations, based on a sample of the 40+ commitments made in TA (see Table B of main design document) Analysis of trends in DFID portfolio in 2006 since TA (2004-6) with reference to country and international data. Within the limitations of the data, an estimate of to what degree joint / country programme funding and programme activities is benefiting priority group members, and any lessons from this (including questions of prioritisation and evidence as in 1.3). Desk review of a sample of recent reviews of country programmes, and follow-up with country staff. Discussion of issues raised, and recommendations. Key guiding questions: How does the UK government balance this focus on the most vulnerable with Taking Action's other focus on donor harmonisation and alignment with countries' own policies? (see also 1.4). What are the lessons from different approaches tried, e.g. for funding local civil society organisations to support vulnerable groups, for advocacy, etc? How do country offices manage the tension between promoting a country-led agenda and promoting specific priorities on human rights, focus on equity, marginalised groups etc – what approaches have been tried and what lessons are there?	Summary of 1.1-1.6 Lead Core Team Member: Peter Aggleton Review: findings of trend analysis/ searches of PRISM Review CAPS, RAPs and ISPs re-vulnerable groups Gross reference against other policies Feedback from civil society e-forum Textual analysis of TA and other documents Review of DFID and OGD reports Review of PPAs and funding through NGO consortium Interviews: with senior staff of INGOs Interviews with DFID staff in UK Review of PQ responses Interview UN agency heads and AIDS focal points Interviews with country level staff Interviews with NACs and CBOs Interviews with UNRCs and UNTG members Interviews with PLWHA groups, young people, women *During country case studies WP2 submission dates: Draft 28 Aug. Final 13 Nov

Question no./level	Question 2.1	Expected 'evaluation product' (W=working paper, S=section of main report, B = briefing paper)	Details and proposed sources (indicative) all dates 2006
2	How should the success of Taking Action be measured (in the final evaluation of the strategy, 2008/9)? Taking Action includes over 130 specific commitments for UK government action (see TQA 1.1 and 1.5). In the light of the experience, are these still the most relevant targets against which to measure the success of UK strategy? If not, how should success be measured?	Proposed indicators and baseline for the final evaluation of Taking Action in 2008/9
2.1		W3 and S - Analysis of the indicators (explicit or implicit) already set out in Taking Action (see Tables A and B), in light of findings on TA's current relevance (3.1) and lessons from its implementation (Q1). Recommendations for indicators and approaches for 2008/9 evaluation, including data sources and how data should be measured and reported (using international or harmonised data except for some specific UK-internal process indicators). This should include appraisal of international and other data sources for each proposed indicator, both coverage and a preliminary assessment of quality based on clear quality criteria. The report must also present credible baseline data for each indicator where this exists and an analysis of key data gaps with proposals for remedying these.	Lead Core Team Member: Roger Drew Focus groups            Cross-Whitehall Group            Propose to establish indicator working group of Evaluation Steering Group – discuss composition with EvD, SRSG, Global AIDS Policy Team and ESG Individual interviews            UNAIDS Secretariat – (Paul De Lay)            NAO Meetings            2006 UNGASS review<sup>12</sup> Other preparatory work            Identification of implicit and explicit indicators in TA, TQA (AB)            Identification of international indicators already in use WP 3 submission dates:            Draft working paper 14 Aug            Final working paper 13 Nov

ANNEX 4: ASSESSING PROGRESS ON TAKING ACTION'S SIX PRIORITY ACTIONS

This table is intended primarily to help answer Question 1.1 in the TQA: 'What progress has been made on Taking Action's six priority actions?' Table A in the Evaluation Design Paper includes the approximately 100 commitments the UK government announced it will meet in Taking Action. This modified table lists a smaller number of actions (about 57) on which the evaluation will focus (those marked with x in the Design Paper, designating higher priority). All team members will cover questions related to their questions in annex 2 (including interviews with Other Government Departments).

A4d5	51	The private sector has a vital role to play in tackling HIV and AIDS....We will support lesson learning between large companies and their suppliers, as well as efforts to strengthen the capacity of the informal sector to respond to the epidemic. The UK will work to share best practice and strengthen links between international, regional and national organisations of businesses and other employers.		This commitment will be scoped as part of TQA Q2 to allow it to be evaluated in 2008/9. The private sector contribution to supply chains is covered under A4e1.
A4d6	52	The UK government will concentrate on programmes that allow poor people to realise their human rights...including general actions which create an environment where people are able to protect themselves from HIV and prevent its further transmission.		See Table B
A4e	5,39	– Can be taken to scale, and make a real difference in a stable and predictable way, taking account of macroeconomic and human resource implications.		Not covered in this evaluation. A4e2	54	A particular area of concern and one where the UK is taking a leading role is the issue of human resources for health. The UK will assist countries to develop both short-term 'emergency' solutions to address the current shortage of health and education personnel, and to take a longer-term view of human resource planning and management in the light of the impact of the AIDS epidemic. A6f1	68	The UK will take an active role within the UNAIDS monitoring and evaluation reference group (MERG) and other international activities to strengthen monitoring and evaluation	This is a critical question to consider with TQA question 2 . Have the UK's data needs been clearly defined? Is the international system collecting data which responds to these? If not, what course of action is recommended?	Commitments to harmonised data collection mean that the UK government faces difficult decisions about data requirements for its own accountability: should it lobby the international/country system to ensure these are collected, or reduce its own demands, or a combination? ### ANNEX 5: WOMEN, YOUNG PEOPLE AND VULNERABLE GROUPS

This table is intended primarily to support Working Paper 2, which addresses Question 1.5 in the TQA: 'How is Taking Action's focus on women, young people and vulnerable groups being interpreted by UK decision-makers? What are the challenges faced in putting this into practice? Is a significant proportion of UK funding and benefits reaching these groups - can this be improved?'

Table B in the Evaluation Design Paper provides all of the approximately 50 commitments the UK government announced in Taking Action that it will meet in this area. This modified table lists a smaller number of actions on which the evaluation will focus (those marked with x in the Design Paper, designating higher priority). ## ANNEX 6: WORKING PAPER 1 - TERMS OF REFERENCE

An Analysis of Trends in UK Government Funding and Activities to Tackle HIV and AIDS in the Developing World

DFID's Terms of Reference specify the following with respect to Working Paper 1:

Deliverables

An analysis of trends in UK government funding and activities related to HIV and AIDS (in particular the DFID portfolio) since Taking Action (2004-6).

- Draft by March 15, 2006
- Final by May 29, 2006

Main TQA Question to be Covered

Working Paper 1 will focus on addressing the following questions from the TQA:

- Overall, does the distribution of current UK-supported HIV and AIDS activities reflect the priorities laid out in Taking Action? If not, why not? (Q1.2, TQA)
- Are the information systems adequate to monitor implementation of Taking Action (Referred to in Q1.6, TQA)
- Preliminary assessment of issues affecting women, young people and other vulnerable groups (Q1.5, TQA)<sup>17</sup>

In addition, the following elements of Tables A and B specifically refer to the trend analysis – A1a, A1b, A1c, A3g5, A4b, A4b2, A5b, A6f2 and B1a.

Scope

The exercise will:

- Analyse trends in UK government funding for HIV and AIDS, in general, and through DFID, in particular, since Taking Action began to be implemented.
- Analyse trends in HIV and AIDS activities supported with UK government finances since Taking Action began to be implemented.
- In particular, address the extent to which the distribution of current UK-supported HIV and AIDS activities reflect the priorities laid out in Taking Action. It is proposed that this be done by:
  - Seeking to provide a 'snapshot' of current activities supported by the UK government, in general, and DFID, in particular;

<sup>17</sup> These issues will be the main focus of working paper 2

Annex 6: Working Paper 1 - Terms of Reference

---

- Exploring how this has changed since the introduction of Taking Action; and
- Then analysing how the current position and overall trend match the priorities described in Taking Action

If it is found that the distribution does not match Taking Action, the reasons for this will be identified and explored, focusing on whether changes are needed in the strategy, the implementation or both.

- Explore the following specific parameters in order to assess the distribution of activities:
  - National and international work;
  - Types of work on HIV and AIDS, such as prevention, research, treatment, and care and mitigation (including wider impact mitigation);
  - Funding through government and civil society channels;
  - Programmes for universal access and those focusing on particular groups;
  - The balance between AIDS-specific actions and broader ‘enabling actions’ (e.g. predictable aid, health systems);
  - The extent to which HIV/AIDS is being mainstreamed into non-health sector projects
- Examine whether the overall balance is reasonable in terms of country needs/stage of epidemic and the appropriate UK role
- Examine what hidden choices are being made, if any, and what opportunity costs there are
- Consider how Taking Action’s specific focus on “women, young people and vulnerable groups” is being interpreted by UK government decision-makers and whether or not a significant proportion of funding and activities is reaching these priority groups<sup>1</sup>.
- Address a number of specific questions based particularly on table A of the terms of reference for this evaluation (see above)

Proposed Methods

The main activity will be to review activities supported by DFID based on data contained within PRISM/AiDA. The following data will be collected for each activity:

- Name/description
- Start and end date
- Value
- Funding mechanism (including budget support; sectoral support; project; vertical funds; MOU; research; policy dialogue; TA)
- Degree of focus on HIV/AIDS – e.g. identified by PRISM ‘P’ and ‘S’ markers or free text search, e.g. of AiDA
- National or international

Annex 6: Working Paper 1 - Terms of Reference

---

- Focus of work
- Government or civil society
- Capacity building focus?
- General population or vulnerable groups
- AIDS-specific or broader enabling action<sup>18</sup>
- Data source
- Comments

In addition, the study will review

- DFID and FCO Country Assistance Plans/Country Strategy Papers for at least ten countries – possible countries include Cambodia, China, Ethiopia, India, Kenya, Malawi, Russia, Rwanda, South Africa and Zimbabwe.
- Five Regional Assistance Plans for Latin America; Caribbean; Western Balkans; Central Asia South Caucasus and Moldova; and Middle East and North Africa.
- Four Institutional Strategy Plans – that is those for UNAIDS, World Bank, UNICEF and EC (see table A). Work with Global Fund will also be included in the evaluation, but this is not covered by an ISP with DFID.

The Trend analysis will complement the work of document identification and review, which will be carried out as part of the inception report. The Trend analysis will inform ongoing work of the evaluation and will be used to guide the design and selection of individual interviews, country case studies and focus group discussions.

Format

10-20 pp plus annexes and a 1-3 page summary of main issues and recommendations.

<sup>18</sup> The Trend analysis study will explore possible definitions of 'enabling actions', particularly from available literature

ANNEX 7: WORKING PAPER 2 – TERMS OF REFERENCE

Taking Action to Reach Women, Young People and Vulnerable Groups:
An analysis of decisions and challenges faced,
with recommendations for action

DFID's Terms of Reference specify the following with respect to Working Paper 2:

Deliverables

An analysis of decisions made and challenges faced together with recommendations for action, based on the Trend analysis and a sample of the commitments expressed in Taking Action.

- Draft by August 28, 2006 (10-20 pages plus annexes and a 2-3 page Executive Summary of main issues and recommendations)
- Final version by 13 November, 2006
- Briefing Paper 1

Taking Action includes over forty commitments for UK government action with respect to reaching women, young people and vulnerable groups. Within the time and resources available, using secondary source data, individual and group interviews as well as Country Case Studies, Working Paper 2 (WP2) will explore:

- how this concern to reach women, young people and vulnerable groups is being interpreted and acted upon by UK government decision- makers, DFID headquarters (Palace Street and East Kilbride) and country-level staff, and partner organisations<sup>19</sup>;
- whether a significant proportion of funding is reaching these priority groups, what activities are being supported, intended outcomes, and whether members of these groups are substantially involved in HIV prevention, treatment, care and other activities;
- key lessons that can be learned from experience to date, including suggestions for activities and approaches that can be strengthened or scaled up as well as less successful strategies and approaches that should be revisited or no longer be pursued.

Given the many issues this topic encompasses, the diversity of groups involved and the very large number of stakeholders and interest groups that could be consulted, WP 2 must perforce be selective in its approach. The paper will therefore not undertake to cover all issues in depth, but will highlight opportunities for follow-up enquiry within the context of future evaluation work.

<sup>19</sup> This will include a consideration of how 'vulnerability' is defined by the DFID Global AIDS Policy Team and other key government decision-makers.

Main TQA question to be covered: TQA 1.5

How is Taking Action's specific focus on women, young people and vulnerable groups interpreted by UK government decision-makers? Is a significant proportion of funding reaching these priority groups? How does the UK government balance this focus on the most vulnerable with concern for donor harmonisation and alignment with countries' own policies? What specific action is UK government taking to strengthen political leadership at all levels for and by women, young people and vulnerable groups? What lessons are to be learned from different approaches to doing these?

How does DFID manage the tension between promoting a country-led agenda and promoting specific priorities such as human rights, a focus on equity, concern for marginalised groups etc.? What approaches have been tried and what lessons are there to be learned for (i) future UK HIV and AIDS strategy and (ii) other UK development strategies? (also TQ 1.4 and TQ 3.2)

Other relevant questions<sup>20</sup>

How does the distribution of current UK-supported HIV and AIDS activities reflect the priorities laid out in Taking Action? What balance has been struck between programmes for universal access and those focusing on particular groups? (TQA 1.2)

Are appropriate systems, staff and resources in place to implement Taking Action? (TQA 1.6) How many new staff have been recruited to implement Taking Action (and in which fields)? Do staff have the necessary resources, skills and opportunities to learn from Best Practice? What kinds of information, training and support are available to develop and sustain/institutionalise these skills, and how are they utilised? What monitoring systems track funding flows, key activities and report on progress in delivering commitments to vulnerable groups made in Taking Action?

Does Taking Action offer the most relevant strategy for the UK to adopt to tackle HIV and AIDS in the developing world? Are there major outstanding issues that are not adequately addressed and are all relevant priority vulnerable groups identified? (TQA 3.1)

Scope

Overall, WP 2 will offer an overview of UK support in this area, building on the findings of the mapping study conducted as WP 1; and an analysis of priorities and achievements to date, together with an analysis of trends in DFID's portfolio of activity between 2004 and 2006.

Within the limitations of the available data, WP2 will provide an estimate of the degree to which DFID supported funding and programme activities are

<sup>20</sup> To be explored as resources permit and/or within the context of other aspects of the evaluation. Italicised text identifies text added to the original TQA questions based on the evaluation team's interpretation of how these apply to WP2. These issues will be examined if relevant data exists and resources allow involving and benefiting priority group members. In particular, an assessment will be made of the UK government's work with regard to the:

Annex 7: Working Paper 2 - Terms of Reference

- proportion of activity and funding focused on women, young people (including young people in general and OVCs in particular) and other vulnerable groups;
- the understandings of vulnerability that are operationalised within this work, together with their potential to make a difference;
- the specific contexts in which vulnerability is greatest and is being addressed (e.g. home, school, street, sex work contexts, etc.);
- the types of activity being funded (e.g. research, policy development, strategic planning, service delivery, capacity building, leadership training etc.); and
- (where relevant data sources exist) the outcomes of the work being undertaken.

Finally, an analysis will be conducted of barriers to and levers for success in future work.

There will be strong linkage between the work of WP2 and that of WP3, especially in relation to the development of indicators for the monitoring and evaluation of inputs to and progress with women, young people and vulnerable groups (TQA 2.1).

As with other elements of the evaluation, WP2 is underpinned by a commitment to the promotion of gender equality and social inclusion. Coda's Gender Analysis Guidelines<sup>21</sup> will guide data collection and analysis. There will be a clear focus on power, participation and change – in line with a social exclusion perspective – in the recommendations that are made<sup>22</sup>.

Table B specifies the major actions and commitments that will be focused on within this element of the evaluation.

Proposed format

Meeting the needs of women, young people and vulnerable groups in the context of HIV/AIDS. Overview of key issues, to include but not be restricted to human rights, gender equity, inclusion, participation and respect for diversity

UK government priorities and achievements to date across the sample of commitments in Taking Action to meet the needs of these priority groups

Areas of achievement to be grouped (so far as is possible) into:

- Closing the funding gap (including consideration of the proportion of funding and activities reaching these priority groups)
- Strengthening political leadership at all levels (including involvement of people living with and affected by HIV and AIDS)
- Strengthening the international response (including ensuring the implementation at country level of relevant recommendations from the Global Task Team)
- Supporting better national programmes (including ensuring that national programmes address the needs of women, young people in general, OVCs and other vulnerable groups, and that relevant Ministries are supported in addressing these concerns)
- Supporting action in the medium- to longer-term (including through PRSPs, comprehensive national AIDS strategies and national development plans)

Analysis of the challenges (and opportunities) faced in putting a commitment to work with vulnerable populations into practice (including learning from international best practice, ensuring the existence of national monitoring and evaluation systems and assessing the extent to which at country level the recommendations of the Global Task Team are being implemented)

Recommendations for further action and development

ANNEX 8: WORKING PAPER 3 –TERMS OF REFERENCE

Measuring Success: Indicators and Approaches for the Final Evaluation of Taking Action in 2008

With recommendations on data collection including baseline data

DFID's Terms of Reference specifies the following with respect to Working Paper 3:

Deliverables

- Proposed indicators and baseline for the final evaluation of Taking Action in 2008/9
- Draft by August 14, 2006
- Final version by November 13, 2006

Main TQA questions covered:

Taking Action includes over 130 specific commitments for UK government action (see 1.1 and 1.5). In the light of experience, are these still the most relevant targets against which to measure the success of UK strategy? If not, how should success be measured?

Scope

For each of the six programmatic areas, identify all explicit and implicit indicators, and performance targets in Taking Action and in Table A and B.

Review the appropriateness and relevance of the stated performance targets to assess success of the TA programme. Based on discussions with the evaluation steering committee and with stakeholders (Government agencies, Civil society, multilateral organizations, selected country offices), propose revised performance targets as needed.

Identify and review publicly available documents to identify, and evaluate applicability to TA, indicators and approaches used to monitor and evaluate the following:

- Support programs similar to TA, in general.
- TA components, namely, closing funding gap; political leadership; improving international response; support to better national programmes; long term action; translating strategy into action;
- HIV/AIDS programmes implemented under a donor-harmonized approach; The Three ones
- The Global Fund

Annex 8: Working Paper 3 - Terms of Reference

---

- HIV programs on women, young people, OVC and other vulnerable groups
- HIV AIDS policy, systems and partner selection

Develop an evaluation framework to systematically organize TA program indicators into logical program components such as:

- Operational performance
- Systems
- Impact
- Propose a set of indicators for the TA. The proposed indicators will be presented in a matrix of the six TA program areas by the evaluation framework program logical components.
- Discuss and agree with stakeholders (Government agencies, Civil society, multilateral organizations, selected country offices) on the proposed indicators and final evaluation approaches.
- Write up the agreed upon indicators by the six program area and by the program logical components, showing for each indicator the following:
  - Name of the indicator
  - Description of the indicators - what it measures, how it is measured and reported
  - The source of data, the availability, quality and reliability of this data, and actionable measures to improve the availability, quality and reliability of this data source
  - The frequency of reporting
  - The baselines (where available) and the targets and
  - Party responsible for reporting targets.
  - Comments – lessons learned from the mid-term evaluation on methodological issues on each indicator

Methods

- Textual analysis of TA, building on work already done (Tables A and B) to identify and list existing explicit and implicit indicators, and performance targets
- Appraisal of performance targets stated in the TA strategy.

Annex 8: Working Paper 3 - Terms of Reference

---

- Review and synthesize TA strategy relevant indicators and final evaluation approaches found in publicly available documents
- Individual and group discussion and agreement with stakeholders on:
  - Indicators for success of the TA strategy;
  - Data sources and data collection methodologies;
  - TA final evaluation approaches.
- Compilation of available baseline data

Development of indicators will involve a highly iterative process between the evaluation team on one hand, and the DFID statistical advisers and the evaluation steering committee on the other. The process will also be as much as possible participatory to ensure the blessing and ownership of the stakeholders that compile, report and use TA strategy monitoring and evaluation information.

ZAMBIA
Priority	Issue	Questions	Source of question	Comments
A. Specific/Essential Questions
1	Country-led aid instruments	What is the UK's experience with moving to "country-led" aid instruments (see Objective 4 and next column for more explanation) regarding commitment and resources allocated to HIV and AIDS and the prioritisation of the response? What are the lessons on managing this?	TQA1.4	Note- sub-questions in TQA: Key questions: What progress has been made and what challenges have been faced in mainstreaming HIV and AIDS into national level PRS/other strategies, including sector strategies/support? How do partner governments approach prioritisation of activities to fund? If prioritisation is poor, does the UK address this – what are the lessons? How have capacity gaps, supply chain constraints and other barriers to progress been identified and addressed? How does the UK's work with international partners (multilaterals, vertical funds, other donors, international NGOs etc) fit with / add value to country-led approaches to AIDS (or not)? See also 1.5, 3.2.
2		(To what extent has UK government led efforts (in Zambia) to establish what has been tagged a 'Fourth One' –a single pooled funding mechanism at country level. See also Q 1.3	A3g5
3		How are the potential tensions between top-down AIDS targets and a flexible, country-led approach being managed? What are the lessons (a) for future UK AIDS strategy (b) for other UK development strategies?	TQA3.2	Also sub-questions - Key questions: What is the evidence on the advantages and disadvantages of having a special AIDS spending target? How has this been managed? Have any problems been experienced with 'absorptive capacity' (ability to execute the budget and carry out planned activities) and how has this been managed?
4	Work with multilaterals	(To what extent has UK government in Zambia worked) with a range of multilateral organisations, in particular the Global Fund, the EC and UNAIDS and its co-sponsors, the World Bank, UNFPA, UNICEF and WHO?	A3a	Explore issues of effectiveness, funding, coordination and technical roles. Note also 2 country-level projects through UN (see 'UN' worksheet). Specific questions include - Is the approach taken by the UK Government to working with multilaterals delivering on the objectives of Taking Action? How does the work with multilaterals support (or not) a country-led approach to tackling AIDS? Does it encourage sustainable interventions? Is all of UK Government geared up to deliver on this? How is effectiveness in the area of AIDS being assessed and how do assessments influence funding/partnership decisions?

5	OVC	(To what extent has UK spending in Zambia contributed to spending) at least £150m on programmes to meet the needs of orphans and other children, particularly in Africa, made vulnerable by HIV and AIDS?	A1c	No projects identified by OVC sector code - six identified in Trend analysis - see 'ovc projects' work sheet; Also B4d
6		(To what extent has UK government) endorsed UNICEF's Strategic Framework for the Protection, Care and Support of Orphans and Children made vulnerable by HIV and AIDS, and supported its implementation with additional funding and advice to our country teams.	B3d	Also B4e
7		(To what extent is work with OVC) reflected in country assistance plans in all affected countries.	B4f
8	Food security	(To what extent has UK government) worked to address the significant impact of AIDS on food security by working with international organisations, including the World Food Programme (WFP) and UNICEF to improve planning systems. We will also work with others to improve data collection and analysis and to understand better the interaction between HIV, nutrition and treatments. We will provide guidance to support our staff addressing these issues.	A4b2	Key issue of approach - social transfers, livelihoods etc.

Annex 10: Country ToRs: Questions and Issues (Illustrative, Draft)

ZAMBIA
Priority	Issue	Questions	Source of question
B. Generic Questions
9	Decision-making	How is the UK government making decisions in practice, e.g. how are choices being made about partner institutions for tackling HIV and AIDS in developing countries? How can decision-making systems be improved?	TQA1.3
10	Cross-Whitehall Strategy	Taking Action has several interesting features: it is a cross-Whitehall strategy, contains spending targets, and was developed through a consultative process. What lessons can be learned for developing future strategies (AIDS and other) from the process of developing Taking Action ?	TQA3.3
11	Systems and staff	Are appropriate UK Government systems and staff resources in place to implement Taking Action ?	TQA1.6
Note- sub-questions in TQA: Key questions: How are needs, barriers to progress and the UK's comparative advantage assessed before taking programming decisions on HIV and AIDS? How is the potential sustainability of actions (economic and institutional) assessed? How do UK government and partners approach prioritisation of activities to fund – and what evidence underpins this (for example epidemiology, cost-effectiveness analysis etc)? How (if at all) are the 6 UNGASS targets highlighted at the front of TA considered in prioritising activities? How is performance of (potential) national and international partners assessed? How are changing external circumstances picked up, communicated and translated into changed policy and programming on HIV and AIDS? What are the incentives for UK staff at different levels to implement Taking Action, both in programming UK funds and in influencing other institutions? Key questions: What were the main challenges in developing TA - e.g. time, evidence base, consultation? How did it fit with other strategies? How were spending targets set? Taking Action is a cross-Whitehall strategy, led by DFID - what have been the advantages and disadvantages of this, compared to separate Departmental strategies? NOTE FOR COUNTRY CASE STUDIES - focus on FCO. Also sub-questions - Key questions: [UK staffing] Are the roles/job descriptions of different staff and the division of labour clear and coherent? Do staff have adequate knowledge and skills? Are decisions about staffing and training for HIV and AIDS-related work (both specific and 'enabling environment') based on assessment of needs and the UK's relative advantage vs. other donors? What lessons can be learned from different approaches tried to manage decreasing UK government administrative and staff budgets ("Doing More with Less")? [Monitoring and lesson learning] What experience is there with UK systems for tracking, monitoring, lesson learning, and feedback to decision-making on HIV and AIDS? How well do UK systems fit with international systems? How are specific target groups monitored (see also 1.5)? By what mechanism are beneficiary voices heard? How is non-health sector work and 'enabling environment' work monitored? What experience is there with communication strategies? Is up-to-date- guidance available for staff on key issues? How could systems be improved?			Comments

12	Vulnerable groups	How is Taking Action's specific focus on “women, young people and vulnerable groups” being interpreted by UK government decision-makers? Is a significant proportion of funding and activities reaching these priority groups? What are the initial lessons from this?	TQA1.5	Note- sub-questions in TQA:Key question: How does the UK government balance this focus on the most vulnerable with Taking Action’s other focus on donor harmonisation and alignment with countries’ own policies? (see also 1.4). What are the lessons from different approaches tried, e.g. for funding local civil society organisations to support vulnerable groups, for advocacy, etc? How do country offices manage the tension between promoting a country-led agenda and promoting specific priorities on human rights, focus on equity, marginalised groups etc – what approaches have been tried and what lessons are there?
13		(To what extent has UK government) fund(ed) action that prioritises women, young people and vulnerable groups and focuses on human rights?	A1b	What kind of balance has been struck between the funding of work with different vulnerable groups -- and what factors have guided decision making locally?
14		(To what extent has UK government) promoted political leadership, and leadership at all levels of society. [to advocate for rights of women, young people and vulnerable groups]	B2a	Also B2b • Promote leadership by and among women, young people and vulnerable groups, and support the work of the Global Coalition on Women and AIDS.
15		(To what extent has UK government) promoted human rights (including the rights of children) and their impact on tackling HIV and AIDS wherever appropriate, including through the UN Commission on Human Rights.	B2d	Are there any specific achievements that you can point to -- for example those that have resulted in the enactment of anti-discrimination legislation and/or legislation to regulate public conduct?
16		(To what extent has the UK government) supported prevention and treatment programmes that meet the needs of marginalised groups	B4h
17		(To what extent has the UK government) promoted the greater involvement of people with HIV and AIDS – including women, young people and marginalised groups – in planning and delivering programmes.	B4i	Are there any specific examples of success you can point to? Are there arenas in which people living with HIV are represented and have significant influence over decision making?

ZAMBIA
Priority	Issue	Questions	Source of question	Comments
18		(To what extent has the UK government) supported legislative reform to improve the human rights environment – including anti-discrimination legislation, legislation to regulate the conduct of public institutions like the police, and to guarantee individuals access to services	B4k	Subset of Q13
19		(To what extent has the UK government) improved access to comprehensive services that are responsive to the rights and needs of poor people and other vulnerable groups.	B6c	Concrete examples needed of specific services, the extent (national, regional, district, local) to which they are available, and the extent to which planning for sustainability has been undertaken
20		(To what extent has the UK government) funded a broad range of action to meet the needs of women, young people and vulnerable groups in country programmes, including strengthening sexual and reproductive health services, increasing girls' access to education, supporting harm reduction programmes and developing plans to meet the needs of orphans and other children made vulnerable by HIV and AIDS.	B1a	Deal with these issues separately if possible -- women? young people? vulnerable groups (which ones)? Deal also with SRH and education separately. Probe for innovative work in other sectors (e.g. with mobile populations, military, and so on) Try to distinguish (if possible) between work with OVC in general and work with children and young people orphaned or made vulnerable through HIV
21	M&E	(To what extent has UK government) urged all governments to turn the principles of the Three Ones into action and worked with national governments and other partners including UNAIDS to strengthen their domestic planning, coordination and monitoring.	A3g1-2	Mentioned in Zambia CAP

C. Optional Questions
22	Overall fit to TA	Overall, does the distribution of current UK-supported HIV and AIDS activities reflect the priorities laid out in Taking Action ? If not, why not?	TQA1.2	Also sub-questions - Key questions to cover: Does the overall balance reflect Taking Action's priorities? If not, what needs to change: the strategy, the implementation or both? Is the overall balance reasonable in terms of country needs/stage of epidemic and appropriate UK role? What hidden choices and opportunity costs are there?
23	Relevance of strategy	Is Taking Action (still, in 2006) the most relevant strategy for the UK to adopt to tackle HIV and AIDS in the developing world? Are there major outstanding issues that are not adequately addressed in TA (bearing in mind that the UK is only one player among others)? What are the implications for future AIDS strategy?	TQA3.1	Sub-questions - Key questions to cover: What are the main constraints to achieving (a) the six international AIDS targets highlighted in Taking Action (p.1) (b) other important HIV and AIDS objectives identified at country level (c) the Millennium Development Goals? Are there important policy or programming issues which are not being adequately addressed? (bearing in mind that the UK is only one player and should not be expected to tackle everything.) Has the international situation (biological or institutional) changed significantly since TA was published – is the strategy's focus still appropriate - and does TA adequately consider future scenarios? Are there particular areas of work (e.g. post-conflict, food security, old people, palliative care, social protection etc) that need more clearly formulated UK strategy? Are there areas of work that could be safely left to others?
24	Support to civil society	(To what extent has UK government) supported civil society to raise awareness, disseminate information and stimulate debate, creating a demand for better leadership and holding governments accountable?	A2g
25	Access to medicines	(To what extent has UK government) taken steps at an international level to increase access to medicines?	A3h	As detailed in the recent UK Government Policy on Access to Medicines, we will work internationally to make medicines more accessible and affordable, including by promoting differential pricing, and working to increase access to health services. The UK is committed to the implementation of the TRIPS decision allowing poor countries to import copies of patented medicines in line with the provisions of the decision. Ideally to get partner government comment

26	Treatment and care	(To what extent has the UK government) worked at country and regional level to support effective, nationally led treatment and care responses that follow the DFID policy on treatment and care, including promoting alignment with national systems and involving individuals and communities affected by HIV in decision-making?	A4b1
27		(To what extent has the UK government) supported a) focus on strengthening the health systems and building a strong supportive environment, in line with core principles. (from UK Treatment and Care Policy)	A3g7
28	Scaling up	(To what extent has the UK government) provided money and advice to support developing country governments and other partners to develop and deliver national AIDS strategies that can be taken to scale, and make a real difference in a stable and predictable way, taking account of macroeconomic and human resource implications?	A4e
29	Human Resources for Health	(To what extent has the UK government) assisted countries to develop both short-term 'emergency' solutions to address the current shortage of health and education personnel, and to take a longer-term view of human resource planning and management in the light of the impact of the AIDS epidemic?	A4e2	Focus on this in Zimbabwe; Also issue of migration of health professionals

30	Sustainability	To what extent has the UK government ensured that responses to AIDS are sustainable in the long term as well as responding to the immediate and exceptional needs.	A5a
31	Leadership	(To what extent has UK government) encouraged stronger leadership. Has the FCO identified clear objectives for Ambassadors and High Commissioners.	A2f

ANNEX 12: CONSULTATION PLAN: UK CONSORTIUM ON AIDS AND INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Representing the Consortium: Madeline Church (coordinator) and Caroline Halmshaw. Madeline Church represents the Consortium on the Evaluation Steering Group.

Documentation: The Consortium will collate/organise and forward relevant documentation (research, evidence, etc.) important for the evaluation.

Civil society engagement: The Consortium will recommend principal contact people from its membership to provide input for specific areas of the evaluation.

Specific input on deliverables:

Country case studies (Barbara Pillsbury, lead): The Consortium: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• will be asked to comment on ToRs for country case studies</li><li>• will help with country level contacts (e.g., identify in-country members or other partners able to facilitate CSO/NGO meetings, interviews or other input in countries to be visited)</li><li>• may be asked to suggest participants for telephone interviews in countries not visited</li><li>• will be provided with copies of the brief country reports (FYI)</li></ul>
Working Paper 2 (Vulnerable Groups): Consortium and consultants (Peter Aggleton, lead) will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• confer on the TOR and proposed outline for the working paper</li><li>• seek to design a way that the AIDSPortal can be used to consult with civil society around selected issues feeding into the working paper</li><li>• organise one or more well-prepared meetings with key Consortium members</li><li>• confer, as appropriate, on selected issues as data gathering and analysis take place</li><li>• confer on draft report</li></ul> (Early meeting between Peter Aggleton and Consortium core people to develop effective input into the working paper.)
Working Paper 3 (Indicators): The Consortium and consultants (Roger Drew, lead) will: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• meet to design a process for feeding into the indicators report</li><li>• confer on draft report</li></ul>
Main (Final) Report: Key Consortium members will be invited to comment on the draft report (or appropriate sections thereof)

Communication: Central liaison will be between Ian Warwick and Madeline Church. Communications on the above deliverables will be addressed to the respective leads and to Ian Warwick.

ANNEX 13: THE DFID HIV&AIDS EVALUATION LIBRARY 2006

Documents consulted for this evaluation have been placed in a Windows Sharepoint document library accessible to the evaluation team from any location worldwide. It contains documents from DFID, other UK government departments, and other sources relevant for answering the evaluation questions. This is a snapshot from the Technical Documents section. The library can also be made available to interested DFID personnel.

DFID, the Department for International Development: leading the British government's fight against world poverty.

One in five people in the world today, over 1 billion people, live in poverty on less than one dollar a day. In an increasingly interdependent world, many problems – like conflict, crime, pollution, and diseases such as HIV and AIDS – are caused or made worse by poverty. DFID supports long-term programmes to help eliminate the underlying causes of poverty. DFID also responds to emergencies, both natural and man-made. DFID's work aims to reduce poverty and disease and increase the number of children in school, as part of the internationally agreed UN 'Millennium Development Goals'.
